No Nuclear Blast When B47 Drops A-Bomb

TNT Explodes, Shatters Weapon in Accident but Warhead Not Included

Florence, S. C. —(AP) An atomic bomb dropped accidentally near Florence yesterday from a B-47—but without the deadly warhead that could have laid waste this city of 30,000.

The bomb exploded from the force of the TNT within it, completely shattering all parts of the bomb. There was a terrific explosion, but without the warhead there was no nuclear blast.

Nobody was killed. Six were hurt. The air force, which allowed newsmen and photographers into the area today, again dispelled any fear of radiation which may have occurred. A spokesman said the area was checked last night and again this morning. The checks showed no radiation and no contamination.

Maj. Jack Wilt, radiological officer at Hunter Air Force base, Savannah, Ga., where the B-47 is stationed, said hundreds of tiny bomb fragments were recovered in an all-night search of the mile-square blast area five miles east of here in a thinly settled Mars Bluff community.

The six persons were injured; none seriously, when the bomb landed 100 yards from the residence of Walter Gregg. The Gregg home was shattered and six other houses and a church were damaged. The blast left a crater 50 feet wide and 20 feet deep and scores of shorn pine trees.

Pieces Carried Away
The air force said several larger pieces of the highly secret bomb were carried off yesterday by curiosity seekers before the area was roped off. It issued a plea that these pieces be returned.

Maj. Gen. Charles B. Dougher, commander of the 38th air division at Hunter AFB, toured the area today and said guards

British Press Plays Up A-Bomb Accident

London —(AP)—The accidental dropping of an unarmed atomic bomb near a house in Florence, S. C., stirred up black headlines today in Britain, where American planes carry nuclear bombs on patrol flights.

Opposition laborite members likely will bring up the accident in the house of commons in their campaign for a cessation of H-bomb-carrying flights by American planes based in Britain.

The bomb was dropped from a B-47 jet bomber, the same plane the U. S. air force uses here.

Prime Minister Macmillan told laborite critics recently that if a U. S. Air Force plane carrying an H-bomb crashed in Britain, there would be no danger of an atomic explosion. Press accounts of the mishap in South Carolina stressed there was no nuclear explosion.

around it will be removed after the official investigation is completed in a few days.

The air force officially described the bomb as an "unarmed nuclear device." It said the device was released accidentally because of "malfunction of the plane's bomb lock system."

Gregg, his wife, three children and a niece were treated at a hospital for minor injuries. The niece, 9-year-old Ella Davies, was held at the hospital for further treatment of scalp wounds.

The child was thoroughly scrubbed by hospital attaches as a precaution against possible radiation.

The air force said, however, there was little or no danger of radiation. It said the remote danger of contamination could arise only from scattered nuclear materials.

Area Roped Off
Nevertheless, an area of approximately two square miles was roped off by air police. A team of air force experts flew here from Hunter Air Force base at Savannah, Ga., where the B-47 was based, and set out to find the bomb fragments.

The air force began its appeal for bomb fragments with a radio broadcast last night. An air force spokesman told newsmen bomb fragments would not be harmful to anyone handling them. He said the service was "very anxious" to collect as many bomb pieces as possible.

The air force said probably the only human danger could occur if atomic dust were taken internally, by inhaling it or rescuing the children. (AP Wirephoto)

Charges Kohler Co. Not Subjected To Pressure, Mack Asserts

UAW Employee Blames Presence Of Plant Manager for Outbreak

Washington —(AP)—A United Auto Workers unionist said today the Kohler Co. triggered a near riot in 1955 during which company officials have said they were threatened by a cursing mob.

Robert Treuer of Sheboygan, Wis., a public relations man for the UAW, told the senate racketeering committee he thinks the presence of Edmund Biever, manager of the struck Kohler Co. plant, "triggered this thing."

"You say," Sen. Irvin (D-Neb.) asked, "you think the Kohler Co. inspired it?"

"I think it did and, like Topsy, it just grew," Treuer replied.

Sen. Curtis (R-Neb.) told his committee colleagues "I'm not satisfied with the investigation taking place here." He said he doesn't think enough diligence has been used to try to find out who was responsible for violence.

But Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) told him "there is no disposition by the committee or any member of the staff not to get the truth."

Clay Ship Incident

The hearings currently are concerned with an incident which occurred in Sheboygan about 15 months after the strike started. A crowd of thousands gathered at a dock where a ship was due to unload clay destined for the Kohler plant.

Treuer testified he believed the Kohler Co. knew it would eventually be able to unload the clay. He said the firm apparently reasoned it would gain from the commotion and uproar "and say look at those terrible striking people."

"It was not our intent to stop the unloading," Treuer said. Irvin said there was no doubt in his mind that "those on strike wanted to prevent the unloading."

McClellan said local police in Wisconsin and detectives hired by the company when the violence was at its height in 1954 couldn't pin down who was responsible.

"The whole thing was reprehensible from my viewpoint," he said, "but I'm not going to take the blame for this committee's not being able to dig it up four years later."

Gerard Desmond, a company staff lawyer, said yesterday "I was in fear of my life" at one point.

Robert F. Kennedy, the committee's chief counsel, said Sheboygan, Wis., law enforcement officials and some union witnesses would give their versions next as to what happened.

Rules Vehicle Bureau Can Suspend Licenses Without Hearing

Madison —(AP)—The state motor vehicle department has authority to suspend driver licenses and car registrations without a hearing. Circuit Judge Edwin M. Wilkie ruled Tuesday.

The decision came in an appeal by Albert Mack and John Berry, Milwaukee, owner and driver, respectively, of a station wagon involved in an accident.

Neither Mack nor Berry had insurance. State law requires that a driver license and license plates of an uninsured driver or car owner shall be suspended after an accident resulting in injury death or property damage in excess of $100, unless the driver or owner files a security bond in the amount ordered by motor vehicle officials.

No Decision on Tax Housing Bill Cut, Anderson Says Before Senate

'Future Course of Economy' Must First be Determined

Washington —(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Anderson said today the administration will make no decision on any anti-recession tax cut until "the future course of the economy has been clarified."

Anderson read newsmen a statement dealing with the business slump after he and other government economic advisers concluded a conference with President Eisenhower.

Anderson said his statement had been approved by Eisenhower.

"No decision regarding taxes has been made," Anderson said.

"Whatever decision regarding taxes will be reached only when the impact of current developments on the future course of the economy has been clarified and after consultation with congressional leaders."

Stepping Up Spending

Replying to a question, Anderson said he would expect to confer with the leaders of both major parties.

Meanwhile, the defense department informed congress it is stepping up construction spending to a rate of approximately $2 billion for the next five months as a boost for the economy.

Undersecretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles said this was "admittedly a very much higher rate" than planned "and will tax the capabilities of the responsible agencies."

Quarles testified before the house armed services committee on a Democratic-sponsored resolution calling for a speed-up in defense spending as a check on the business slump.

Anderson declined to speculate as to when the administration may reach a decision regarding taxes.

Republican congressional leaders said yesterday Eisenhower had decided to wait at least a month before making any determination.

In his statement, Anderson said all aspects of the economic system are under "constant study and review."

Democrats Press Plan

Eisenhower met with his economic advisers amid signs the administration is hesitating between tax cuts and spending as a means of bolstering the economy.

With Democrats driving ahead in efforts to pump more federal money into job-giving projects, Eisenhower was reported preparing to send to congress another in a series of

Otto C. Glander Hit, Knocked Down Traffic Signal in December

Otto C. Glander, 65, 902 W. Winnebago street, Tuesday forfeited a $127.95 bond before Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede on a charge of drunken driving.

Glander was arrested Dec. 15 after his car failed to make a turn and knocked down a traffic signal sign at N. Richmond street and W. College avenue.

Appleton police said Glander refused to take a drunkometer test. He previously had denied the drunken driving charge.

Stress Need for Summit Session

Western Big Three Insists on Need for Prior Preparations

Manila —(AP)—The western Big Three foreign ministers agreed today to continue to push for an east-west summit meeting but again underscored the need for adequate preparations beforehand.

A spokesman for the U. S. delegation at the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization conference said Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau were in general agreement about what preparatory steps are necessary.

Ike's Reply Awaited

The three foreign ministers discussed a summit meeting today and probably will propose pre-conference procedures to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council "very soon," the U. S. spokesman said.

He added that President Eisenhower is expected to answer Soviet Premier Khrushchev's latest summit conference letter within 10 days. The spokesman said that in the Eisenhower reply "we may propose that we begin our talks on definite summit conference preparations."

Disarmament remains the subject most likely to dominate Mexico City was charged with a conference.

Dulles, Lloyd and Pineau were reported to have discussed a French proposal for an anti-communist defense alliance of Mediterranean countries.

A special section will be published Thursday to tell what is new in the life of the Fox Cities man and boy for spring.

Water Laws Should Consider Industry, Committee Hears

State's Economic Future Depends More on Commerce Than Farming Or Recreation, Official Declares

Madison—A special committee studying Wisconsin's water supply was asked Tuesday to keep industry in mind in planning new legislation, because the state's economic future depends more on commerce than agriculture or recreation.

Dale Hansman of Milwaukee, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Utilities association, warned that industry should not be hamstrung by any new legislation. He appeared with other industry representatives, including those of pulp and paper mills, before the legislative interim water resources committee.

Leonard E. Pasek, Neenah, representing the state's pulp and paper industry, said the firms were not "particularly anxious to protest the present body of water-use laws."

He cited figures to show the impact of the pulp and paper mills on Wisconsin's economy, especially in the northern part of the state. He said pulp and paper rates anywhere from the sixth to the second largest industry in the state.

Economic Stagnation

"The state would suffer economic stagnation," Hansman said, "if steps were taken which would make it difficult for present or potential industries to obtain adequate supplies of water."

"Economic growth will result in a continually increasing demand for electricity, because water is a basic requirement to the generation of power, adequate supplies must be available."

Floyd Wheeler, Madison attorney representing the Dairyland Power Cooperative of La Crosse, urged the committee to "go slow" in writing changes.

Basic Changes

"Basic changes in water use laws must be weighed carefully," he said, "since the loss of the right to use necessary quantities of water holds the potential of major economic danger."

Both Wheeler and Hansman indicated concern for major revisions "which might jeopardize the economic feasibility of dams now in existence."

Hansman noted how the use of underground water supplies can affect the flow of rivers. He said a reduction of one cubic foot per second in the flow of the Wisconsin river reduces the capacity of 46 hydro generating plants by 78 kilowatts.

He said that if the investment per kilowatt is $400, the loss of a cubic foot of water represents a deficit in useful investment of $31,200 in addition to the decreased power.

Governor Asserts He's Opposed to Repeal of Relief Residency Law

But Thomson Declares It Should Be Amended for Good Protection

Milwaukee—Gov. Thomson says he opposes repeal of the state's controversial relief residency law but feels it should be amended to protect the rights of otherwise eligible persons absent temporarily from Wisconsin.

A letter written by the governor was read Tuesday at a meeting of the public affairs forum by Charles O'Neill, executive secretary of the St. Vincent de Paul society. O'Neill said he visited Thomson Feb. 28 and found the governor "has a good understanding of the problem and a desire to do something about it."

Denied Relief

Thomson's letter, as read by O'Neill, said:

"I think a residence requirement is a legitimate protection which should be accorded the citizens and taxpayers of a state. I do not believe, however, that it should be so drawn or construed so that it deprives Wisconsin citizens who have temporarily left the state and returned from receiving assistance."

Thomson's letter also declared that the word "continuous" in the new law has been "so strictly construed that Wisconsin residents having all the other prerogatives of citizenship in this state may be denied relief because of temporary absence."

Thomson also wrote that he was confident the eligibility of Wisconsin residents would be clarified "while at the same time continuing the protection provided in the present statute."

Legal Residents

The governor said he will suggest that delegates attending a May meeting of a governor's conference on welfare petition the federal government to provide assistance for the so-called "stateless" persons who are not

See Change in Tax Rule on Small Expenses

Most People Can Forget About Detailed Records

Washington — Most taxpayers can relax and quit worrying about keeping detailed records of their expense accounts for their 1958 tax returns.

The internal revenue service held the line on taxes and that so far tax revenues are holding up as estimated.

But he said, "The next legislature will be faced with very grave fiscal decisions. We have been temporizing with a poorly balanced tax structure while spending increasing amounts."

The Public Expenditure Survey is a privately-financed organization of local taxpayers' associations.

But the employee who does not account to his employer must report on his return the total of his expenses for such things as travel, transportation and entertainment. He also must report the number of days away from home on business, and the amount of his expenses broken down in broad categories.

Technically, the changes are still in the nature of a proposed regulation. This is customary procedure, to give interested persons 30 days in which to file written comments, pro and con. Formal adoption comes later.

"The proposed regulation," the revenue service said, "is designed to minimize abuse of business expense accounts so as to produce tax free income (to a taxpayer), while not imposing upon millions of other taxpayers unnecessary hardship which detailed record keeping of relatively minor expense accounts would require."

Detailed records of expense receipts and expenditures were supposed to be included in 1957 tax returns, but the revenue service said people with small expense accounts could forget.

The new regulation, when it becomes final, will apply to 1958 returns, as well as to returns in future years.

State Financial Trouble Laid to Small Tax Base

Expenditures Survey Head Says Situation Bad for Industry

La Crosse — Arch Ely, executive director of the Public Expenditure Survey of Wisconsin, said Tuesday night that Wisconsin is troubled by increased government spending and too narrow a tax base.

Ely said the state has "increased spending, financed by a narrow tax base — a situation which has been found to have an adverse effect upon economic development."

Speaking at the annual banquet of the La Crosse county Taxpayers association, he said the state's present tax structure, depending greatly on individual and corporation income taxes, discourages industry from locating in Wisconsin.

"Putting Wisconsin into a more competitive position tax-wise will require concentration on three basic points — reduction in state and local government spending, revision of the state and local tax structure, and broadening of the tax base," Ely said.

Hits 'Politicians'

Ely did not detail any suggested revision of Wisconsin's tax program, but he did criticize "politicians" who attack the idea of a sales tax without offering a reasonable alternative.

"We hear talk from them against the sales tax, but nothing except 'flag-waving' about what they are for," said Ely.

"If sales taxes are out as a relief for income and property taxes, are these political folks for more individual income taxes, more corporate taxes, more surtaxes?"

He said the 1957 legislature held the line on taxes and that so far tax revenues are holding up as estimated.

But he said, "The next legislature will be faced with very grave fiscal decisions. We have been temporizing with a poorly balanced tax structure while spending increasing amounts."

Paratroops, Rebels Locked in Combat

Central Government Launches Big Land, Air, Sea Attack in Sumatra

Pakanbaru, Central Sumatra — Central government paratroopers landed in force today and locked in combat with rebel forces in this central Sumatran heartland where the U. S. Caltex oil company has major installations.

The central government launched its biggest land, air and sea offensive to wipe out the rebel movement which demands that an out-and-out anti-communist government be set up in Jakarta.

Jakarta troops also landed at Dumai, on Sumatra's east coast, the one remaining Caltex oil port.

At the same time an Indonesian navy corvette took up position off Padang, rebel port on the west coast, and gave all ships in the harbor until today to leave or face destruction.

Heavy Casualties

The Jakarta forces at Dumai fought some skirmishes with rebel defenders. They apparently sought to drive inland to the Duri oil field, where a Caltex pipeline to Dumai starts.

The paratroopers landed on Pakanbaru's airfield and cleared it of obstructions in preparation for transport landings.

Rebel Interior Minister Djambek said over Padang radio rebel forces had inflicted heavy casualties on the invaders.

Djambek said government planes bombed and strafed the airfield before the paratroop landings. He called the attack a "brutal deed, the same as those committed by fascists and communists."

He appealed to the people to fight the invaders.

"There is no other alternative but the defense of our soil," he said. "Kill them if you meet them."

Acquire Last Property for Bong Field

Milwaukee — Condemnation of 755 acres has completed the army engineers' acquisition of land for the Richard Bong Air Force base near Kansasville.

The condemnation order was obtained from the U. S. district court in Milwaukee, a spokesman of the engineers announced Tuesday.

John George of the engineers' Chicago office said the largest part of the land was owned by Chicago people and is located in the town of Brighton in Kenosha county.

He said the rest of the 5,420 acres needed for the base has been purchased or is covered by options to buy. The field lies in Racine and Kenosha counties.

George said $213,591 has been deposited with the court to cover the estimated value of the acres involved.

He explained that the proper owners can go to court to dispute the price, they cannot contest the condemnation itself.

Diesel Held In Thick Mud And Mystery

Two Rivers — A diesel locomotive on the bottom of the Two Rivers harbor not only is shrouded in mystery—it's entombed in thick muck.

But two box cars that flipped into Lake Michigan behind the North Western Railway switch engine last Friday were hoisted out of the water by salvage crews Tuesday.

Raising of the $200,000, 155-ton locomotive was planned for today. But there was preliminary work that had to be completed first.

Diver Tommy Griffin dropped into the cold water Tuesday and reported that the locomotive had sunk 12 feet into the spongy bottom of the lake. A dredge immediately went to work hauling away some of the muck so additional lifting cables could be attached.

Griffin's visit to the engine, the second by a diver, failed to shed any light on how the en-

Await Final Outcome of Delicate Heart Operation

Cleveland — Eleven-year-old Susan Kurtz was in St. Luke hospital today awaiting the final outcome of delicate heart surgery performed in an effort to keep her alive.

Surgons bucked 5-1 odds in an operation yesterday to repair the heart of the dark-haired girl from Onsted, Mich. A doctor had given her only six months to live without the operation.

At 7 a. m. today, a hospital spokesman reported that Susan "seems to be holding her own" and that her condition through the night was satisfactory.

The operation, which lasted more than five hours, was completed yesterday afternoon. Doctors have said it would take 48 hours before a "critical period" passed and the ultimate success of the surgery could be determined.

Susan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kurtz, were allowed a brief visit with her last night in a special recovery room at the hospital.

3 Main Surgeons

Dr. Frederick S. Cross, who headed a team of two surgeons and technicians performing the operation, said the surgery consisted of three main repairs: closing of a hole between the chambers of the heart, enlargement of a main artery to the lungs and closure of other arteries and adhesions from a former operation.

Dr. Cross said Susan lived for 55 minutes during the operation with the aid of a machine which took over the functions of her heart and lungs.

Sixteen pints of blood were used in the operation. It was all donated by friends and neighbors of the Kurtz family.

Off-Beat Facilities Parish, Sturdy and Hard-Working, Hopes to Begin First Buildings Soon

BY BETTY KILICH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

When Appleton's newest Catholic parish, St. Pius X, was created several months ago, a 10-acre plot of land, a pastor and about 500 families were its only assets. No permanent buildings and very little money were its liabilities.

Now making use of some rather off-beat facilities — Valley Funeral home for Sunday masses, the rectory basement for daily masses and the Grand Chute town hall for some society meetings — the parish, young but sturdy and hard working, is becoming established as a part of community life.

Life was breathed into the parish by the Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Green Bay, when it became apparent St. Therese facilities were greatly overcrowded. The task of nurturing the young life to maturity was delegated to the Rev. Richard Keller.

And, although the new parish uses some of the facilities of St. Therese—confessions are heard there and some church organizations meet there—St. Pius has become as independent as possible of the mother congregation.

First Buildings

With all of its future still ahead of it, the city's fifth Catholic parish is working hard toward its first goal—that of permanent school and church buildings.

"We've got some enthusiastic workers here," Father Keller states, "and we'll be getting our buildings soon. Parishioners, those who can, donate one hour's pay a week and organizations are sponsoring a lot of fund raising events."

Besides that, he points out, the new congregation is receiving $130,000 from the four established parishes in the city.

Not All At Once

"It won't be long . . .," he goes on and explains plans are well underway on Architect George Narevec's drawing board for the physical plant to be built on the church's 10-acre northside site, a gift of the bishops.

The entire project won't be taken on at one time, the graying priest points out. A school with temporary church facilities, a rectory and sisters' convent come first, and only later will the permanent church take shape on the land bounded by Lindbergh, Division, Marquette and Erb streets.

It is expected the initial project will cost about $700,000. Until it is completed, parishioners good naturedly are taking advantage of temporary facilities offered them.

Every Saturday evening after supper for instance, men from the Ushers' club gather at the Valley Funeral home to set up the portable altar and communion rail for Sunday's masses.

Tables to hold fonts of holy water are set up in the hall, the partitions dividing two funeral chapels are slid open, carpets are covered with sheets of plastic, about 250 folding chairs are set into place and the home is ready for the next day's sacrifice of the mass.

Four services, at 7 o'clock, 8:15, 9:45 and 11 o'clock, are offered each Sunday and members willingly forego the comparative comfort of kneelers and pews until the time comes when they can afford the traditional furnishings.

Hand-Carved Altar

"We've gotten some tremendous help from people around town," Father Keller remarks. "Usher's club members sacrificing part of their Saturday nights—that's an example. And our portable altar and communion rail were hand carved by Len Jochman. We can roll them into the funeral home vestibule after Sunday masses and have them handy for the next week."

The basement of Father Keller's rented rectory at 326 W. Glendale avenue has been transformed into a chapel, with seating capacity for about 25. That's where the priest celebrates his daily 7 o'clock mass.

The rectory's garage, heated by a space heater, has been sparsely furnished and carpeted and is serving as the priest's office.

"All our societies have been organized and they're all spending a lot of time for the parish," the priest continues. "The Altar society and Christian Mothers society meet at St. Therese church and the Holy Name society and Youth sodality hold breakfast meetings at the Grand Chute town hall. We've got about 70 high school youngsters in the youth group and they're very active.

"These people have got a lot of events organized—they're busy." And, noting he'll probably not be mentioning the entire scope of their planning, Father Keller lists a picnic, box social and dance, a series of gasoline sales, rummage sales and bake sales as up-coming events.

Admitting he hasn't become acquainted with all members of his newest flock, Father Keller has gotten about half-way through 10-minute visits to his 500 families.

"To begin a new parish is always a challenge," he humbly points out, "for, with God's help, we have so far to go."

U.S. Recession Would Affect Other Nations

Administration Waits, Rather Than Acting To End Down Swing

BY MIKE MANSFIELD
U.S. Senator From Montana
Washington — A friend of mine said to me recently, "The people back home are more concerned with spuds than they are with sputniks." It was his way of pointing to the economic recession that has been spreading through the nation and to the fact that it is beginning to take precedence over foreign policy questions in people's minds.

The man happened to be talking about people in Montana. He might just as well have had in mind people in Michigan, Pennsylvania, Oregon, Maine or a dozen other states. To date, the recession has hit hardest at mining, timbering and heavy industrial areas. Its effects, however, are felt throughout the nation.

(This is another in the "statesmen's series," columns by distinguished personages in government, business, national affairs and the military who will write guest columns for Thomas L. Stokes who is seriously ill.)

We shall not gain anything by wringing our hands in despair over this situation. Neither shall we gain anything by whistling in the dark. The important thing is for the administration to take an honest look at where the nation's economy stands and to do something constructive about it.

Still Waiting
This is what has not yet been done. The administration is still waiting and hoping for things to get better instead of acting to make them better. It is all very well to hope for an upturn, but in the meantime the recession has produced anxiety and suffering in the nation. Millions of families have felt its effects in unemployment, declining take-home pay, and disappearing profits.

It has resulted in the loss to the nation of hundreds of millions of hours of productive labor that can never be recouped. It has cost millions of tons of steel, millions of feet of timber, millions of pounds of copper, refrigerators, automobiles and washing machines. All of these and countless other products could have been added to the nation's supply in the past few months.

What is not so apparent are the potential international implications of the recession. People at home cannot be expected to concentrate on long-range international problems when the installment collector is knocking at the door. The administration's obvious concern with foreign aid and reciprocal trade programs is not going to impress them very deeply when the same administration whistles off domestic economic problems.

School District Voters Approve New Addition

Only 269 Cast Ballots, 258 Vote 'Yes' In Special Referendum Held at Kimberly

Kimberly — School district voters approved the proposed bond issue and plans for an addition to the public school by an overwhelming margin in a special referendum Tuesday.

Only 269 voters went to the polls and of the total, 258 voted yes, 10 marked no on their ballots and there was one blank. Consequently the school board will continue with plans for the addition which will house elementary grades and school offices. The present rooms used by the grades will serve high school purposes.

Next move of the board will be the asking for bids on the project, no date has been set yet.

Terms of Resolution
Under the resolution approved by voters Tuesday the bond issue for the addition will be $500,000 worth of negotiable coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000 each to bear interest at a rate of not more than 4 percent per annum, payable semi-annually on the 15th day of March and the 15th day of September.

The schedule calls for the principal of the bonds to mature and he paid in 19 annual installments. Sixteen of the installments would be for $25,000 each, one for $26,000 and the remaining two for $37,000 each.

Bids for the construction will probably be asked for soon so work can begin this spring. The addition will be built south and east of the present school building and will face Maple street.

Pet Snake Meets End In Bottom of Air Duct

Milwaukee —(AP)—A pet boa constrictor named Wadsworth (for Longfellow) has come to a sad end, at the bottom of a hot air duct.

The 31-foot pet of 16-year-old James Clemons crawled or fell into the hot air register at the Clemons home recently, probably to enjoy the warmth.

A serviceman for an oil company fished the body of Wadsworth out of the heating pipe.

More Money for Mortgages

Home Building Financing Becomes Somewhat Easier

BY SAM DAWSON

New York—There is more money around today for the man who wants a mortgage. And this puts downward pressure on the actual costs of financing a home purchase—over and above the formal interest charge. Here the western home builder seems to have benefited more than the easterner.

Anxious to spur home building as an antidote to recession, various government agencies have moved to make mortgage investment money more plentiful. Other factors make it a little less costly. This has turned many builders from pessimists to optimists.

They had squawked loudly about tight money, which they said was making it impossible for many families to finance a home purchase.

Walter C. Nelson, vice president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, sees substantially more money for mortgages in 1958. This leads the president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, H. Walter Graves of Philadelphia, to predict that housing starts could top 1957 by as much as 10 per cent. And Nels G. Severin, president of the National Association of Home Builders, with 40,000 members, adds that "home builders feel the worst is over."

The Federal Home Loan Board in Washington predicts that nearly $17 billion of new money may be invested in mortgages this year, exclusive of loan requirements for apartment houses and refinancing of existing mortgage debt, which at the start of the year was $107 billion.

Several factors are bringing more investment funds into the mortgage market. Falling interest rates on other investments—U.S. government securities, corporate bond issues, and a variety of short term loans—make mortgages more attractive.

Policy Changes

Government policy has changed. First, money was lured into the mortgage field by allowing interest rates on federal housing administration guaranteed mortgages to rise. The Federal National Mortgage association raised the price it would pay builders when buying up veteran administration guaranteed mortgages to sweeten these a little for those finding the 4 1/2 per cent ceiling too low. Cash that builders get when selling mortgages is freed for further home loan investment.

Finally some of the federal home loan banks cut the interest rate on loans to members. Savings and Loan associations. These furnish about 40 per cent of the nation's total mortgage credit. And the U.S. Savings & Loan League is urging congress to establish a privately financed home loan guarantee corporation.

School Board Votes Credit System at KHS

Physical Education 2-Credit Requirement Needed to Graduate

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Board of Education members voted Tuesday evening to raise the requirements for graduation from Kaukauna High school from 16 to 18 credits, two credits to be derived from participation in a physical education program.

A student will receive one-half credit for each year of participation in physical education. Previously students were required, by state law, to take part in the physical education program but received no credit for the course. The only students excused from participating in physical education under the new system will be those with a medical excuse.

Persons exempt will be required to make up the physical education credits by taking

Curriculum Group

The recommendation to adopt such a policy was set up by the curriculum study committee which contended giving credit to the course would make a student more willing to put forth his best effort, make him conscious of getting a passing mark and make the class more easily handled for the instructor.

Students failing the course during any year must make up the credit deficiency by taking related subject matter the following year or related subject matter offered by university correspondence courses.

Joint Meeting

In other action board members authorized the president to write to the Clintonville board of education to inform that body the Kaukauna board would be interested in a meeting of school boards representing all schools in the Mid-East conference.

The Clintonville board proposed such a meeting in a letter asking for other units to signify interest in the proposal. The Clintonville board will entertain for the first such meeting which would enable school board members to discuss mutual problems.

In other action board members authorized the superintendent to make reservations for board members to the Northwestern Wisconsin Education association meeting at Sheboygan March 28 and voted to hire summer help for maintenance work about the schools. The help will be selected from Kaukauna boys currently attending college who are in need of summer employment.

1st Round Tilts Completed in KAA Tourney

Change Starting Time For Grade Teams In Tonight's Action

Kaukauna—The final first round games in the Kaukauna Athletic Association basketball tourney were played Tuesday night at the Kaukauna High school gym with Gustman's defeating Combined Locks Paper 87 to 65 in the adult game and St. Nicholas grade school, Freedom, downing Wrightstown 32 to 21 in a preliminary tilt.

A change in schedule tonight calls for Trinity Lutheran, Kaukauna, to meet Park school, Kaukauna, at 6:15 for consolation grade action and Reedsville Athletic club to meet Menasha St. John's at 7:45 in the evening in another consolation battle. Previously games started at 6:45 and 7:45.

Gustman Victory

Gustman jumped off to an early first quarter lead and was never headed. The winners took a 16 to 8 lead at the end of the first period and at halftime had increased the margin to 38 to 23.

The winners continued to hold command in the third frame, outscoring the losers by a single point for a 57 to 41 lead going into the final frame. Gustman hit 30 points in the final quarter to 24 for the losers. Balanced scoring paid dividends for the winners as six

Student Council Plans Movie for Exchange Fund

Kaukauna—Although the foreign exchange student is already assured for Kaukauna High school, the student council is currently planning to sponsor a movie to help raise funds for the student exchange fund.

The fund will be used to help the foreign student in event of emergencies while attending school. The movie will be held April 9 and 10 at a southside theater and will be "St. Joan." Tickets for the affair are being sold in home-rooms and students are encouraged to ask parents and other adults to attend.

players hit totals in the doubles column. Gerry Hopfensperger paced the winners with 17 followed by Pat Casperson with 16 and Wayne Welch with 15. Dick Verbeten hit 28 for the losers and Rog VanderWyst hit 15.

Freedom Wins

Paced by the 22 point scoring effort of Mickey Vandenberg, the St. Nicholas grade school eagles had little difficulty in defeating a Wrightstown Legion grade team.

The winners jumped off to an 8 to 4 lead at the end of the first period and at halftime had increased the lead to 17 to 9. St. Nicholas' hit only three points in the third frame but the losers made only four thus failed to dent the big lead. Freedom outscored Wrightstown 12 to 8 in the final period. Roy Reitz was top point man for the losers with 11 tallies.

Writer Makes Sentimental Journey to Dutch Embassy

Finds Netherlands Representative Interested in Trade Agreements

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Washington — In a sentimental journey to the Washington embassy of The Netherlands, this Wisconsin reporter learned of the eager interest of typical Europeans in the political and economic affairs of the United States.

Dr. J. C. Kruisheer of the embassy was friendly and charming. He offered tea, and remarked disarmingly:

"That's a solid Dutch name. But we quickly got down to business.

The question uppermost in the mind of the men who are the Washington eyes and ears of nearly 11,000,000 Dutchmen: Big Question

What are the prospects for the president's program for an extension of the reciprocal trade agreements' act?

And off we went into a lively discussion of foreign trade and its relation to the relations of the big and little nations of the world friendly to the United States and the cause it represents in a troubled era.

The Dutch must trade to live, and American markets constitute one of their important economic bastions. The independence of Indonesia cost the Netherlands revenues equivalent to 12 per cent of its national budget. Indonesian economic relations now represent about three per cent of the national revenues, and they are threatened by the anarchic developments in those distant islands in recent weeks.

A Wisconsin provincial had his eyes opened on the nature of Dutch-American trade relations. Everybody knows about Holland bulbs. There is some vague impression about Dutch cheeses.

Actually, the largest Dutch export to America is ham. Dutch hams loom large in the Netherlands economy. The No. 2 export to America is tin. Holland has one of the great tin smelters of the world — also now threatened by the Indonesian unrest because it must import the ore from the distant islands of the South Seas.

Nor was Dr. Kruisheer optimistic about the outlook for American tariff policy.

Program Doubtful

The reporter ventured that his own interviews with congressmen indicated that the president may not get the free trade program he wants, that congressmen are more likely to respond to the injuries of American manufacturers complaining about foreign import competition.

The embassy official nodded knowingly. It was no great surprise to him. But he added:

"Our problem in making our own plans is the uncertainty of American policy. We too have tariffs and import quotas, but they remain reasonably static."

Like most Europeans of his profession, Dr. Kruisheer has worked around the world, and has been assigned to the United Nations, among other posts. Native of Rotterdam and an economist by training, he came to America about six months ago and has the diplomat's reservations about discussing American political problems and personalities with the casual American caller.

"As you might find our system of political parties difficult to comprehend, I'm not sure that I understand fully the alignment of your country," he smiled.

Socialist Type

As he chatted about the political structure of the Netherlands, the visitor found it baffling, indeed, in American terms. The Dutch are ruled by a government that in familiar American terms would be called socialist.

There are competitive parties, but they represent variations of the dominant socialist theme. There is no important party in the Netherlands that stands in the position of the Republican party of the United States, for example. They stand with the American Democrats, and leftward.

Dutch political party competition, meanwhile, tends to divide on church lines. There is a powerful Catholic party, which stands against the others. But for many years the Dutch government has been a coalition government, drawing from all of the major points of view.

Dr. Kruisheer showed a keen awareness of the political and economic developments of the United States, asked acute questions about the St. Lawrence seaway and its relation to the rich production centers of the American midwest and its potentialities for Dutch trade, and questioned his visitor on the immigration history of Wisconsin. Did the Wisconsin Dutch originally come to settle farm lands? Do they maintain a cultural homogeneity?

The caller was impressed by the lingual capacities of the embassy official and his staff. "But we have to know languages, you know. We must know German, French, English and the rest," he remonstrated. "We are a little country."

Surgery Declared Real Help for Victims of Ulcers

Los Angeles — Surgery, says a Mississippi doctor, can save ulcer patients from becoming "gastronomic cripples."

Dr. Lawrence W. Long told a news conference that many medical schools still recommend surgery for gastric ulcer only if the patient is over 45 and if the ulcer has bled twice.

In contrast, Long would recommend surgery at the outset. "I think it is time for the surgeon to take the ball from the internist," he said, adding: "Too often the ulcer patient has been treated protractedly by medication, diet and other non-surgical means. When, over a period of years, this has failed the patient is finally sent to a surgeon."

Use of surgery early in ulcer cases, he said, has become practical because of the great strides the profession has made in general operative techniques. These include the development of antibiotics, the perfection of anesthetics and their administration, and the availability of blood banks.

Calumet Board Okays New Road Equipment

Tractor and 4-Wheel Grader for Highway
Department Not to Exceed $22,000

Chilton — The Calumet county board Tuesday afternoon authorized County Highway Commissioner Arthur Schnell to replace a tractor and a 4-wheel grader of the highway department. The cost of two pieces of equipment is not to exceed $22,000 along with the trade-in allowances for the old equipment.

In his annual report, Schnell said funds available in the highway account on Jan. 1, 1957 totaled $138,971. Funds available Dec. 31, 1957 were $133,839. Revenues for the year were $483,971 with expenditures at $468,476.

Raymond Rusch, town of Rantoul, was seated to succeed the late Fred Behnke, Jr.

Three resolutions were passed at the final session of the incumbent board.

The first allowed cancellation of certain poor relief claims. A transfer of $3,323 from the general surplus accounts to the Calumet Homestead fund for the final payment of architect fees was authorized.

Jurors fees were increased from $6 to $8 per day with mileage to remain at 10 cents a mile as set by statute. All resolutions passed unanimously.

Argue Vacation Time
The only controversy concerned vacation time for the county nurse, Miss Beth Lewis. A request had been made for a week of vacation as a carry-over from last year. By contract the county nurse is allowed two weeks of vacation annually.

The present public health nurse was under county employment only a portion of 1957. A new contract was signed before a year's period of employment was completed. Several supervisors objected to the inconsistency, regarding vacation time, between the nurse's contract and that of other county employees. These board members indicated that they felt no vacation was allowable for 1957.

After a lengthy — and at times heated — discussion which began in the morning and carried over into the afternoon session, the supervisors moved to allow one week of vacation for the 1957 employment. She will also receive the regular two weeks authorized by her 1958 contract. On the vote, the motion carried by a small margin.

Kenneth Schmalz received authorization to make foundation plantings and seed the lawn at Calumet Homestead. The cost of the project is not to exceed $2,082 with an additional $250 being set as the maximum to be spent on ground preparation.

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not let this happen to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). ## County Agrees to Sell State 412 Acres as Waterfowl Area

The Outagamie county board Tuesday agreed to sell the state conservation department nearly 412 acres of marsh land in the towns of Bovina and Mame.

The land will be improved, by the state to form a stop-over for migrating water fowl. Supervisors said the conservation commission will create water areas and plant grain types for the waterfowl. The state cannot develop the area unless it is state property.

The state has agreed to pay the county $4,000 for the area, now a public hunting ground. Last year, Bovina Supv. Ervin Conradt asked the board to consider selling the area to private parties for development as a hunting ground, but the board declined, citing that it was the last county-owned public hunting ground in the county.

The area is adjacent to County Trunk M and extends to the Wolf river east of the road. Most of the area is in the town of Mame.

The board gave the state an option to buy the land within the next six months. The state had requested the county sell the land to the conservation department and offered $4,000 for it.

Present indications are, supervisors said, the tax yield will be more if the state owns the land than it is at present with the state merely leasing it. About 20 cents an acre school tax is paid at present.

The price is a good one, Conradt said, since about 40 nearby acres were sold recently for $75, or about $2 an acre, and the state is offering about $10 an acre.

Speeders charged three points each were: Gordon J. DeVeer, 36, 239 S. Pine street, Kimberly, $15. Kenneth C. Woods, 19, 409 Muehl street, Seymour, $15. Norval Dvorak, 35, Whitelaw, was fined $25 and charged four points for passing a school bus which was stopped for children.

Edward J. Schnell, 75, 18 E. Twelfth street, Clintonville, was charged four points and forfeited a $13.20 bond for illegal passing.

Charged with non-registration of vehicles were: Vernon J. Escheleweck, 26, La Crosse, $13.20 forfeited. Hubert L. Duvall, 26, Milwaukee, $10.

Engineers Estimate Shiecton Sewage Plant Cost at $250,000

Shiecton — Baxter and Woodman, the Illinois engineering firm engaged by the village board, has reported that approved plans for a sewage disposal plant and system for the village would cost from $200,000 to $250,000.

Alfred E. Bradford, village attorney, was instructed to study ways and means of financing the installation to determine if the plans are feasible for the village.

If the plans are accepted and contracts let for the work, the village will become eligible for a federal grant of some $19,000.

Bradford also was directed to write an amendment to the building code, incorporating changes found in a model code studied by the board.

Donald Johnson and Russell Obermeier were granted Class B liquor licenses for the rest of the fiscal year.

Mike Miller was granted a building permit to remodel Mike's Market grocery store. Victor Waworiaka was granted permission to place a house trailer at the end of River street.

The health committee reported owners of property on which nuisances were found had agreed to remove them.

The board adjourned to March 20, when its agenda will be completed.

McKinley PTA Plans Teacher Appreciation Dinner Monday Night

The McKinley school Parent-Teacher association is planning a teacher appreciation dinner for 6:30 Monday evening at Foster school. All teachers and their husbands and wives will be guests.

Table decorations are being made by ninth grade art students and six ninth grade girls will serve the dinner. Musical entertainment will be offered.

County Sends State $35,000 For Bridge

Outagamie county board supervisors Tuesday agreed to send the state highway commission $35,000 for the county's share of an estimated $105,000 fund for acquiring right-of-way for the College-to - Candee high level bridge.

The board previously sent the commission $8,000 for engineering studies. The money has come from the county's contingent fund.

Total county share of the $1.8 million bridge is a third—$600,000.

Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer told board members it may be to the county's advantage to bond for less than the $600,000 by using a $115,000 bond issue originally floated for work on the Golden Age home in New London to reduce the bonds necessary to $500,000. The Golden Age bonds are available this year, he added.

The board, Fulcer said, probably should vote on the bond issue at its April session.

Right-of-way needed for the bridge is at the east end of College avenue and along S. Walter avenue on the south side of the river. There are 13 parcels of land involved and areas needed include a home and land, small pieces and air rights.

Board Considering Single Weed Notice for County

The county board is considering publishing a single display notice to owners of property ordering them to cut noxious weeds. Cost of the display notice would be paid by the county, which would in turn be reimbursed by towns and municipalities.

At present, the board was told, notices to property owners are ineffective because each town and municipality publishes its own. The notice ordinarily is published about May 20.

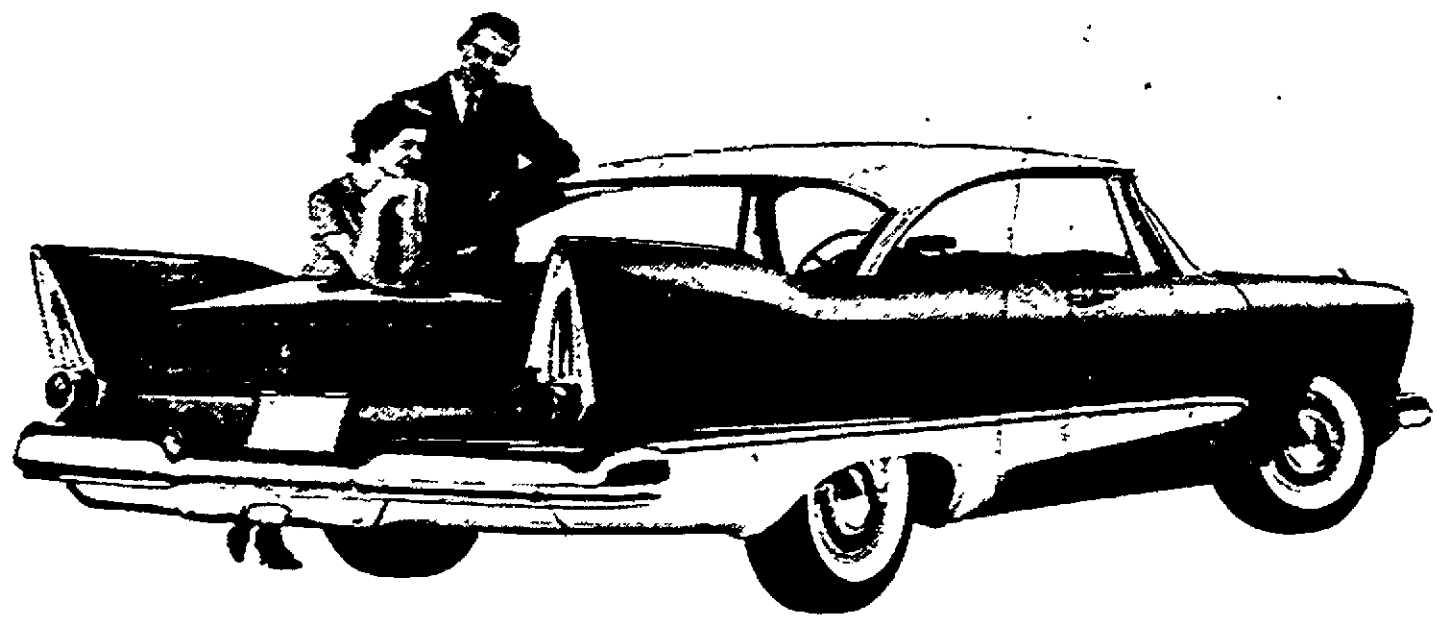

The question will be brought back to the board's April session by the board's agricultural committee, which is investigating to see if the county can collect legally for the display notice with the consent of towns and municipalities.

No Nuclear Blast When A-Bomb Drops From B47

through a skin cut. This was termed remote.

Gregg was in the garage in his back yard, when the device exploded. Mrs. Gregg was in the house sewing.

Describe Blast

"I was sitting there sewing and the next thing I knew I was crawling out from under boards and plaster," Mrs. Gregg said.

Gregg, stunned momentarily, said: "I looked around and my whole living house was gone. It was falling to pieces. The garage started to fall apart too. I got out of there."

Maj. Gen. Charles B. Dougher, commander of the 38th Air division at Hunter AFB, who flew here to supervise the investigation, said fragments of the device were hurled as much as a quarter of a mile from the 40-yard-wide crater behind the Gregg home.

An unharmed atomic bomb, such as the one dropped here, is one in which the complicated mechanisms required to set off a nuclear chain reaction have not been connected, and therefore cannot produce a nuclear explosion. The air force said, however, that the bomb which fell here contained all of the elements that would be used in an actual military attack except the complete triggering device.

This was the second unharmed nuclear weapon dropped by a B47 in the southeast in little more than a month. A bomber from Homestead Air Force base, Fla., jettisoned an unharmed bomb in the Atlantic ocean off Savannah Feb. 4 after a collision with another plane. It has not been found, despite the efforts of navy divers and frogmen.

The odds are figured at better than two billion to one against a nuclear explosion of an unharmed atomic bomb such as fell accidentally.

The one-sided odds were set by a senior Pentagon nuclear official in Washington last year after analyzing the results of tests run by the atomic energy commission. The tests were made to find out what happens when an unharmed nuclear weapon is unintentionally dropped or subjected to the heat of a non-atomic fire.

By unharmed, military men mean a bomb whose triggering device—which often contains conventional explosive such as TNT—is not connected with the fissionable enriched uranium sealed inside a separate part of the bomb casing.

Kilday Doubtful

Pentagon officials today considered the Florence atomic bomb as a case-in point to prove their official contention, issued on Feb. 15, that the post-tack except the complete triggering device.

recommendations to carry out the step he outlined last week in spending on public works projects now underway.

It calls for an additional $90 million of federal spending now on reclamation and flood control projects. Administration proposals for expanding the highway building program were given to a senate committee yesterday.

But there was no indication Eisenhower had arrived at any final decision on whether to recommend an even greater increase in such spending—if the economy does not respond

Drop Four Charges Against Former Waukesha Sheriff

Waukesha — (AP) — The defense began its presentation Tuesday after four of the ten charges against former Waukesha County Sheriff Mike Lombardi were dropped.

The defense won dismissal of two counts alleging Lombardi instructed his deputies not to investigate taverns or make arrests without getting his authority first.

In commenting on the charges, Circuit Judge Herbert Milwaukee said, "I don't find any evidence in this record to the effect that he instructed them not to enforce the law. It seems inconceivable that a sheriff can't make rules to regulate his men."

The two other charges were dropped on a motion by Special Prosecutor Herbert Mount of pleaded innocent.

to current prodding — whether to turn to the tax reductions favored by Vice President Nixon and others.

That could hinge on the amount of added spending considered necessary to change the tide. Administration spokesmen have been saying that a tax cut would be preferable to a massive spending program, but have professed confidence that steps already planned will be enough.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks said in Buffalo, N. Y., last night that "the next 60 days will be the acid test" of whether production and employment will rise under the impetus of programs already started by the administration. But he said "additional steps will be taken whenever necessary."

Rep. Kilday (D - Texas) a member of the house armed services committee, said in Washington he does not understand how officials can "be so certain" that the chances against a nuclear explosion, from an accidentally dropped bomb are astronomical.

"I certainly didn't realize that the TNT detonator and the atomic charge were both actually in place in bombs being carried in this country," Kilday said.

"There is a lot more I would like to know about this. As for the certainty, it is well known that TNT is tricky stuff, affected by temperature and climate."

The Pentagon says atomic weapons frequently are "carried in aircraft, ships and trucks in maneuvers, exercises and practice alerts."

Mitchell Expects Employment to Rise in Late May

Chicago — (AP) — The nation's unemployed of more than five million, says Secretary of Labor Mitchell, has reached the peak and he expects an upturn in employment in late May.

Mitchell told a news conference yesterday that "we always have some unemployment, even during war."

"But," he added, "when it gets to the point it is now, it must be considered serious."

Earlier, the administration in Washington announced the country's unemployed totaled 5,173,000.

Favors Tax Cut

The labor secretary, who said "the economy is sound," told reporters he preferred a tax cut to a long range public works program as an aid to reversing the jobless trend.

"You cannot and should not embark on grandiose or massive public work programs that would provide jobs in 1959," Mitchell said. "The problem is to provide jobs now."

He said the "psychological effect" of a tax cut "would be beneficial to the economy." He said both personal and business taxes should be cut.

"I would favor a program that would put money in the hands of consumers and investors," he said.

Mitchell was in Chicago to address the National American Wholesale Growers association.

Milwaukee. The counts alleged that Lombardi failed to comply with the statute demanding the transfer of complete and adequate records to his successor.

The remaining six charges accuse Lombardi of misconduct and neglect of duty. He has pleaded innocent.

Senator Raps Inquiry Into Kohler Strike

when a howling crowd blocked efforts to unload a shipload of clay consigned to the company.

Kennedy said Sheboygan's former Mayor Rudolph J. Ploetz, Police Chief Steen, Heimke and former Police Chief Walter H. Wagner are on call as witnesses. He did not name the union members who will appear.

Kennedy said he had written off plans to call UAW President Walter Reuther for questioning this week. He said he now expects the hearings may last another two or three weeks, with Reuther to be heard some time along the way.

The committee bumped into its own rules yesterday in trying to question John Gunaca, a Detroit UAW member and bartender, about charges that he participated in the beating of a Sheboygan Falls, Wis., non-striking father and son. The father, William Bersch, Sr., died of a heart ailment 16 months after the July 4, 1954, beating.

The son, William Bersch, Jr., testified that "the doctors say" the beating had some causal connection with his father's death.

He pointed to Gunaca and said "This one here" was one of those involved.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) upheld an objection by Gunaca's lawyer on the ground that Gunaca is under indictment in Wisconsin on felony charges in the case.

The committee has held uniformly that witnesses may not be questioned against their wishes about matters on which they are awaiting trial.

Auto Surrounded

Desmond, telling about the July 4 incident, said his car was surrounded twice by a crowd whose members spat upon it, and shouted curses while kicking and pounding it. He said this was when he sought to supervise efforts to unload the clay boat, which proved to be impossible.

The union long has denied it had pickets at the dock, contending that the demonstration was a spontaneous reaction by townspeople to what was going on.

He also charged that there was a riot and he was threatened when non-striking members of Kohler bowling teams competed in the Sheboygan city bowling tournament in 1956. He said somebody hit him from behind, and that a man he didn't name told him: "If the lights go out, there'll be a dead lawyer around here."

"I had to get out of there (the bowling alley) because I was afraid of what might happen," Desmond said.

Oshkosh — (AP) — The Oshkosh Federation of Teachers was told Tuesday night that Russian success in science is the result of Soviet willingness to pump money into the kind of education Russia wants.

Carl J. Megel of Chicago, president of the American Federation of Teachers, addressed a local federation banquet.

Megel said the Russians spend relatively more on education than the United States. He also said Russian teachers have greater prestige and relatively higher pay.

Parents Want Nursery School For Retarded

Preliminary Work Underway to Begin Classes in September

The possibility of opening a nursery school for retarded children was discussed this week by the nursery school committee of the Outagamie County Area Council for Retarded Children.

The group would like to begin such an institution by next September and currently is looking for a meeting place to meet state requirements of a day care center, it was reported.

Definite fees, schedules and age limitations will be set at a future date.

It was tentatively decided the minimum age requirement should be three years.

The idea for a nursery school for slow learners developed after Outagamie county parents met with a group of parents from the Madison area council whose children were either too young or too severely retarded to fit into the public school program.

Madison parents felt these children would be helped by having playmates of their own kind in a group situation and the Madison organization began such an operation in 1953.

They reported children attending the school now have a better chance of meeting public school requirements for special classes and those who have been placed in institutions have adjusted more easily.

The Outagamie county council, besides searching for a suitable location, also is looking for teachers who may be interested in working with retarded children.

The group's next meeting is scheduled 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, March 19, at Park school, Kaukauna.

Members of the nursery school executive committee are Joseph Van Nuland, Kimberly, chairman, Mrs. R. C. Solberg, G. J. Mauthe and Mrs. Kermit Meltz, all of Appleton, Mrs. William Bonzelet, Kimberly, and Mrs. Florian DeGroot, Little Chute.

Bar Association Endorses Parnell For High Court

The Outagamie County Bar association Tuesday endorsed Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell for the seat on the state supreme court vacated by the resignation of Roland J. Steinle, Milwaukee.

The bar association resolution cites Parnell's "experience, his ability and integrity to render honest and courageous decisions" and says "he has demonstrated a keen sense of justice and human understanding."

Parnell was appointed judge of the Tenth Judicial circuit, comprising Outagamie, Shawano and Langlade counties, by former Gov. Walter J. Kohler. Parnell was named after the death of former Circuit Judge Michael G. Eberlein.

The bar association Tuesday also endorsed the candidacy of Emmert Wingert for state justice in the April judicial election.

Commission Offers Ball Club Contract

Wood Fence for Outfield Okayed If Lumber Free

A contract which would return a minimum of $3,750 to the city government from Fox Cities Foxes gate receipts, after taxes, will be offered the ball club tonight.

The contract offer was approved Tuesday night by the city recreation commission. It calls for the city to be paid 5 per cent of the first $15,000 in after-taxes gate receipts and an additional 1 per cent for each succeeding $5,000. The sliding scale stops at a flat 10 per cent of everything over $40,000.

Commissioner Ervin J. Bon- grant urged adoption of the contract plan and the approval was unanimous.

Ray McClone, Foxes' president, had proposed the club pay 5 per cent of the gross, after taxes, up to $35,000, 6 per cent for the next $25,000, 7 per cent for the next $15,000 and 10 per cent for all above $75,000. This would result in a minimum of about $3,550 for the city.

Goes to Council

If the ball club approves the commission's plan, the contract would go to the city council March 19 for its approval. Although the council some time ago relinquished all authority over Goodland field, except for budgeting of money, Mayor Robert L. Roemer has said the contract must be approved by the council.

The commission also authorized erection of a wood fence in the outfield at the ball park if the ball club can find free lumber. City workmen would put it up.

An earlier plan for improving Goodland field included provisions for a canvas fence, but Commission President Kenneth Priebe reported McClone may be able to get the lumber for a wood fence.

The wood fence would have to be erected in sections, painted one color in back and taken down as soon as the season is over, the commission ruled.

Priebe said the wood fence probably would extend from foul line to foul line with canvas for wings.

Louis Pohlman and Bill Bloch were named groundskeepers for the season. Groundskeeper salaries range from $190 to $200, per month.

Recreation Director Elmer W. Grover was instructed to write City Clerk Elden J. Broehm asking him to set up a separate Goodland field account. The commission has the $5,000 appropriation from the contingent fund and the $2,300 originally budgeted for the field this year.

Commissioners agreed to permit the Post-Crescent-Braves Silver Sluggers school to use Goodland field for the second consecutive year. The school, Post-Crescent Promotion Manager David Lindsey wrote the commission, is scheduled July 2 and 3, open dates for the Foxes.

Play Leaders

In a change of policy over last year, the commission voted to limit the number of free night football games which an individual school may play at Goodland field this fall to five. Previously, no charge was made for use of the field by parochial schools, Fox Valley Lutheran High school and St. Mary and St. Joseph Catholic grade schools.

If any of the schools wants the field for a sixth night, it will have to pay the same charges as the American Legion baseball team after it receives five free nights: six dollars an hour or 5 per cent of the gate, whichever is greater. The charge for hot water showers is $2.

Jerry Olm was hired as a summer maintenance man for the recreation department.

Applications for play leaders' jobs on the city's playgrounds this summer are being taken at the recreation office at city hall, it was announced.

Given Probation in Non-Support Case

Lawrence Vanden Boogart, 44, 414 N. Appleton street, Tuesday was placed on two years probation to the state department of welfare for failing to support his three children.

Vanden Boogart's children, aged 14, 10 and 8 live with a Kaukauna man, who accused the Appleton man of not paying for the care of his children. The children have lived with the Kaukauna family for seven years.

Appleton Supv. Fischer Demands Full Probe of Highway Department

or two because you don't need anything," he added. Asked directly by Appleton Fourteenth ward Supv. Philip Retson if he had ever received an order or made a decision himself not to buy from Schreiter's, Coffey said, "No."

March Purchases

Black Creek Supv. I. A. Grunwaldt, vice chairman of the highway committee, pointed out that highway department records indicate purchases were made from the Schreiter firm Jan. 15, Jan. 21, Feb. 12, Feb. 25, March 1 and March 3. Purchases from two other automotive supply firms were made at similar times, although no purchases from any of the three were made from Jan. 21 to Feb. 11, Grunwaldt said.

Heegeman, invited by Fischer to speak before the board, said, "I have reason to think that an order not to buy from us was issued and I want that business back."

Asked if there had ever been a lapse in the county's business before, Heegeman said there had not been. He then said that the anonymous caller told him that "Brownson (Clarence Brownson, highway commissioner) had issued the order at the county garage."

Brownson Order

Asked if he had checked purchases from the other two firms since the anonymous call, Heegeman said he had not. He wrote the letter he had discovered that the county had made purchases March 1 and 3. He added that he felt the county highway department was discriminating against the Schreiter firm.

Appleton Thirteenth ward Supv. Fred Krause, who heads the highway committee, told

"It's your privilege to belong to anything you want to. Nobody is discriminating against you. You know that we didn't use our equipment a lot this winter and we didn't parts."

Fischer angrily leaped to his feet and demanded an investigation. "I don't want a whitewash on this like Krause. I've got proof of other matters, too," he declared, brandishing a handful of papers.

Kaukauna Fifth ward Supv. Russell DeLaHunt said, "I'm concerned about pressure brought to bear on any individual. If any supervisor knows about such pressure, he should bring his proof and get the whole problem aired out right here."

Krause angrily faced Fischer and said, "I'm not in favor of any whitewash either—let's hear from Fischer."

"There are things here," Fischer declared, jabbing his finger at the pile of papers on his desk, "that I haven't explored thoroughly. This has taken up too much time on the board floor now, but if the board doesn't go along with me on an investigation I will see that there is a court order to open this up."

"I will not disclose anything further at this time," he concluded.

Outside Committee

Fischer earlier had offered a motion to have the executive committee study the letter and his charges to start an investigation. He then changed his motion to have County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer of Kimberly appoint a 5-man committee of persons not on the board to make an investigation of the charges.

Center Supv. Harold Schmeichel plaintively asked, "What are we investigating?"

"I don't know," answered Fulcer.

Corporation Counsel Raymond Dohr pointed out that the county board couldn't appoint a group of persons outside the board to any committee. "Besides," he added, "if you are going to investigate it should be handled through the district attorney and a possible grand jury. But you have to have some sort of definite criminal charges."

"All right, make it five county board members," Fischer said.

No Trust Bovina Supv. Ervin Conradt, member of the highway committee, snapped, "Fischer doesn't even trust any five members of the county board to make an investigation."

Appleton Eighteenth ward Supv. Sylvester Esler again asked Fischer, "What are you investigating?"

Fischer said, "The operations and functions of the highway department."

ers asked, "What's this investigation for—to get Outagamie county in the history books?"

"Maybe Confidential," contributed Fulcer.

Good Bunch

"That's the whole trouble," said Grunwaldt, "and it will smear our county all over. We aren't a bad bunch—we're a good bunch."

"If we put a gag on it now everybody will think we have something to hide. We're past the point of handling it in secret," pointed out DeLaHunt.

The board voted verbally in favor, with one faint no vote, of having its executive commit-

CAP Unit Wins Radio in State Membership Drive

The Appleton Civil Air Patrol squadron has won a 2-way radio in a state membership drive, Capt. Robert Neller, public information officer, said Tuesday.

Squadron members recruited 36 new members and signed 32 renewals, he stated.

Maj. Orville Prokash, Appleton, squadron commander, won a transistor radio for the top individual membership award.

Neller announced the squadron has scheduled a search and rescue mission on March 23. Headquarters will be set up at the Outagamie county airport. Capt. Max Sagunsky, Appleton, will command the senior mission.

Sagunsky will hide a target within a 30 to 40 mile radius of Appleton. Search planes will attempt to find the target and radio its location to headquarters from where rescue teams will be dispatched.

Cadets' mothers will serve refreshments at the airport, Neller said.

An air force single-engine craft will be loaned to the squadron during March, he reported. The plane will be used for cadet orientation flights.

County Names Its 115-Acre Park Near Apple Creek

The official name of the county's new park near Apple Creek will be the Outagamie County Plamann park, the county board decided Tuesday.

The 115-acre park was given later this year to determine the county by Robert and Clara Plamann, route 1, Appleton, whose farm adjoins the park. The park is west of the intersection of County Trunks E and an entry road has been built and EE.

and part of the park will be seeded this spring. Landscape architecture students at the University of Wisconsin are working on a plan for the park from aerial photographs and will visit the site later this year to determine what sort of plan is feasible for the topography of the land. The park is west of the intersection of County Trunks E and an entry road has been built and EE.

Protest Proposal To Limit Fair Entries by Youths

Madison — Farm youth leaders and officials of local fairs protested Tuesday against proposals to limit junior livestock exhibitors to show each animal in one class only and at one fair each year.

The objections were voiced at a public hearing on proposed changes in state agriculture department rules covering local fairs which receive state financial aid for prizes.

Such proposals, after a public hearing, must be approved by the state board of agriculture and published before they become effective.

The restrictions were suggested by the Wisconsin Association of Fairs, a group representing 76 fairs.

William H. Eldrich, Plymouth, secretary-treasurer of the association, said limiting junior exhibitors to one fair would enable a larger number of youngsters to share in the prize money provided by the state.

T. O. Goeris, member of the Lodi fair board, objected that junior exhibitors can't learn to be good showmen if they are restricted to one fair a year.

Marie McDonald Changes Mind; To Seek Divorce

Cincinnati — Actress Marie McDonald said today she has changed her mind and will file suit for a divorce from her husband, Harry Karl, west coast businessman.

She wants the divorce, she told a reporter, so she "can testify against him" in support of her charges that he engineered her abduction more than a year ago.

The blonde beauty was sued for $1,100,000 yesterday by Sid Hudson, an associate of her husband, on a charge of slander.

Hudson alleged that Miss McDonald had "refused to grant permission to Karl to divorce her but on the contrary, for spite, vengeance and sheer wanton disregard for truth and human feelings, falsely and maliciously accused Karl and Hudson of conspiring to commit the alleged kidnapping."

Alsop Brothers Break Up Long Partnership

Joseph Will Continue With Column,
Stewart Goes Into Magazine Writing

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop
Washington — At the end of this month, the above joint by line, the symbol of a long and

J. Alsop

happy, brotherly partnership, will cease to appear in its accustomed place. For various highly practical reasons, it has become desirable to divide the functions of newspaper reporting and magazine writing which our partnership has always combined.

A parting in which personal feelings pull one way and practicality pushes the other way is always a sentimental business. So maybe it is sheer sentimentality on our parts to want to mark the announcement of this oncoming parting with a sort of retrospect of our 12 years and more of work together.

We formed our partnership when we had barely put our wartime uniforms in mothballs, in the first peacetime months of the first Truman administration. If you want a measure of how incredibly long ago that was, there is the odd fact that we ran into our first trouble as columnists because of insufficient faith in the high and noble purposes of the Soviet Union. The first Azerbaijanian crisis was just on the horizon; and in analyzing Stalin's grab for Persia, we followed the line of the exceptionally brilliant Soviet experts that the government had in those days. (One of them is in exile now; another has been driven from the public service; and we now seem to rely on the secretary of state's direct wire to the Almighty for the functions the experts used to perform. But that is another subject.)

Business Ironies
Having followed the line of our expert friends, we were denounced as hard-nosed, maliciously anti-Soviet pessimists by an impeccably Republican publisher of great importance to us, who later indulged in more than a little appeasement of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

The ironies of the business underline the cardinal rule that a newspaperman's feet are a lot more important than his head. But there is another rule, as well. A newspaperman must never forget that the drama in which he is one of the chorus is a real drama—no mere sock-and-buskin fraud but a real, life drama of national and human destiny. And in this respect, how splendidly exciting, how full of movement and suspense, how often tensely stirring these last 12 years have been!

Transformation
"The American lead" was a fact beyond imaginable questioning when we two went to work together. The question was, rather, whether this great technical and economic lead would be transformed into American leadership in freedom's bitter struggle to survive in a divided world. Every American political tradition was against the transformation.

The wisest and most experienced Americans regarded the transformation as utterly impossible—for instance, one of us can vividly remember that very experienced man, James F. Byrnes, inveighing against the first proposers of the Mar-

Brillion Council Adds Insurance For Liability

Brillion — Additional liability insurance covering the hazards of streets and sidewalks of the city will be acquired, it was decided at a brief meeting of the city council Monday evening.

Permission was granted to the American Legion post to display fireworks at their annual picnic on June 22.

Bartenders licenses were granted to John Vechart and Glenn Farrell.

The city treasurer reported $9.38 of the tax roll has been collected.

Florian Pfeiffer reported on the civil defense meeting held at Chilton last Thursday. A civil defense director for the city will be appointed soon.

shall plan as featherwitted visionaries who did not "know congress."

Yet this great transformation of American lead into American leadership nonetheless took place; and there followed years that were troubled, certainly, but heroic too. Maybe it was the unaccustomed effort of peacetime heroism that caused the subsequent welling-up of poisonous mutual suspicion and quick hatred among Americans.

At any rate, the poison has been neutralized now. But the "American lead" has been lost too, and the future seems more doubtful today than one could have thought remotely possible 12 years ago. Maybe, indeed, our particular section of the chorus is separating just as the drama reaches its climax, which is another reason why we regret the separation.

But the separation has been decided, and this retrospect has gone on long enough. (Copyright, 1958)

Polish Workers Hit by Sweeping Industrial Layoffs

BY COLIN FROST

Warsaw — The ax is falling for thousands of employees in communist-ruled Poland's state industries. More than 100,000 are to be laid off by the end of this year.

The layoff is part of a campaign against low productivity and absenteeism. In some plants individual productivity has fallen regularly over the last five years, though total production has increased.

Warsaw's Zeran auto works, which makes Russian Pobeda cars under license, wants to sack 1,000 from a labor force of approximately 8,000. About the same number will be laid off from the nation's biggest steel plant at Nowa Huta, southern Poland.

First to go are those accused of idling or "holliganism"—an offense which covers everything from getting drunk on the job to calling communists nasty names. For them, dismissal means automatic eviction from factory-owned apartments or hostels.

Next come old age pensioners who make up to 10 per cent of some crews, and workers who own sizable plots of land. Finally the ax will fall on unqualified workers and inflated office staffs.

The official press makes no secret that the cuts will prove unpopular and that some people will be hard hit.

from West High school at Madison and the University of Wisconsin school of medicine in 1951. He served as a medical corpsman in the United States army during World War II.

He entered the field of cancer research in 1955 after discovering that wearing surgeon's sterilized rubber gloves caused a reaction on his hands, a sensitivity or allergy that made it impossible to continue in surgery. ## UAW Regional Director Blasts Kohler Strike Hearing as 'Fiasco'

Not Too High Class
A 3-Ring Circus,
Democrats Told

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — The McClellan hearings into the lengthy Kohler strike were "labeled a 'fiasco' and a not too high class 3-ring circus" by Harvey Kitzman, UAW regional director in charge of six states, Tuesday night.

Speaking to the Winnebago county Democratic party at the Hotel Athearn, Kitzman charged the hearing is not taking shape in the form it was intended but is trying "to see how much they can smear the labor movement."

"What is going on is a disgrace, digging into what was said 25 years ago. Many persons said things then during the depression that they don't believe in today."

He also condemned the inquiries into individual lives, matrimonial standings and political beliefs. Kitzman said he was questioned at the hearing for 2 1/2 hours last week.

"I turned, you might say heaven and hell to try to head off that strike. I knew what kind of a company we were dealing with. I sat at the bar."

Red Cross Has $8,000 of Goal

Nearly 58 Per Cent
Of $13,815 Total
Already Donated

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Neenah — A total of $8,000 has been collected by the Neenah Red Cross in its current drive for $13,815, it was announced today.

Drive chairman Frank X. Hochholzer said the total represents nearly 58 per cent of the goal. The 1958 campaign opened on March 3.

Hochholzer noted that funds collected during the annual drive support such local activities of the chapter as water safety services. During 1957 the Neenah chapter awarded 97 beginners' certificates, 82 intermediate certificates and 30 swimmers' certificates to local residents, as well as 35 junior life saving certificates and six senior life saving certificates.

COPE Education Director Scores Cola G. Parker

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Menasha's Cola G. Parker, retired president and board chairman of Kimberly-Clark corporation and former president of the National Association of Manufacturers came in for strong criticism from Ralph Koenig, educational director of the Committee on Political Education and a UAW representative here Tuesday night.

Koenig talked to the Winnebago county Democratic party on "Labor's Stake in Politics."

Koenig criticized a recent statement by Parker whom he said commented that "creeping socialism is now walking."

The COPE director declared that several of the points in Karl Marx's "Communist Manifesto" of over 100 years ago already had been the policy of this country before Marx uttered them.

He referred to free education and the provision in the Northwest ordinance setting aside certain lands for the support of the schools as the two policies Marx advocated which altered them.

Three Youths Rob Station on 41 of $450

Oshkosh Attendant Tied Up by Armed Trio This Morning

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Three armed youths tied up the attendant of the Consolidated Filling station on Highway 41 west of here about 3 o'clock this morning and escaped with about $450 in cash, according to sheriff Charles Lowry.

Clayton Clark, 48, Oshkosh, attendant at the station, said he was alone when a black expensive model car drove up with three young men. The car had Illinois license plates. The driver and one passenger got out while Clark was filling the gas tank and went into the station.

After filling the tank Clark started into the station and the third youth followed behind him with what Clark thought was a .22 caliber rifle. Clark said he went for a revolver which was in a drawer but the other two overpowered him and tied him up with an electrical extension cord.

They dragged him into a back room where they went through his pockets, taking his money, wallet and keys. Two of the men went through the desk, breaking several drawers, pulled the telephone off the wall, broke an electric clock and radio and took a German revolver and a clip of ammunition.

Take Attendant's Car
One of them drove off in Clark's car which was abandoned about a half mile south of the station with an ammunition clip on the front seat. Clark said the gun had a clip in it and was ready to be fired. The car keys were not in the car.

Clark managed to free himself and went to a public phone booth along the highway from which he called the sheriff's office. Taken from the station also was a bank deposit bag containing $400 plus $50 in cash from the desk.

Clark said one of the youths told him he was "a good hood" from Chicago, tough and had served time.

The three men were described

Serve Casseroles For Lenten Meals

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Meatless casseroles can be the answer for homemakers searching for a variety of main dish meals during the lenten season. The recipes prepared by Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent, are suitable for children's noon luncheons as well as family dinners and can be made quickly and easily.

Ingredients for tomato cheese macaroni casserole are one eight-ounce package elbow macaroni, one tablespoon salt, three quarts boiling water, one can condensed tomato soup, one-half cup milk, two and one-half cups shredded sharp cheddar cheese, one teaspoon celery salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper.

Add salt to the boiling water, add macaroni and cook at a rolling boil for 9 to 12 minutes. Do not overcook. Drain in a colander. Heat together the soup, milk and two cups of cheese. Add onion, celery, salt and pepper.

Place macaroni in the greased casserole. Add the soup and cheese mixture, easing it down gently with a fork. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes or until heated through. Garnish around the edge with the remaining cheese.

Tuna macaroni casserole, made in a one and one-half quart casserole dish, requires four ounces elbow macaroni, one can condensed cream of celery soup, two-thirds cup of milk, two seven-ounce cans of tuna fish, one-fourth cup pimento, cut in pieces, one cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese and one-half cup buttered crumbs.

Cook the macaroni according to the directions on the package. Drain and place half of it in the bottom of the casserole dish. Combine celery soup and milk and heat to boiling. Break the tuna into bite-sized pieces and arrange on top of macaroni. Sprinkle shredded cheese on top and add the rest of the macaroni. Add the pimento to the celery soup and pour over the mixture in the casserole, easing it down with a fork. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. For a variation either one can of salmon may be used or two cups of cubed left-over ham.

Combined Sales Of Canco Over Billion Dollars

Annual Letter Sees Bright Future for Firm, Subsidiaries

Menasha — Acquisition of Marathon corporation and Dixie Cup company during 1957 has pushed sales of American Can company over the billion dollar mark, according to the annual letter issued today by President William C. Stolk in his report to more than 77,000 stockholders.

Stolk stated, "With favorable growing weather for fruits and vegetables and the continued development of cans for other food and non-food products, there is a good prospect that metal can production may reach a new high in 1958."

He also stated products made by the company's Marathon and Dixie Cup divisions and its Sun Tube subsidiary "should continue their long record of steady growth."

Growing markets also were seen for the plastic squeeze tubes and bottles produced by another subsidiary, Bradley Container corporation.

The report showed Canco's annual sales and rentals totaled $1,095,304,940, compared with $973,835,858 for 1956. The totals include the full-year figures for Marathon corporation and Dixie Cup company.

Net Income — Combined net income reported for 1957 was $45,369,139, compared to the previous year's $47,905,191. After deduction of dividends on preferred stock, 1957 earnings were equivalent to $2.72 per share of common on the 15,632,470 shares outstanding. The comparative figure for 1956 was $2.32 per share on 15,411,062 shares.

Stock pointed to the firm's $31 million program for installing equipment to process can making from coils, which included work at its Milwaukee plant, the opening of new plants by Canco last year and this spring and also the opening of a bleached sulphate pulp mill at Naheola, Ala., by Marathon division during this year and a new paper cup factory at Lexington, Ky., by the Dixie Cup division.

The new facilities, reflecting the requirements of an ever expanding business and a continuation of the company's improvement and modernization program, resulted in capital expenditures during 1957 of $91,527,764," he explained. This compared with a combined Canco-Marathon-Dixie capital expenditures figure of $58,061,848 in 1956.

Mysteries of Living Tissues Probed for Answer to Cancer

Living tissue, existing and growing in a test tube, is an aid to scientific investigation today, although a few short years ago such a phenomenon was considered absolutely impossible.

The University of Wisconsin's McArdle Memorial laboratory, a cancer research institution of world-wide fame, is one of several laboratories which uses this aid in studying the behavior of normal and cancer cells.

However, in order to provide the perfect atmospheric environment necessary for such cultures, they must be sheltered by an incubator.

An Oshkosh woman, the late Mrs. Helen Battis, has provided such an incubator as a result of her will in which provision was made for a $2,000 legacy to the American Cancer society's Wisconsin division. Mrs. Battis' legacy provided funds needed to purchase this expensive piece of equipment.

Dr. Gerald C. Mueller, of the laboratory, explained the use to which the new incubator will be put. He heads a project of the laboratory striving to increase knowledge about the regulation of growth in cancer and normal cells. Whereas in the past, researchers were dependent upon animal studies which were severely handicapped due to daily changes in metabolism, appetite, nutrition and other varying factors in the animal, today the Oshkosh-financed incubator can and does provide a completely non-varying environment for such study.

Solid Platform

In effect, the researcher now has a solid platform upon which to make his observations instead of a heaving and jiggling one. The living tissue in the test tube will be studied while under constant temperature and atmospheric environment to try to discover the effects of controlled factors such as nutritional variation, the action of hormones, vitamins, and other essential nutrients, chemical therapeutic agents and their effect on growth and survival of both cancer and normal cells.

Dr. Mueller explained not only are scientists unable to offer full explanation of cancer, but they are equally unable to describe all the factors involved in normal cell growth upon which all life depends. Scientists do not know what it is in the system that regulates the growth or rate of growth and division of normal cells. If they knew what controls normal cells it is possible they would know what causes cells to divide in an unorganized fashion to become cancer.

Dr. Mueller outlined the project's objectives as two main ones. His two specific objectives are posed before a general background which is an attempt to learn how to cause cancer cells to differentiate or mature, or to find selective areas of their metabolism which will make them more susceptible to toxic chemicals. Specifically then, his own objectives are:

1. To learn more about growth-regulating mechanisms operating in a controlled environment; and
2. Either to stop growth re-production of cancer cells or to find a weakness that can be attacked with chemo-therapy or other means.

Clues, Perhaps

It is known today that there is accelerated growth in normal cells under certain conditions, such as a result of injury in order to heal, through hormone action and in fetal development. Perhaps clues may be offered here which will show what the states of rapid growth have in common or do not have in common with malignant cell growth. Dr. Mueller was quick to point out that while the research is directed at cancer findings from it will have wide application to other medical problems, such as the problem of aging, virus interaction, and other aspects of degenerative diseases.

Under the controlled condition the cell will reproduce a completely new cell every 20 to 40 hours. An interesting sidelight is the use of radioactivity to measure the infinitesimally small changes in the tissue cultures. It provides a method of measuring these factors to a fine degree never dreamed possible prior to the age of the atom. Its use as tool has rapidly accelerated the progress of scientific research.

The men of McArdle Memorial laboratory are a closely knit team, devoted to eventually ridding our world of what has frequently been called "man's cruellest enemy"—cancer. While McArdle laboratory is not one of the biggest cancer research centers in the nation, it is one of the best known. Dr. Harold Rusch, its director, now has a staff of 27 post-doctoral staff researchers and about 18 students. The budget is about $340,000 per year, nearly half of which is provided by the American Cancer society as a result of its annual crusade.

Park Board Grants Concession Rights

Menasha — The Menasha Athletic association was awarded concession rights at the Menasha ball park by the park board Monday night. The Fox Cities Foxes Class B baseball team was granted use of the ball park for four games this summer at a cost of $50 per game.

Bids for the concession rights at Jefferson park were submitted by Thomas Thompson, William Erickson and James Hoffman. The bidders will be interviewed before the concession is awarded.

The athletic association agreed to give the board 10 per cent of the gross receipts up to $3,000 and 15 per cent of the gross over $3,000.

A meeting will be held Monday night to interview the Jefferson park concession bidders and to meet with members of the recreation board to discuss mutual problems.

gaining table for 66 days. I asked them to try to live with organized labor and with collective bargaining.

"I was dealing with a corporation whose forefathers came here 80 to 100 years ago, fully trained in Prussian military tactics and they haven't changed to this day," Kitzman charged.

He said he was surprised to learn at the Washington hearings just how gas shells, rifle shells and shotgun shells were in the plant "in order to protect the plant," all of which he said was against the law.

Kitzman declared that, fortunately, because of the attitude of the Sheboygan county Republican sheriff — "who was kicked out of the party because he wouldn't use guns on the strikers" — and Governor Kohler who refused to send in the militia, the guns were not used.

Scores Thomson

The UAW regional director condemned Gov. Vernon Thomson, who was attorney general at the time, for not prosecuting the Kohler company for the possession of the guns against the law on the grounds "the company had had enough bad publicity and probably had learned its lesson."

"Now he says we need more restrictive labor legislation. He should consult his own Wisconsin labor relations board chairman, Lawrence Gooding, also a Republican, who sat in at the bargaining table for a week and who told me 'I have never seen an employer so hell-bent on destroying a union. I don't know what to do. Good luck.'"

Kitzman also alleged that if the "Mundts, Curtisses, Goldwaters and Vernon Thomsons got complete control, they would do away with all social legislation, including social security. If Thomson denies it, he is a liar." He asked the group to imagine how things would be now if there wasn't social security. Unemployment would be 15 million, Kitzman claimed.

"We have a job to return to congress those who have the best interests of all the people at heart," he concluded.

Alleged Vandals Charged, Freed Until Thursday

Neenah — Three Fox Cities teenagers will answer to charges of disorderly conduct Thursday morning. The charges arose from vandalism committed the evening of March 2 at Kimberly point lighthouse.

Charged are John M. Friis, 814 W. Fourth street, Appleton; Glenn D. Johnson, 815 Appleton road, Menasha, and Robert J. Steif, 2164 W. Wisconsin avenue, Neenah. All are 18. They were to appear before Police Justice Edmund Arpin Monday but were late for court.

The vandalism involved the breaking of 12 window panes and two glass panes in the door to the lighthouse. The damage has already been repaired by park board employees at a cost of $48.14, according to Edgar Patterson, park superintendent of buildings and grounds.

The boys, arrested Friday evening, were released on bonded dinner set for March 22 at the Hotel Athearn which will be the party's money raising project.

Neenah, Winneconne Youths on Draft List

Oshkosh — Among the nine young men on the county selective service induction list for this month were Robert E. Wentzel of Winneconne and James W. McCoy, formerly of Neenah and now of Fullerton, Calif. The group left Tuesday for induction into the armed forces. McCoy was listed as one who had transferred out of the district but was included in the March quota.

ready were in effect in this country.

"The business of politics is a practical housekeeping job of democracy. If we don't take care of our housekeeping, we will get the business," Koenig stated. "We would be derelict in our duties as citizens if we didn't step forward and tell the truth, even if we do make enemies. The people have a right to know."

He said the workingman's interest in politics goes back over 110 years and he cited child labor legislation, free education and a reduction in the working day of government employees, elimination of sweat shops, a fight for the right to vote and seeking safety measures as examples.

"We are a large segment of the community and have a right to say how the community shall be governed. As labor prospers, the community will prosper."

He cited the United States Chamber of Commerce which recently sponsored an air raid to various cities in the country to discuss legislation and politics. He charged several large magazines with devoting pages to back the candidate and program they want.

'Right for One, Not Other?'

"Why is it right for a corporation or the chamber of commerce to do it and not for the people or the unions to do it?" Koenig asked.

He turned to the national picture and cited several laws which he said were injurious to the people and benefited corporations, mentioning the tidal lands oil bill and the natural gas bill as laws which would take several millions of dollars away from the people of this state and which "rob your children and mine of their educational rights and puts the burden of education on our shoulders rather than on the natural resources that flow from the ground."

Koenig said labor opposed a recent state bill for union investigations because of the makeup of the investigating committee which he said would be dominantly partisan rather than bi-partisan and have four employers and no union representatives. We also opposed it because it did not include investigations of management, he said.

We are not opposing an investigation as we would welcome it, he said, but this bill was biased from the start. Other bills also were introduced which would outlaw what we had won at the bargaining table. That is why labor has a stake in politics, Koenig stressed.

Herbert Pitz, county Democratic party chairman, reminded the group of the Proxmire dinner set for March 22 at the Hotel Athearn which will be the party's money raising project.

Second Clinic Saturday for Neenah Schools

Youngsters to Get Booster Shots for Three Diseases

Neenah — Booster shots for immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus will be administered to Neenah school children Saturday morning, at Kimberly Junior High school, Mrs. Thelma Davis, city health nurse, announced today.

The first in the series of two or three injections was given the youngsters at the January clinic in each of the schools.

Kindergarten youngsters will receive a single injection containing serums preventing all three diseases, the second of three such shots. The third will be administered on April 12. Children in grades one through six will receive the second of two shots for the prevention of diphtheria and tetanus only. The incidence of whooping cough is low in children older than six, and the vaccine for that disease is omitted in these inoculations.

The injections will be administered by Dr. F. O. Brunkhorst, city health officer, between 9 o'clock and 11 o'clock. In order to keep operations running smoothly, however, and prevent the youngsters from waiting, children from different schools will report at different times. At 9 o'clock children from Martin Luther, Trinity Lutheran, Taft, Wilson, Roosevelt and Hoover schools will receive the shots. At 10 o'clock children from St. Mary's, St. Mary, Lincoln, Washington, and McKinley schools will be inoculated.

Voters May Sign For Election on Friday Evening

Neenah — Persons who will vote in Neenah for the first time in April or who have otherwise changed their voting registrations will be able to register at a special session from 6:30 to 7:30 Friday evening in the city hall.

Registrations are also being accepted during regular office hours, 8 o'clock to 4 o'clock, until next Wednesday, the deadline for the April 1 election.

Voters who have not moved since the last election need not register again. Any changes in wards due to last year's redistricting are being taken care of automatically.

Persons who will have moved into the city or within the city by election time, however, must register. In order to be qualified a voter must have lived in the ward for 10 days prior to the election, but not necessarily prior to registration.

Persons who are not sure whether or not they are registered properly can find out by calling the city hall.

So far 63 new registrations, have been made.

Rubbish Collection

Neenah — Rubbish will be collected Thursday in the fourth ward east of the So-called running smoothly, however, and prevent the youngsters from waiting, children from different schools will report at different times. At 9 o'clock children from Martin Luther, Trinity Lutheran, Taft, Wilson, Roosevelt and Hoover schools will receive the shots. At 10 o'clock children from St. Mary's, St. Mary, Lincoln, Washington, and McKinley schools will be inoculated.

sters have already been advised of the special clinic, and instructed to consult their family physicians if the children have been exposed to any contagious diseases or have had recent severe colds.

Harlem Five to Appear On Menasha Mac Card

Marquis Haynes' Unit to Face Boston Team On March 29 Program at Menasa High Court

Menasha — The 1957-58 basketball season will close in the Twin Cities Saturday night, March 29, when the colorful Harlem Magicians will headline a program, sponsored by the Menasha athletic association, at the Menasha High school gym.

The Magicians, featuring Marquis Haynes, Sam Wheeler and Josh Grider, all-time Harlem Globetrotter greats, will meet the Boston Shamrocks in the feature game at 8 o'clock.

The Menasha Macs will tangle with New Holstein in a preliminary at 6:30. Both are members of the Eastern Wisconsin Amateur Basketball circuit.

Jerry Heiss, president of the Athletic association, announced that a "pee-wee" game, composed of fourth and fifth graders, will be played between halves of the Magician-Shamrock team.

The professional program will be the second sponsored by the Macs this season. A doubleheader, featuring the Harlem Globetrotters, played to a packed house at the Blucjay gym on Dec. 29.

The Magicians have been playing together since the 1953-54 season. They were originally known as Marquis Haynes' all-stars. In 1953-54, the club had a 17-3 record and it won 182 of 184 the next year.

During the 1955-56 and 1956-57 seasons, the Magicians were undefeated, coping 189 that first year and 285 the second.

17 Grade School Quints Begin Play in Diocesan Tournament

Three Contests Scheduled for Thursday; Finals on March 23

Menasha — Seventeen teams will initiate play in the twenty-seventh annual Diocesan Grade school basketball tournament at the St. Mary High school gym on Thursday.

Three contests are scheduled the first day. St. Luke of Two Rivers and St. Mary of De Pere clash in the 4 o'clock test, St. Patrick will collide with St. John of Antigo at 6:30 and St. Margaret Mary and Little Chute St. John will be the participants in the 8 o'clock contest.

Friday Games

The St. Luke - De Pere game will be a rematch of the Lakeshore tourney championship in which the Two Rivers entry downed its De Pere foe, the defending champion, for the meet crown.

Games slated for Friday include Appleton Sacred Heart versus St. Peter of Oshkosh at 6:30, host Menasha St. Mary versus St. Peter and Paul of Green Bay at 7:30 and Appleton St. Therese versus Holy Cross of Kaukauna at 8:30.

Games for next Sunday include defending champion Kimberly Holy Name versus Holy Redeemer of Two Rivers at 1 o'clock, Oshkosh St. Mary versus Manitowoc St. Mary at 3 o'clock and Menasha St. John versus the winner of Friday's Sacred Heart - St. Peter game at 4 o'clock.

Set Semi-Finals

Two second round games will be played next Tuesday evening and two more are scheduled for next Wednesday. The semi-finals are slated for Friday, March 21, with the finals and consolation games Sunday afternoon March 23.

Unlike other recent years, there are no teams which stand head and shoulders above the rest in the area. St. Luke won its tourney and St. Therese took the Kimberly Holy Name meet. The host Zephyrs were third at Two Rivers. Appleton St. Mary, which won its tournament, has not entered.

Kimberly Holy Name won the crown last year with a thrilling 50-49 overtime win over the Zephyrs. In each of the last two years, the Menashans have lost by one point in the finals. Third place went to St. Luke of Two Rivers with a 6-28 verdict over Manitowoc St. Mary.

Green Bay — Hewitt's Machines are scheduled to play the Bill Karras Grill team here Saturday afternoon in the Green Bay Recreation department's open basketball tournament.

The meet will open Thursday night with two games. First round matches include DePere Chatterbox versus Kaukauna Gustman and Green Bay Bertrand's versus Casco. The Bertrand team includes Green Bay Packer players, Ron Kramer, Jim Temp, Tom Bettis, Bert Starr and Max McGee.

Other entries are Appleton Adler Brau, Green Bay Zeller's, Ashland Merchants, Reliance Printers of Green Bay, Pat Nolan's of Green Bay, Wausau Shamrocks, Crystal Falls, Mich., Green Bay Reimer's, Green Bay Silver Rail and Kewaunee Chiefs.

In all, 18 teams will compete. The semi-finals are slated for Sunday afternoon and the finals Sunday night. All games are scheduled for the Washington Junior High school court.

Give Fitting Tips

'Homemade' Chemise Booms Pattern Sales

By the Associated Press
All over the country women are sewing chemise dresses like mad.

This is the final test of a new fashion. When the home seamstress accepts it, you can be sure it's here to stay for a while.

Sales of chemise patterns are booming, says Albert Chaiken, one of the country's top pattern designers. Within less than two months, a chemise dress made the "top ten" list of best-selling patterns.

"There are several reasons behind this mass acceptance of the new chemise style," says Chaiken who, as head designer for a pattern company, has guided home seamstresses through such major style changes as the "new look" of 1947 and the Empire silhouette of 1954. "It's easy to sew, for one thing, and fitting problems are cut to a minimum. Also, it gives women a chance to try out the new style without ruining their clothing budgets."

Range Toddlers' Styles
Most pattern companies are including increasing numbers of chemises in their spring lines. The styles are spread through all age groups, including misses, juniors, teens, children and toddlers.

The chemise silhouette appears in several versions. Most widely accepted is the loosefitting shift, tapered at the hem and accented at the neckline. The middie look is part of the same fashion story, and is represented in either the classic 2-piece middie or the semi-fitted dress with hipline cuff or belt, giving it a 2-piece look. Also popular is the bloused-back dress or suit.

Easy-Wear Middie
"The middie," says Chaiken, "is unquestionably the easiest of the new styles for the average woman to wear. The bloused back and the shift are good on tall, slender women and on slim junior figures. However, all the new chemise patterns are offered in several versions, and all include a belt for the timid."

Local sewing center experts advise that if you plan to sew a chemise, it's best to select a true chemise pattern. Don't try to make a chemise from a standard sheath. There is considerable difference in the cut, in addition to the relaxed waistline. The skirt is tapered toward the hem and style emphasis is placed at the neckline.

Proper Fit Tips
In order to insure correct fit, select your proper pattern size, going by the bustline measurement. Although the chemise allows two inches extra at the waistline, the ease allowance at the hipline is one inch less. Baste waistline darts in place and try on before stitching. Be sure the widest part of the dart falls at your natural waistline. Even if you are daring enough to try a completely unfitted chemise, you'll find that a suggestion of waistline curve is becoming.

When making the chemise it is particularly important to do all fitting over the foundation garment you will wear with the dress. A longer girdle often is advisable, to give extra control at the thigh area and add sleekness to the silhouette. A rounded bra is important for the gently defined bustline.

Skirts Hiked
When marking the hem of the garment, be sure to wear the shoes you plan to wear with it, as heel height makes a difference in the hang of the skirt. The chemise should be considerably shorter than last year's fashions, coming just below the knee.

The home seamstress will have a wide fabric choice for her new chemise. Soft fabrics such as jersey, sheer wool or silk will require linings in the back of the skirt, to retain the slender look. Crisper fabrics such as linen need no lining.

Chaiken offers a final word of advice: "Pay particular attention to the neckline and shoulder fit. When a dress fits only in that area, it must be perfect."

A CARD FILE system is an excellent way to keep track of your family's medical data (reaction to wonder drugs, dates of shots, etc.). Have a card for each child, for Daddy and yourself. The briefest of notes will do—while the event is fresh in your mind.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

So-called modernists can talk as much and as loudly as they wish about the "soundness" of their opening bids, but they will never get the sort of result that North-South — freewheelers, both — wangled from Life Master opponents in this deal. South, dealer.

North-South vulnerable.

South West North East

Pass Pass Pass

Many players, experts included, will shudder in this day and age at South's opening heart bid, based as it was on only nine high-card points, and indeed, such actions are not recommended for most partnerships. But let's not overlook a plain, hard fact. If South had passed, his side never could have gotten into the bidding with any measure of safety—and the same observation applies again and again to similar cases.

As for the subsequent bidding — well, East-West were outmaneuvered. West's immediate cue bid in hearts was pretty light, and East, not knowing this, felt that he certainly had to take some action when North tried to shut him out with the three-heart bid. So East doubled, and West decided to stick it out along defensive lines.

West laid down the club ace, saw the dummy, and didn't like what he saw. It was extremely difficult to find the best defense, and West didn't make the grade. He cashed the spade ace and led a second round. South ruffed East's ten and led the club seven. West won and continued to force South in trumps, leading another spade. South was delighted to ruff East's king, and now South led a diamond. West won and let his partner kill the good spade queen by ruffing, but South overruffed and easily piled up nine tricks via a cross-ruff.

Inspired defense would have beaten the contract one trick but that still would have been a victory for North-South inasmuch as West could have made four spades without much trouble. It is precisely such cases as this that make a few experts doggedly stick to the light (but distributionally compensated) bids which were in vogue many years ago.

Fine Arts Club Plans Guest Day

A program on "Anniversary Waltz" will be given by Mrs. James F. Miller when the Fine Arts club holds a guest day meeting at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Russell Berggren, 324 E. Pershing street.

Sinatra - Bacall Rites Expected At Oscar Time

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood — (U) — Prospects grew today that Frank Sinatra and Lauren Bacall are heading for a wedding, perhaps around Oscar time, March 26.

Miss Bacall was told of persistent marriage reports about her and the skinny crooner last night at the Huntington Hartford theater, where she attended the opening of Noel Coward in "Nude with Violin." Her reply was not in the Coward drawing-room tradition: "I don't know nothing. Call Miami."

Refuses Calls

Sinatra is in Miami for a singing date at the Hotel Fontainebleau. The hotel said he was refusing to accept calls.

The fact that Miss Bacall did not flatly deny the rumors nor decline comment added fuel to the well-lit fire.

Further evidence was offered in the disclosure that both Sinatra and Miss Bacall have pulled out of the academy award telecast March 26. Producer Jerry Wald said he has been unable to get an explanation from the singer why he has decided not to deliver the nominated song, "All the Way."

The actress said Tuesday night she cannot appear because "I'll be out of town."

Bacall Leaves Town

She didn't reveal where she would be but conclusion jumpers might suggest Las Vegas. It has been known to feature celebrity weddings, and Sinatra is a part owner of the Sands hotel there.

Officers Elected By Valley Shrine

Mrs. William Kumbler and Gilbert Trenlage were named worthy high priestess and watchman of shepherds, respectively, by members of the Valley Shrine of the White Order of Jerusalem Monday night at the Masonic temple. They will be installed with other officers in a service following a 6 o'clock dinner April 14, at the temple.

Also elected were the following: Mrs. Clarence Martin, noble prophetess, Paul G. Schulze, associate watchman of shepherds, Mrs. Rolin McElroy, worthy scribe, Miss Viola Maas, worthy treasurer, Mrs. Charles Wood, worthy chaplain, Mrs. Florian Heinrich, worthy shepherdess, and Mrs. Robert Pelton worthy guide.

Miss Warren Sherman and Mrs. L. A. Wienbergen were co-chairmen of entertainment at Monday's meeting, with Miss Sherman directing a play given by the Sojourners from Menasha. Mrs. John Goodrich presented a resume of the shrine's activities during the past year.

KD Officers Named for 1958 Term

Officers for Kappa Delta alumnae elected to serve during 1958 are: Mrs. George Miotke, president, Mrs. Peter Melchior, vice president, Mrs. Thomas Dietrich, secretary, and Mrs. Ben Kluba, treasurer. All are from Appleton except Mrs. Kluba, who resides in Menasha.

Other members were named to appointive posts, including the Mmes. Robert Kenney, Appleton, editor; Mennes, magazine chairman, and Thomas Dietrich, Appleton, and Carl Nagan, Combined Locks, Pan-Hellenic representatives.

The women were named Monday night when the alum unit met at the home of Mrs. Harold Mennes, 649 Oak street. Neenah, for a potluck supper. Assisting hostesses were the Mmes. A. Knepekens, Kimberly, Delmar Peterson and Miotke, both of Appleton.

The group will meet with sorority activities April 21 at the KD room at Coleman hall, Lawrence campus, to observe an awards day dessert social. Two coeds from each college class will be named for scholarship and service.

Double Lives

Omaha, Neb. — (U) — A study reported by the Rev. Dr. Richard E. Lentz, a Disciples of Christ family-life specialist, shows that a third of all men and women who marry have been married previously, and 96 per cent of them have former spouses living.

ed in the disclosure that both Sinatra and Miss Bacall have pulled out of the academy award telecast March 26. Producer Jerry Wald said he has been unable to get an explanation from the singer why he has decided not to deliver the nominated song, "All the Way."

The actress said Tuesday night she cannot appear because "I'll be out of town."

Beauty Diet Suggested For Overweight

BY MARIAN MATTHEWS

Question—I gained 20 pounds last year. Most of it is at the hips and thighs. Can you suggest exercises?

Answer — First, I would recommend dieting to lose the excess weight. Exercise will not remove weight, but it does help to firm and trim the figure to its prettiest outline. Count daily calorie intake and keep it close to 1,200 if you can and if your general health is good.

With 20 pounds to lose I would suggest you do this under a doctor's supervision. It should take time and you will want to be certain your health is kept up to par. Try the "slapping" type exercises as you proceed. Stretch out on the floor with arms at right angles to body and feet drawn up on floor directly under knees. Now keeping knees together drop legs to the left side slapping hips and thighs against floor. Reverse after several slaps and do right side. Each slap should be firm enough to help bring a tingle to skin but it should not be so violent you hurt yourself.

Heavy Cuticle

Question — I have a heavy cuticle and would like to give up cutting it. Have you any suggestions?

Answer — It is usually difficult to give up this practice but if you permit yourself time enough—might be months—you may be able to do without the cutting. If you aren't satisfied, you can then resume trimming.

Daily care is necessary in the meantime. Keep cuticle soft by creaming each night. During the day when you apply hand lotion to hands pay particular attention to the cuticles, gently pushing them back as you work in the lotion. Do the same when drying hands after washing them. This little motion itself can be a tremendous help in keeping your fingers attractive.

Must Marriage Mean the End of Beautiful Friendship, Wife Asks

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Even if you never print this letter, I want to thank you for the chance to get it off my chest.

Why do men refuse to talk to their wives? Why does the average American husband come home, lie down on the sofa, hide behind a newspaper, or place himself in the protective custody of the TV set? Are wives supposed to be thrilled just to know the big lug is in the house?

Granted, they are tired and have plenty of conversation all day, but where does that leave the poor wife? If it weren't for the back fence and the telephone she'd never get a chance to use her voice.

"I'm in favor of a 'home hour,' so a husband and wife and children can exchange some friendly chatter. We marry these men because we love them and want a life together. Must marriage be the end of a beautiful friendship?

—DETROIT DEE

Apparently you're married to a clam with a broken hinge. You'll never convert him to a gabber but you can work on him to open up.

When the lines of communication break down, a marriage begins to deteriorate. Since you must compete with TV, the newspaper and the sofa, the trick is to be more interesting than your competition.

To some women, "conversation" means talking a husband's ear off about what the girls said at bridge, or what the butcher told Mrs. Shmaltz. A wise wife will ask intelligent questions about his day and have interesting or amusing material to relate if he hasn't much to say.

No man wants to be greeted at the door and pelted with complaints or petty gossip. Be sure your timing is right. If you play it by ear you may discover the guy you married has vocal chords after all.

DEAR ANN: I'm 18 and in love with Jim. We got along perfectly and then he went overseas in the middle of our romance.

I thought I'd die of loneliness and was true to him for one month. His brother asked me for a date and I accepted. We started to go out regularly and he kissed me several times. I got to feeling guilty so I wrote Jim and confessed. He never answered my letters.

To get even I continued to go out with his brother but my heart was with Jim. I keep calling the brother by Jim's name, so he must suspect my real feelings. How can I get my true love back?—MOLLY

You'll never get your "true love" back if you continue to settle for a reasonable facsimile thereof. Stop seeing the brother at once and write Jim and tell him everything.

You thought you could play both ends against the middle, and as is generally the case, you got squeezed. If you get Jack back, you're lucky. A girl who is stupid enough to allow herself to be passed around like a bowl of cole slaw at a family picnic is a real fool.

Patient Impatient At Waiting

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I went to see my doctor yesterday afternoon for my usual check-up. When I arrived at the office there were three other patients before me, so I sat down and waited. While I was sitting there several other people came in, one of them a young woman. She seemed quite impatient and kept looking at her watch. After a while she came over to me and asked me if I would mind if she went in ahead of me. She said she was in a hurry and that she only had to get an injection and wouldn't be long. By then I had been waiting over a half hour and was getting pretty restless myself, so I said that I was sorry but that I was anxious to get out, too. I am sure the others in the office thought me impolite, but I think she had a nerve asking in the first place and that I was quite justified in refusing. Will you please set my mind at ease and tell me if I was rude?

Answer: If the woman who asked to go ahead of you had a legitimate reason for doing so she should have explained it to the nurse. Then, if the doctor agreed with her, she would have asked you if you would let her go first. As things were I do not think you were rude.

Juice From Fruit

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if, after eating the fruit from a half a grapefruit or orange, it is proper to pick it up in the hand and squeeze the juice into a spoon held in the other hand. I have a friend who insists that this is perfectly acceptable. I cannot believe it.

Answer: At breakfast or other informal family meal it is quite correct to squeeze the last bit of juice from a grapefruit or orange into one's spoon. This should not, however, be done when company is present.

Thanking A Man

Dear Mrs. Post: When a man says thank you after a dance, is this ignored or is a woman supposed to answer "You are welcome"?

Answer: No, not "you're welcome," but she might say "thank you" or "I enjoyed dancing," or perhaps answer with only a pleased expression.

Hortonville High School Basketball Coach Russ Tiedemann, left, discusses strategy for his club's sectional tournament opening game against Appleton Friday night with his five starters. ## Polar Bears Set Sights on 1st Sectional Title in Five Tries

Tops Scoring
Of Unbeaten '5'

Hortonville High school's basketball Polar Bears will attempt to chuck the "bridesmaid's" role that has dogged them for a quarter century when they participate in this weekend's Neenah sectional tournament.

The Polar Bears, who open tournament play against Appleton at 7 o'clock Friday, have appeared in four previous sectionals in the last 25 years but have never gained the sectional finals.

On all four previous occasions, however, they captured the meet's consolation crown.

The Polar Bears' Neenah date this weekend is their second sectional appearance in two seasons. Last year Coach Russ Tiedemann's forces were eliminated in the first round of the Stevens Point meet by Wausau, 73-62, but then tripped Niagara, 68-64, for consolation honors.

Kimberly native Tiedemann has had a brilliant record in three seasons as Hortonville coach. His team, which ranked second in final WIAA "Little 16" ratings this year, has a current 21-0 mark. Hortonville has lost just six games in the three campaigns. Last year the Polar Bears finished with a 21-2 mark.

The 1957-58 club galloped through the Little Nine conference race to an easy repeat championship and won all its non-conference games without serious strain. The closest call thus far was in a 6-point (71-65) triumph over a rangy Cedar Grove in the first round of the Denmark district tourney. Cedar Grove owned a 41-40 half-time lead in that one.

Hortonville's other tournament victories were over Winneconne (61-50) and Freedom (75-47) in the Hortonville sub-district and over Denmark (77-58) in the district finals.

Averages 20 Points
Besppected senior forward Jim Steffen, a 6-1 jump-shot artist, leads Polar Bear point-makers in the four tourney games with a 20-point-per-game average. Steffen, a springy-legged rebounder who can battle on the boards with boys 3 or 4 inches taller, specializes in an over-the-head jump shot.

The club's No. 2 tourney scorer has been 6-0 senior-guard Dennis Sommers, a rugged, solidly-built competitor. Sommers, one of the area's top all-around athletes, has averaged 17.7 points. He's a good outside set shot but also includes jump shots and drive-ins in his bag of tricks.

Jim's brother, Joe Steffen, a 5-10 sophomore guard, is the "chaser" in the Polar Bears' 1-2-2 zone defense. Joe has averaged 14 tallies per tourney contest. He's a good defensive player and has scored a lot of his points on steals of enemy passes.

Notre Dame '5' Wins, Plays Indiana Friday

Irish Win, 94-61,
Over Tennessee Tech;
Pittsburgh Loses

BY JERRY LISKA

Evansville, Ind. — Three teams—Notre Dame, Indiana and Miami of Ohio—will carry the Midwest's bid into the NCAA basketball regional play-off at Lexington, Ky., Friday night.

Unfortunately for this area, Notre Dame, which won its regional opener Tuesday night in Northwestern's McGraw hall, must collide with special seeded Indiana, the Big Ten champion, right off the bat at Lexington.

Miami Plays Kentucky
Notre Dame spanked outclassed Tennessee Tech, Ohio Valley conference champion, 94-61, by way of priming for a vital rematch with the Hoosiers whom the Irish defeated, 89-74, in a Christmas holiday tournament.

Miami, which cut down slightly favored Pittsburgh, 82-77, here Tuesday night, takes on Southeast conference champion Kentucky, like Indiana, seeded into the semi-finals of the NCAA's Midwest regional.

Tom Hawkins' 30 points led Notre Dame to its triumph over Tennessee Tech which played without two of its regular season stars who were banned from NCAA play because they are 4-year players.

Appleton Pin Meet Will Begin April 7

Entries are Due by March 22

The nineteenth annual Appleton Bowling association tournament will begin April 7 at the Hahn and the Elks club alleys.

All entries must be in by midnight March 22, according to M. O. "Bud" Wegner, secretary of the association.

Last year's tournament attracted 148 teams, 188 doubles entries and 348 singles bowlers. The prize list totaled $1,545.

One Major Change
The champions of the 1957 meet were: singles, Hank Bolwerk, 658; doubles, Al Gutschow and John Cotton, 1,171; all-events, Jerry Reider, 1,802; team, Van Wink TV, 2,953.

The team event will be held at Hahn's, with singles and doubles to be bowled at the Elks. The tourney runs through April 18. The dates at Hahn's are April 7, 8, 14, 15, 16 and 18. Action at the Elks is slated for April 7, 8, 10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18.

Wegner reports that the only major change in this year's meet is the raising of the entry fee by 25 cents per man for each event. The fees will be $13.75 for teams, $5.50 for doubles and $2.75 for singles.

Entrants must hold individual sanction cards for the Appleton Bowling association. (Bowlers who do not now hold such a card may be sanctioned with the payment of a 75 cent fee.)

Starr Signs His '58 Contract

McLean Says Bart
Will be 'Great'
Next Season

Green Bay —F— Coach Ray McLean announced today that quarterback Bart Starr has signed his contract for the 1958 season in the National Football league.

Starr began the 1957 season with a stubborn back injury, but he improved about the middle of the season. He finished with 117 passes in 215 attempts for a 54.4 per cent completion average. In his rookie year, as understudy to Tobin Rote, Bart completed 24 of 44 passes.

McLean said, "Starr will come into his own after his first year under fire. He studied the opponents' defenses and personnel, and toward the end of last season was spotting the weaknesses quicker under game conditions. Bart will be a great quarterback next season."

Jordan. "We were down, 12-5, after five minutes and we actually were a very tense club at that point. We can't do that against Indiana and expect to come back the same way."

"Indiana has come a long way since we beat them on Dec. 28. As a matter of fact that was Indiana's sixth loss in seven starts. They've made a little bit of history since then and proved to be real champions when they beat Michigan State for the Big Ten title under pressure last Saturday."

At Lexington, Notre Dame will be the highest ranked contender from The Associated Press' final poll. The Irish, now owning a 23-4 record, finished No. 8 in the poll. Indiana, with a 12-10 record, placed twelfth. Kentucky was ninth while Miami failed to make the first 20.

Prior to the start of last week's regional tournament, Appleton High school basketball followers conjectured about what effect the disastrous second half of the Fox River Valley conference title game would have on the Terrors.

Beloit Back in Midwest Loop

Ripon Becomes 9th
Faculty to Approve College's Readmission

Ripon —F— Beloit college regained its membership in the Midwest conference today after the faculties of the nine member schools voted unanimously to readmit the Wisconsin college.

The Ripon college faculty Tuesday became the ninth and final faculty to approve Beloit's application.

Robert P. Ashley, Ripon faculty dean and Midwest conference publicity director, said he did not expect Beloit would be able to participate in 1958 football and basketball competition because conference schedules already have been drawn.

Beloit, a charter member of the Midwest conference, was ousted in 1951 for over-emphasis of athletics. Its reinstatement brings the conference membership to 10 schools.

Bay East—turned a 29-19 lead into a crashing 61-43 defeat. And, during some stages of that second half, Feb. 28, the Terrors lost their poise for perhaps the only time this season.

Erase Doubts
The Dick Emanuel-coached Appletonians wasted no time in erasing doubts about their ability to snap back. They scored a decisive first-round victory over Kaukauna and followed it up with wins over two rugged foes—Kimberly and Neenah—to annex the regional title.

The Terrors' next encounter along the hazardous tournament trail will be against unbeaten Hortonville Friday night in the Neenah sectional.

Appleton's latest recovery from a rather large-margined loss has thus far followed a familiar pattern. After a 75-52 shocker at Manitowoc in January, the Terrors rolled to nine straight victories, including one over the same Manty team. And, in 1956—the time of their last previous one-sided setback—the Terrors followed up a plus-20 point loss to West with nine consecutive wins.

In their three tourney wins last week, the Terrors averaged 65.3 points per game while allowing 46.3. Their defensive play was uniformly good and their shooting (a 3-game field goal accuracy of 42.4 per cent) left little to be desired.

AHS outperformed its first two foes but came out second best in board play against Neenah.

The Terrors' tourney scoring balance was the best it's been over a sustained period this season. Jack Ullwelling, the team's season-long scoring leader, produced 50 points in the three games. But, Ron Abel was right behind with 42. Three others averaged eight points or better per game. Howie Hamann tallied 26 for three games, Dick King 25 and Bill Bedard 24.

The 3-game totals of other members of the tourney squad are Tom Verkuilen, 17; John Nussbaum, 6; Bob Ferrel, 4; Bob Roemer, 2; and Jim Zoelk, 0.

After taking it easy Monday, the Terrors returned to heavy practice duty Tuesday.

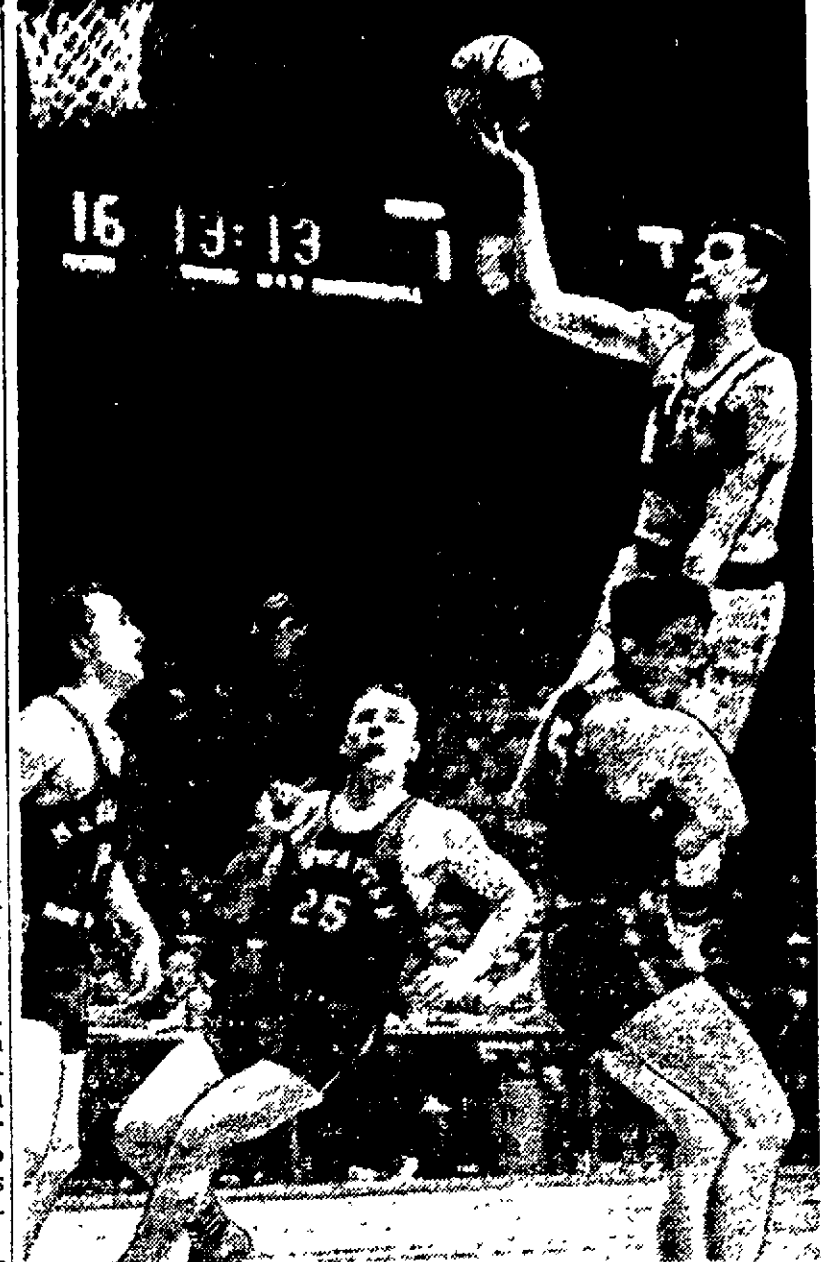

Though Hortonville and AHS have not met officially this year, they are reasonably familiar with each other's styles. They staged a scrimmage in early January, and the Polar Bears outplayed the Terrors.

Yacht Club to See Movies of 1957 Marathon Race

Movies of the 1957 Winnebago land outboard marathon will be shown after Thursday evening's regular monthly meeting of the Appleton Yacht club. Leo Promen, Fond du Lac, in charge of patrol craft in the marathon, will narrate the films. The public is invited to the showing, which will begin at about 9 o'clock.

7 Clubs Appear Set For '58 FRVL Play

4 Other Undecided; Next Meeting Stated March 30

Seven clubs appear set to compete in the Fox River Valley Amateur Baseball league this season.

Four others—Appleton's South Side Athletic club, Two Rivers, Harrison, and Oshkosh—are undecided about their 1958 plans.

Currently planning to take part in 1958 operations are the Little Chute Merchants, Menasha Macs, Kimberly, Freedom, Reedsville, Kaukauna and Manitowoc. The Freedom and Kaukauna franchises were combined into one last season.

Applies For Extension
A twelfth club, the Menasha Falcons, has applied for another year's extension on its leave of absence from the circuit. The application will be considered at the circuit's next meeting, March 30.

Also on the agenda for the March 30 meeting are the appointment of a new umpire-in-chief and of a new publicity director. Last season's head umpire, Bob Willis, is now the business manager of the Fox Cities club of the Three-I league. Publicist Larry Belonger, Manitowoc, has also resigned.

Four circuit officers were re-elected at a recent meeting. They are: Herman Schumacher, Oshkosh, president; Joe Vanden Hogen, Little Chute, vice president; Frank Warner, Appleton, secretary, and Paul

Manhattan Jolts West Virginia '5' In Tourney Opener

Top-Ranked Team Falls, 89-84; Oklahoma State Triumphs, 59-42

The Associated Press
The far-flung NCAA basketball tournament takes another step tonight toward lining up its 16-team field for four class-packed regionals this week-end, while the biggest of them all, top-ranked West Virginia, lies flat on its face.

Even a team rated best in the nation by the experts voting in the final Associated Press poll couldn't help West Virginia overcome the baffling jinx that says WVU just doesn't win in the NCAA tournament.

Four straight years they've tried in their Southern conference, reign under Coach Fred Schaus, and four times they've been bounced to the sidelines in their first game. Tuesday night, it was the most baffling of all as the Mountaineers, thrown far off balance in the first half, fell before an inspired Manhattan team, 89-84, in the feature of a tournament triple-header at Madison Square garden.

Meet Dartmouth Next
"Weren't the kids great?" asked Manhattan Coach Kenyon Norton, who was nearly mauled by his team and delirious spectators after the upset.

It's on to the NCAA Eastern regional at Charlotte, N.C., Friday night for Manhattan, in which they'll meet Dartmouth's Ivy league champion.

Dressen Almost Signed With Braves Last Fall

Miami, Fla. —P—Rain fell on the Milwaukee Braves and Los Angeles Dodgers Tuesday night and their Grapefruit league exhibition baseball game was cancelled.

But there was news, even as the teams just sat around the dressing rooms before the action was called off.

Already Contacted
Charlie Dressen, former Dodger manager at Brooklyn, and now their no. 1 coach at Los Angeles, disclosed that he almost became a member of the world champion Milwaukee Braves family. Apparently the only thing that prevented him from joining was the fact that the request came too late.

"The Braves made the offer shortly before they fired their three coaches last year," Dressen said. (The trio of aides was dropped by Milwaukee 11 days after winning the World Series.)

"But I had already been contacted by 'Buzzy' Bavasi of the Dodgers during the Series and accepted the job. If the Braves had asked me earlier, I most certainly would have taken the position," Dressen said.

Dressen was dropped as manager by the Washington Senators last June, but stayed on as a scout at $25,000 a year until he got the offer from the Dodgers.

In answer to a question Dressen said, "Sure, I'd like to manage again. If the right kind of a job comes along," and added:

"When Bavasi offered me the job, he mentioned something about me maybe managing again."

Over in the Braves' share of the quarters young Johnny DeMerit talked about what he's been doing this spring, but proved he is not a dreamer. DeMerit, from Port Washington, joined the Braves last year fresh off the University of Wisconsin campus, and in the process collected a bonus estimated at $100,000.

Shoemaker Is Thrown by His Mount

Miraculously Escapes Serious Injury at Arcadia

Arcadia, Calif. —P—A money pinch may be on, but there was no sign of it Tuesday at Santa Anita as the winter race-track closed out another lush season.

A crowd of 35,000 saw Mrs. Ethel Jacobs' Promised Land, winner of five consecutive eastern stakes, but a failure here, redeem himself by capturing the $116,100 San Juan Capistrano handicap at a mile and three quarters on the grass.

The crowd got a sickening thrill in the fourth race as "Wee" Willie Shoemaker, three times the national riding champion and the perennial champ at Santa Anita, was bolted off his mount, Naboo.

The horse lugged out sharply on the first turn. Shoemaker was bumped by two other horses as he was going down, and one jumped over him during the speed jam. Miraculously, Willie suffered no serious injury. He was conscious and joked with photographers as he was taken in an ambulance to the track hospital, then removed to another hospital, where he spent the night. He was discharged today. It was a narrow squeak. Shoemaker could have lost his life in exactly the same spot on the track where the great George Woolf was killed in a fall in 1946.

Three Bouts on Wrestling Card At VFW Friday

The VFW's second wrestling card this winter will start at 9 o'clock.

A's Defeat Cards With 7 Runs In Ninth Inning

By The Associated Press
The Philadelphia Phillies, in winning three of their first four Grapefruit league exhibitions, are coming up with some big innings, but Manager Mayo Smith is more concerned today about Robin Roberts.

Perhaps the 31-year-old Roberts, who had his worst record (10-22) in 10 years in the major leagues last year, will come back and become the 20-game winner of old.

Roberts made his first appearance of the year against the Detroit Tigers Tuesday at Clearwater, Fla. In the second inning, the Tigers scored three times on four hits, a base on balls and a sacrifice fly.

Score Knotted
The Phillies kept even by getting a trio of runs off Paul Foytack, and Roberts finished his 3-inning stint with the score knotted at 3-3.

The Phils finally won it, 10-9, after scoring five runs in the seventh.

The Pittsburgh Pirates rapped Washington pitching for 15 hits in a 7-3 decision at Fort Myers, Fla. Three Senator errors accounted for four unearned runs.

The Cincinnati Redlegs jumped on New York starter Tom Sturdivant for three runs in the first inning at Tampa, Fla., but the Yankees rallied for a 5-3 victory — their first.

Joe Cunningham slapped a grand-slam homer to put the St. Louis Cardinals ahead, 8-7, in the seventh inning against the Kansas City Athletics at St. Petersburg, Fla. But the A's shoved seven runs over the plate in the ninth and took a 14-8 decision.

With one away in the ninth inning, successive singles by Haywood Sullivan, Gene Stephens and Billy Consolo brought in the run which gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox at Sarasota, Fla. It was the third straight exhibition score for Boston.

mention choices were: Glen Goede, Sheboygan Falls; Joseph Dugan and Ronald Shuler, Valdres; Dean Christianson, center, and New Holstein's Alphonse Steiner, guard.

Earning honorable mention was Brillion's Lloyd Herwig, a senior. Other senior honorable

House Unit OKs Bill to Provide '60 Winter Olympics Facilities

Washington — (AP) — A bill to provide a sports arena and other facilities for the 1960 winter Olympic games got quick approval from the house armed services committee Tuesday.

Chairman Vinson (D - Ga.) steered the bill swiftly through the committee and said he would try to have rules suspended for quick action in the house. The senate already has approved the measure.

Witnesses said prompt authorization is imperative because of the short construction season in the Placer County, Calif., mountain area where the main facilities would be built.

The bill authorizes construction on U.S. land of a sports arena at government expense and clears the way for the military services to help with such facilities as their specialized cold weather transportation and communications equipment.

Asst. Secretary of Defense William Francis told the committee the work contemplated in the bill would cost under $4,000,000. He said California has appropriated $7,995,000 state funds for the Olympic facilities and is spending $43,000,000 more on an accelerated access road program.

Ray Richards Lauds Packer Draft Picks

Milwaukee — (AP) — Soft-spoken Ray Richards, hired to mold a rock-hard defense for the Green Bay Packers, talked things over with the Second Guessers club Tuesday night, but refused to climb out on any limbs.

Richards, former head coach of the Chicago Cardinals also of the National Football league, joined the Packers only last week and made what he called observations.

He said Green Bay probably did the best job of any team in the last NFL draft and noted the team will get help when Forrest Gregg returns to the offensive line after a hitch in service. Also coming back from the military is halfback Veryl Switzer who plays either offense or defense.

Richards also found encouragement in the trade with the Washington Redskins that netted the Packers a pair of linemen, Steve Meilinger and J. D. Kummel.

He explained that the coaching staff, led by Ray "Scooter" McLean, "is in the process of simplifying everything to eliminate our own mistakes. Winning a couple more ball games means we'll be in contention."

Rangers, Still Fighting for 2nd, Attain Playoffs

By The Associated Press
The New York Rangers clinched a playoff berth in the National Hockey league Tuesday night with a 2-2 tie with the Detroit Red Wings, but Manager Phil Watson still isn't satisfied.

Watson is worried more about clinching second place than he is about entering the Stanley cup playoffs, and with good reason. The third place team must meet the champion Montreal Canadiens, while the second place outfit plays either the Boston Bruins, Toronto Maple Leafs or the Red Wings.

That still is to be decided, but the Chicago Black Hawks — the sixth team in the league — were mathematically eliminated by Monday night's tie.

The tie kept the Rangers undefeated on Detroit ice this year — the first time any team did so since Montreal in 1944.

List Others
Seniors on the first squad are: Plymouth's Tom Splitger and Sheboygan Falls' James Kupiec, forwards; Falls' Henry Van Dixhorn and Kohler's Kenneth Schmeling, guards.

Selected to the second team, besides Daun, were: Kohler's Richard Newton and New Holstein's John Horn, forwards; Valdres' Dean Christianson, center, and New Holstein's Alphonse Steiner, guard.

Venturi and Casper Meet In Playoff

New Orleans — (AP) — Slender Ken Venturi, a steel-nerved former San Francisco automobile salesman, and husky Billy Casper, absent from tournament golf in recent weeks because of flu, were to meet today in an 18-hole playoff for the $20,000 New Orleans open title.

Venturi, hailed as the "new Ben Hogan," came in with a 6-under-par 66 in the final 18 holes Tuesday. Casper, of Apple Valley, Calif., finished minutes behind to tie for the lead at 278.

Casper, Venturi and Walt Burkemo, Franklin Hills, Mich., started yesterday's 36 - hole grind tied for the top spot. Casper recorded 70 in his third round while Venturi fell to 73.

Burkemo had a third-round 71 and dropped from contention with a final-round 71 to tie Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., for third place with each collecting $1,300.

Sunny Skies Bring Large Crowds to 1958 Boat Show

Sunny skies, hinting the advent of spring, encouraged thousands of Fox Cities residents to visit the opening day of the 1958 boat show at Valley Fair shopping center Tuesday.

James Vosper, Valley Fair manager, said the crowds were unusually heavy for the first day of a show. Last year 50,000 people visited the show.

On exhibit in the center's enclosed mall are latest advances in marine and aquatic equipment. Boat-lovers have been attracted by sleek new models of equipment for all forms of water recreation.

The show runs until Saturday from 10 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night. Ten motor and marine supply dealers are exhibiting new boats, boat trailers, docks and other accessories. Manufacturers and distributors also have contributed displays.

First-day crowds saw cruisers of all sizes, runabouts, sail boats, outboards, inboards, cutaway motor models, marine hardware equipment and water sport equipment.

County Tries For Federal Office Space

Offers Second Floor Quarters in Annex for Social Security Branch

Outagamie county is submitting a bid to have the proposed Appleton Social Security office on the second floor of the courthouse annex.

The county is offering the federal general services administration 1,953 square feet for $2.50 a square foot, or $4,882.50 annually. The charge includes heat, light, maintenance and janitorial service.

The new social security office would serve Waupaca county, the cities of Neenah and Menasha, Neenah and Menasha townships, and all of Outagamie county except the towns of Seymour, Osborn and Oneida.

Nine or 10 persons will staff the office, which was to have opened around March 1.

Appleton Nineteenth ward Supp. Gordon A. Schultz, who heads the board's public property and insurance committee, said the federal government specified a first floor space or an attended elevator service. However, the annex with its self-service elevator, might be suitable, Schultz added.

At present the social nurse and superintendent of schools are the only tenants of the annex's second floor.

Bright Sun Smiles Down On Fox Cities

A bright sun smiled on the Fox Cities and Wisconsin today as the long procession of mild days and cool nights continued.

Night time minimums ranged from a low of 10 degrees above 0 at Grantsburg to 23 at Kenosha. The highs Tuesday were in the low 40s and the middle to upper 30s.

Appleton had a high of 40 Tuesday followed by a low of 20 overnight. The temperature at 11 o'clock this morning had climbed back to 36, with the wind from the northwest at 13 miles an hour, according to the weather station at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. Other traces of snow remain on the ground.

Nationally, Key West, Fla., had the high Tuesday with 79, while Leadville, Colo., was the coldest spot early today with 2 below.

State Forecast
The state forecast calls for generally fair with little change in temperature tonight and Thursday. The low tonight will be from 15 to 22 in the north and from 20 to 26 in the south. The high Thursday will be from 38 to 48. The outlook for Friday is for mostly cloudy and a little warmer, with a chance of rain or snow beginning in the south portion.

A moderate maple sap run is expected today and Thursday with almost full sunshine, light winds and high temperatures.

Elsewhere in the country, the major wet belt was confined to the western sections today, with southwestern areas getting both snow and rain.

Ask Study of Speed Limits Where BB Enters Appleton

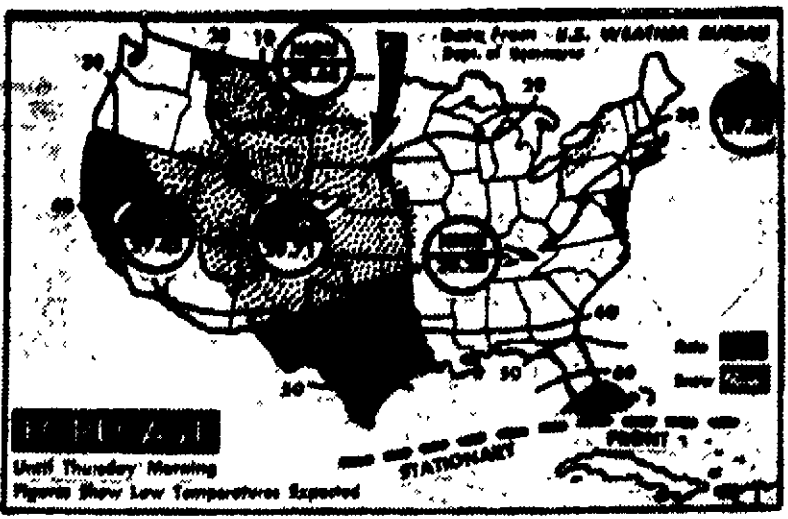

The state highway commission will be asked to make a traffic and engineering study on County Trunk BB and W. Prospect avenue at the Appleton city limits, the Outagamie county board decided Tuesday.

Kenneth W. Ward, 1901 W. Prospect, asked the board to do something about the 45-mile speed zone which ends at a sharp curve at S. Douglas street. The city's 25-mile speed zone starts at this point and makes the corner dangerous, Ward said.

A date for the study will be set by the commission.

Prices Ease On Exchange

Moderate Declines Prevail After 8 Days of Advances

New York — Profit-taking after eight sessions without a loss sent the stock market moderately lower early this afternoon.

Turnover was active for the most part but dealings were quiet after the first couple of hours. The ticker tape was a minute late for a period of three minutes in the opening rush.

Losses were kept generally within a point. The retreat affected most major divisions. A few key stocks bucked the trend.

Steels, motors, chemicals, rails, oils, nonferrous metals, rubbers and airlines showed losses. Aircrafts and radio-televisions were mixed.

Recent favorites such as Lukens Steel, Lorillard and Polaroid were clipped for losses. Lorillard was down around a point while Lukens and Polaroid dropped fractions.

Goodrich, International Nickel and Youngstown Sheet lost about a point each.

Fractional losses were taken by U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Du Pont.

General Motors was about unchanged. Chrysler eased. Ford declined a major fraction.

John P. Miller, 1519 S. Jefferson street, Tuesday told the Outagamie county board he is resigning as Appleton's Ninth ward supervisor because he is moving from the ward. Miller was elected to the board last year in his first venture into politics. Mayor Robert L. Roemer must appoint a successor. (Post-Crescent Photo)

450 Persons Lost Lives in California Tragedy in 1928

BY JACK LEFLER

Santa Paula, Calif.—The green valley of the Santa Clara, curving gracefully from the mountains to the sea, sleeps peacefully.

In towns down the sloping southern California valley, only a few lights gleam. The surrounding farms and orchards are serene and quiet.

It is near midnight March 12, 1928.

Among the thousands who dwell along the usually dry, sandy channel of the Santa Clara river below St. Francis dam, only a handful are aware that the concrete dam above them is leaking. They are nervous, but not quite believing.

Chester Smith, a rancher, dozes fitfully four miles away. He can't forget his trip to the dam the day before. He saw water seeping from where the western side of the dam anchors into the San Francisco canyon wall.

Roar Gives Warning
A thunderous roar and the sound of snapping trees springs Chester Smith from his blanket. "The dam has broke! The dam has broke!" he shouts to his family.

They reach the hilltop as a wall of water surges by with the roar of a thousand locomotives, sweeping everything before it.

Behind the thundering flood, St. Francis dam — 188 feet high, 600 feet long — lies in ruins, split asunder by the power of 12 billion gallons of water stored for the people of Los Angeles, 35 miles southeast.

The wave of water is 75 feet high as it sweeps by the towns of Saugus and Newhall, edging the widening valley some eight miles below.

Father Disappears

In the chill night, George McIntyre of Newhall hears a roar. The water hits the house as George and his father dart outside. Within a moment they are swimming side by side in the torrent. George grabs at a tree and pulls himself into the upper branches. His father disappears. His two brothers never got out of their beds.

The onrushing water scoops up 400 houses in the 16-mile gorge between the damsite and the village of Piru, and 450 persons perish.

The old watchman, Ed Locke, is up and about at the Southern California Edison Co. work camp at Piru. A terrifying roar sends him scrambling through the bunkhouses to awaken 200 men. Forty escape. The others, among them Ed Locke, are carried away.

The watery avalanche, holding its crest at 30 feet as the valley fans out, plunges on through Fillmore and Santa Paula, rolling houses as if they were tumbleweeds.

With the grace of a little warning, policemen in Santa Paula speed through the streets, shouting, "The dam has broken, flee for your lives!"

Head for Hills

Hundreds, quickly grab belongings and head for the hills, many are too slow, too late.

Mrs. Sisto Lunas drags a mattress from her home and hurls her three children and herself upon it. They float to safety.

Bill Spring swims two miles with a child clinging to his neck.

As the sun rises the flood has passed and lost itself in the Pacific ocean. Behind lie 45 miles of desolation and terror.

Platoons of rescue workers, augmented by police from Los Angeles, search the muddy, waterlogged valley.

Bodies are piled in makeshift morgues. At Newhall they use the pool hall. Rancher Henry Kensingler cries: "I've lost seven. And I haven't found a one."

This was the St. Francis dam disaster.

Investigation brought out that the dam was anchored in an unsuitable geological formation that weakened and gave way under tremendous pressure of the lake it impounded.

On the 30th anniversary of one of the nation's greatest disasters, the valley and its people still bears scars of tragedy.

At the damsite two hillocks of shattered concrete stand as grim monuments. A tiny stream cascades between the mounds. Squirrels play in the ruins.

Down in the valley there are people who lost their families and who, themselves, felt the clutches of the rushing waters.

For most, the memories are so terrible that even now they do not want to talk about the night the St. Francis dam burst.

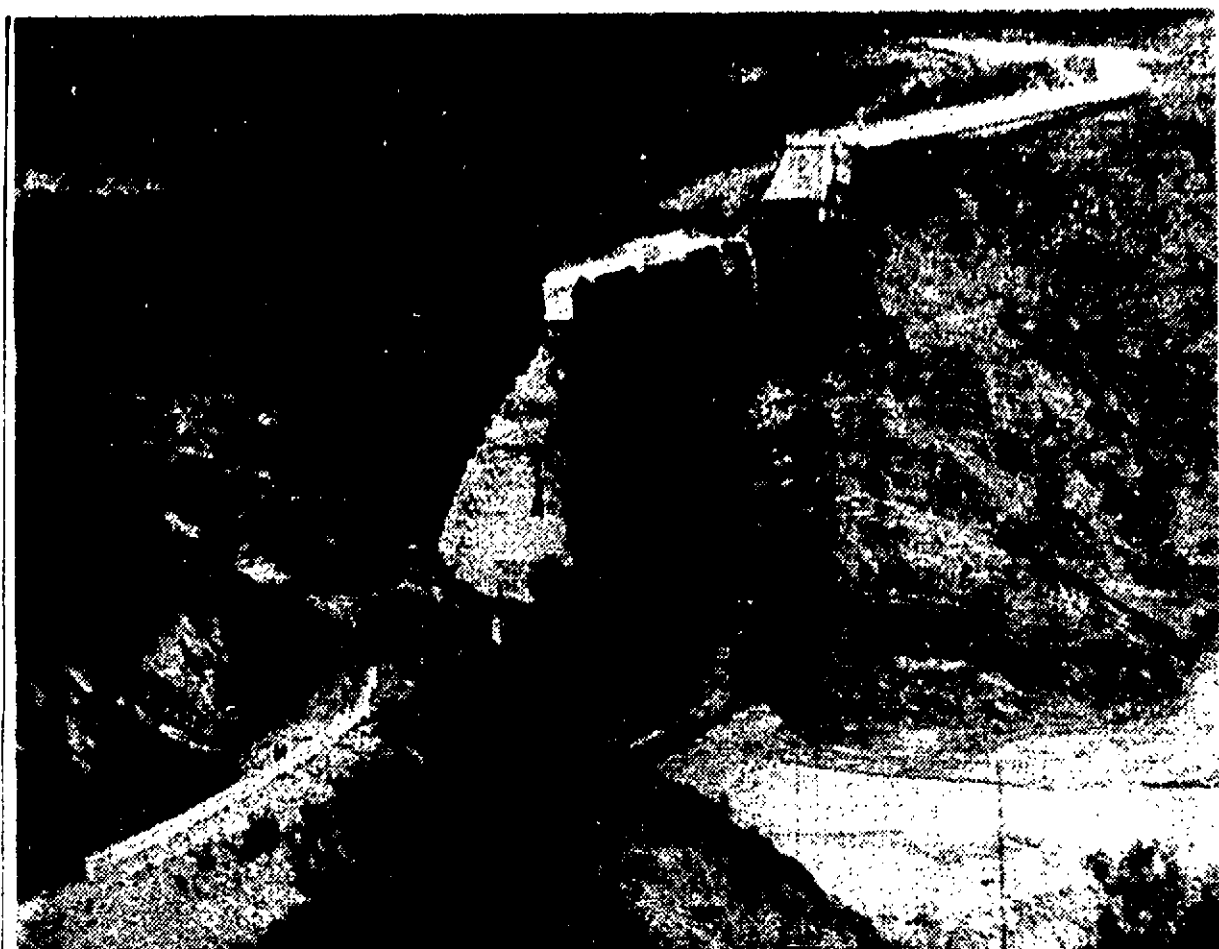

This Wall Was All That Remained of St. Francis dam after its collapse March 12, 1928, flooding southern California's Santa Clara valley and killing 450 persons. The wall stood for some time but was ultimately destroyed as a hazard. (AP Wirephoto)

Blind American Studying in England Reunited With Dog

BY GEOFFREY MILLER

Hackbridge, England—With joyful laugh, Jeff Davis Duty, 22-year-old blind American student, was reunited with his seeing eye dog Tuesday after a 6-month separation.

"Thank God, now I can be independent again," said Duty, of Rogers, Ark., hugging his Alsatian Binney.

In accordance with Britain's strict quarantine laws, Binney was locked up when Duty arrived last September to study law at the London school of economics. Since then the American has been living in a hostel with English students and has been visiting his dog two or three times a week at the government's quarantine kennels.

"I've had her five years and I don't think we could ever forget each other," Duty told newsmen before being driven back to London.

"But it's a long business training a guide dog and teaching her your ways and I didn't want her to forget anything I had taught her. Besides, we are much too attached to each other to want to be parted for long."

Fulbright Fellow
Duty was one of 200 young Americans who came to Britain last fall to study on a Fulbright fellowship. He plans to stay another six months.

"I have another year to put in at the University of Arkansas," Duty said. "After that it is my ambition to work in the state department."

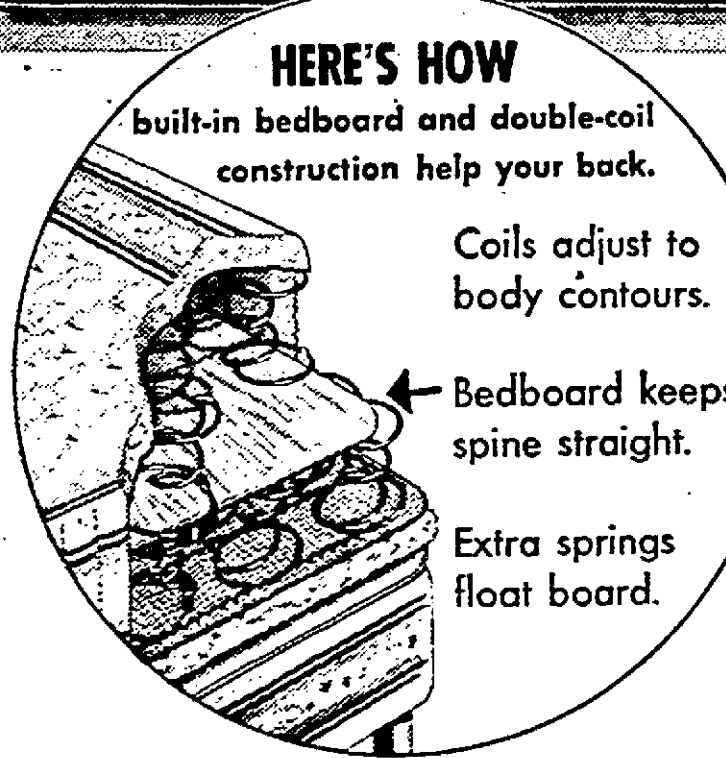

Britain's ministry of agriculture refused to relax the rigid quarantine laws to allow the young American and his dog to stay together. But he was allowed to visit Binney more regularly than other owners.

"My English friends have been wonderfully kind to me," he said, "but I shall be able to get out and about by myself now that I have Binney back again, and I shall begin to enjoy life more."

No Denying Facts-Chemise Shining Star in Fox Cities Spring Fashions

Femininity Key of New Sack Styles

Post-Crescent Society Editor

With hemlines up around the knees and bellines either nonexistent or down to the hips, there's no denying the facts—the era of the flapper is with us again.

Playing the stellar role in this revived era of fashion for spring 1958 is the sack-line—called by buyers and designers more glamorous names, such as the chemise, trapeze, balloon, spoon and tube-line.

The chemise is the name which American manufacturers and buyers favor for the new line and it's the tag given to the loosely-drawn dresses which are being offered Fox Cities women for spring wear.

Paris designers—who always have been good at producing something new—have developed a number of variations of the chemise theme. Most popular line is that which tapers toward the hemline and hugs the hips. The sack becomes a balloon line it seems when draping is added, usually at the back. Some of the sacks are pleated from shoulder to hem; some are loosely bloused at the neckline and some have great billowing backs.

Tent-Like Effect
Most talked about interpretation of the sack is the trapeze silhouette launched by Dior's successor, Yves Saint-Laurent, who slopes the fullness of the line outward and downward from a narrow shoulder line, with a slight indentation just below the bust. The general effect is something like a tent.

Although early introduction of the sack proved many American women violently opposed to the shapeless styling, indications now are that their resistance is weakening and that the sack is here to stay for awhile.

However, American manufacturers wisely realizing that most women wouldn't take to the extreme versions, have turned out modified adaptations of the French chemise, balloon, trapeze and bloused silhouette in sizes not only for the slender, but all the way up to 20.

And although directly descended from the flapper-line, the modified versions have a distinctive 1958 flavor, which wisely avoids the severe manish lines of the 20's styles.

Sack Not a Bag
American adaptations of the chemise—the styles Fox Cities women will find in local stores—have produced a sack-line which definitely is not a bag. Loosely drawn, the modified versions, however, are tapered for a soft and feminine look and epitomize the easy relaxed feeling of today's fashion story. The soft, relaxed feeling of the American chemise is achieved via gentle blousing, subtle shaping, supple fabrics and pretty feminine details. Often the fluid chemise lines make a fashionable compromise with semi-belted front or back.

It must be noted, too, that while the chemise will be the "alta moda" for spring 1958, it will definitely not monopolize the costume picture for many away necklines (which will be fitted sheath-line dresses and the trend in most fashions this season) will play an important role in jewelry, and gloves will style which is most becoming be longer for daytime wear. To their own figures and in handbags to enhance the lines, keeping with their own personal tastes.

Spring 1958 will be a season when the hemline flirts with fabric field, for emphasis has been placed on silhouette rather than new materials. On the white collar. Cut from wool tweed sandstone fabric, Mrs. Sullivan's chemise jumper is accented by a print blouse and a 60-inch length of beads. Her skirt measures 15-inches from the ground, just a shade shorter than last year's styles. (Post-Crescent Photo) skirts in order to balance the overall picture. In Paris and on New York's Fifth avenue, the hemline will afford the knee-cap bare coverage, while more conservative mid-westerners will probably only hike their hemlines up to about 15½ inches from the floor.

Walking in a Chemise is Like walking in the clouds, says Mrs. Al Schnese, 1707 S. Outagamie street, left, and Mrs. Daniel L. Sullivan, 2325 N. Erb street, who model 1958's contributions to fashion history. Mrs. Schnese's chemise—styled with just a hint of a fit—is fashioned from silk and rayon in a willow green shade with a pert

The reign of the chemise also brings with it a whole new line of accessories designed to complement the new sack-like proportions. Hats will take many shapes, but all will have one thing in common—they will be worn off the face and all will be dramatic enough to provide balance for the fluid shaped silhouettes of the season.

Lower Heels for Balance
T-straps and open pumps will be in favor in the shoe story and lower heels will be prominent as a balance to higher hemlines. A profusion of chains and ropes a la' Chanel, it will definitely not monopolize the costume picture for many away necklines (which will be fitted sheath-line dresses and the trend in most fashions this season) will play an important role in jewelry, and gloves will style which is most becoming be longer for daytime wear. To their own figures and in handbags to enhance the lines, keeping with their own personal tastes.

Little news is found in the when the hemline flirts with fabric field, for emphasis has been placed on silhouette rather than new materials. On the daytime scene are airy and thin wools, tweeds, knits and silks. Evident favorites for party-time are faille, taffeta, nylon tulle and froths of organdy.

Vivid sun shades emerge in the color kaleidoscope for spring 1958, especially in the families of yellow, orange and melon. There also are many cool tones of green and blue and other leading colors of the season include string, beige, blue (from sky to navy), grey and quite a bit of black for after-dark wear. Prints are important in floral and nautical motifs, but it's not as pretty a print season as women might expect for spring. Designers seem reluctant to do anything which might detract from the silhouette.

Knits are News for Spring Wear

Knits are news for spring. Flower-printed coats, chemise dresses, skirts and raincoats are all appearing in cotton-knit fabrics right for March through September wear in the Fox Cities.

Showers in April and in August will be taken lightly by the new raincoats, styled in knit combinations. Slim cardigans and chesterfields in floral designs and solid colors will be found among the coats, which can double as smart afternoon and evening wraps throughout the summer months.

Sack dresses and ensembles of cotton knits are wearable from now into the summer and in warmer months will look fresh and cool when sheer, billowy dresses begin to droop.

Two-piece knit dresses, with a modified chemise look, are shown with middie collars and fabrics right for March through September wear in the Fox Cities.

Knit prints, in bright floral and geometric designs, have a wide range of activities, from the office to cocktail parties, and many of these styles have belts available for the wearer who is reluctant to accept fashion's decrees.

Shorter Skirt, Easy Fit Mark Spring Suits

Jacket Necklines Are Cut Low, Open; Belts Nip Fullness

BY PATRICIA SCHULTZ
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A woman's best friend, fashion-wise, is a well-fitted suit. Meticulously tailored in fine fabric, it adapts itself with proper accessories to a Sunday morning church service, an afternoon club tea, shopping in the city or an evening dinner engagement with equal ease.

The news in spring suits is the undefined waistline, the shorter skirt, slightly below the knees, and the easy-fit or chemise adaptation.

Necklines of the suit jackets are cut low and open, meant to be filled with strands of sparkling stones, wisps of pastel chiffon or bright flower printed blouses. Some have rich shades of velvet for a collar, while others have crisp white pique fashioned into Puritan style collars.

Jackets
Belts nip fullness at the waist on some, while other suits have a belt clearly defining the waistline in front, but a bloused fullness in the back. Double-breasted jackets end a fraction above the waist, those with an over-blouse look hug the hipline.

Jackets cut on two levels, high in front and gently draping in the back, are shown with high waisted skirts. Big shawl collars or softly draped cowl necklines are featured on the fitted silhouette suit tops. The timeless casual beauty of Chanel suits has inspired styles of lesser-known designers in their loose fitting jackets, open cut necklines and variety of soft-to-touch fabrics.

More attention is drawn to the legs, since most skirts are 15 inches or more from the floor. Stockings are matched to the color tones of the suit and gloves are added in more intense color shades. Suit skirts for the most part are pencil slim, some with empire waistlines for short-cropped jackets.

Sleeve Length
Sharpened shades in accessories are used to accent the suit color. Turbans, wrapped in a colorful swirl about the head, and flower flocked hats with upturning brims are meant to be worn with the chemise type suits. Prints with turquoise and cornflower blend with the blue-greens and with red and yellow shades, golden apricot, champagne, orange and coral in varying tones are used.

Sleeve length like the waistline varies with the suit. There is a tendency for sleeves to be three-quarters length, with a longer glove, rather than reaching to the wrist. The shorter jackets nearly all feature sleeves stopping just below the elbow.

The spring edition of the blouse to be worn beneath the soft tailored suits is highly feminine, boldly colored and fashionably draped. Taupe, lilac, rose and lime in luxury feeling fabrics and in print and plain colors have been fashioned for the suits.

Heels Lower on Women's Shoes

Higher Hemlines Biggest Reason For Fashion Change

Ladies, look to your heels this spring. According to the National Shoe Institute, heels will play an important role in shoe styles, and not only in terms of fashion. Varying heel heights are good for the legs too.

With the rise in hemlines comes the lowering of heels. Extremely high heels and short skirts are like oil and water—they just don't mix. The result is awkward and unflattering.

Taking all this into consideration, American shoe designers have produced shoes with shapely little heels and slim mid-heels that are every bit as chic as their higher-heeled sisters.

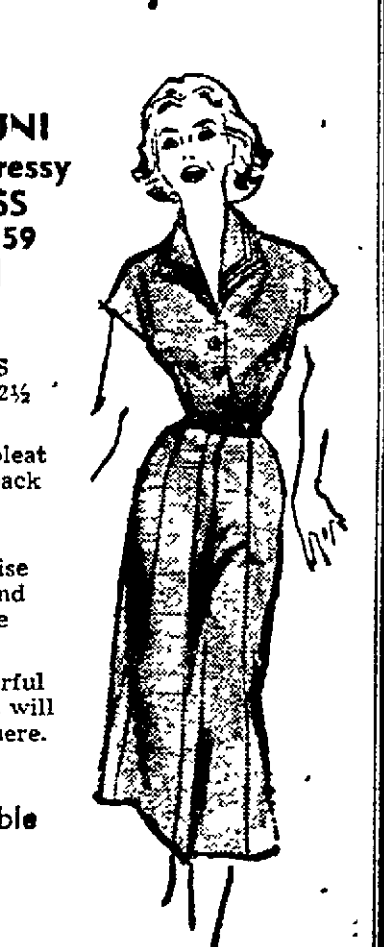

However, the high heel has not gone by the boards. It should be included in a shoe wardrobe to properly enhance a soft and flowing costume for dressy daytime or evening wear.

But fashion aside, changing from one heel height to another at least three times a day is the beneficial both to the looks and the condition of the legs. Those leg muscles brought into play while wearing high heels are given the opportunity to relax when shoes with mid-heels are put on, and other muscles are utilized.

Windswept, Wide and Worthy of a pretty lady are these beautiful new spring bonnets which blend happily with the new chemise silhouette. As fashion's cycle turns back to the Twenties, the trim cloche of the flapper reappears in a '58 version, at top left. Pearl-type buds deck the white feather creation. To balance the shorter hemlines is this lavishly bedecked "wheeled"

Worn Off the Face

Dramatic, Lofty '58 Hat Silhouets Offer Balance to New Chemise Line

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

In a fashion season — like spring 1958 — when the silhouette is straight-lined and there's a minimum of ruffles and frills on dresses, more elaborate accessorizing is necessary to make the over-all picture of mid-lady a pretty one.

New hats for spring take heed of this fashion theory and while they take many shapes, all have one thing in common — almost all are designed to be worn off the face and all are dramatic enough to provide a balance for the chemise style dresses and straight-lined jackets which are the ultra mode of the season.

The big difference between last year's hat and this season's chapeau is shape. Umbrella-line and pear-shaped den-bouquet flowers to a sin-tiques are among the headliner shapes. Wide-brimmed rollers, full-blown roses at the crown and back-of-the-head sailors will make mid-lady look young, hat. Green fernery and white and pretty, while neat, deep-feather wings sometimes com-crowned cloches have more as crown trim on high-rising cloches.

Berets Again Good
Big-brimmed cartwheels Off-the-face bowlers and ber-form a decorative frame for the face and often are built on a pretty complement for a solbandeau, so the brim will not hide the wearer's features.

Many versions of the beret also are shown — done in straw or printed silk. These are generally designed to be worn untitled and well back on the head. There also are pillboxes and upswep-brimmed bretons.

Veils are in favor on many of the smaller hats, while others employ long streamers or cut-out crowns which show the hair. If mid-lady favors ribbons and flowers, there's an abundant collection of bedecked Easter bonnets to choose from. However, if she's not the flower and ribbon type, there are many hats minus such frou-frou.

Butterfly Bows
Flower trim on newest mil-linery ranges from over-all clusters of tiny violets or gar-brella-line and pear-shaped den-bouquet flowers to a sin-tiques are among the headliner shapes. Wide-brimmed rollers, full-blown roses at the crown and back-of-the-head sailors will make mid-lady look young, hat. the young and gay butterfly bows. These, fastened to the hair via tortoise shell combs, are worn straight atop the head, or if hair is fairly long down from the crown in back to the nape of the neck. The bow also can be curved around a chignon or pinned-up pony tail.

The only fashion requirement for wearing this new bow is a reasonably neat-lined dress and non-fancy other accessories, as the bow is enough fluff for one outfit.

Mom, Daughter Don 'Twin' '58 Spring Outfits

Middy, Jumper In Crisp Cotton Favored by Duos

Together — the psychologist's term for comfortable companionship — has departed from the realm of books and entered the fashion world in a charming manner. The theory has touched mother-daughter styles in winsome fashion and the result is pretty duo costumes which make mom a big sister to her pigtailed youngster.

'Dad will be particularly pleased when "his girls" don their attractive new frocks for his masculine approval and may in turn, chose a father-son garb to match.

Cottons are special favorites in the duo line and selection may be made in casual and sport clothes. The mom, too, who is handy with a needle, will find many designs, including sleepwear, featured in pattern books.

'Twins' Don Middy
One of the most stylish two-somes being shown this spring is the middy, beloved by school-girls of an earlier era. The traditional red, blue and white combination of bloused overshirt and flared skirt is an eye-catcher in the "twins" spotlight.

Also rating high is the trim jumper which appears to have succeeded the ruffy pinafore in popularity. Mother may choose to dress daughter in a full-skirted creation and don a sheath silhouette herself for a more sophisticated look.

The brief-jacketted sundress is favored too, and travels happily from cool spring days through warm summer months. These are gayly pert in small prints and checks and designed for comfort with cut-out necklines, brief sleeves and flaring skirts.

For sleepwear, the cute baby doll gown with matching panties is enchanting attire. Mother and daughter will especially enjoy their lingerie in soft pastels and frothed with eyelet and lace.

Suits Look Young

Very fresh and young looking is the bright, blazer jacket suit, often bound with contrasting braid and featuring its own blouse, jersey overblouse or sailor-collared, string-tie mid-dy.

A Gallant Chap Is William (Bobo) Hale, 1613 Carver lane, who plants a kiss on the dainty hand of Nancy Hauch, 918 E. Glendale avenue. The young gentleman is doing his courting in a red wool Chesterfield coat with black velvet collar and cap. The demure recipient of his attention wears a sailor dress taken from the authentic uniform of a European military man. Fashioned from crease resistant cotton in red, white and blue, Nancy's 2-piece outfit features a sun dress underneath. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Hopscotch Days Ahead for Small Fry

Active Children Demand Sturdy, Comfortable Shoes

With the coming of spring and warmer weather, active children become even more so. Constantly on the go—and on their feet—youngsters must be comfortably and properly shod. To guide parents as they build a useful and good-looking wardrobe of shoes for their children, the National Shoe Institute makes two basic points: Check Fit Often

1. Children seldom wear out shoes. They grow out of them! Therefore, alert parents regularly check the fit of their children's shoes.

2. Having enough shoes to change into to provide proper support and appearance at school, play, church, and parties is necessary to a child's health as well as his morale. The average American child should have well-fitted shoes for these occasions in a basic, well-rounded shoe wardrobe:

Need Shoe Wardrobe

For school: Two pairs to permit necessary rest for shoes and foot hygiene. Both may be oxfords, or one can be a sturdy slip-on or, for girls, a strapped shoe.

For play—At least one pair that provides sound support and good protection for active feet. They should not be old, worn out school shoes. These won't give proper support, and often they no longer fit properly.

For parties and dress-up: Morale is a big factor here. Children want to feel as well dressed as their peers.

For bath and bed: Slippers are a must for warmth, health, comfort, and safety around the house.

Following these guides, every parent can help assure healthy feet through a good shoe wardrobe for their children. It doesn't cost much either. One new pair every three months would cost about the price of five cigarettes a day.

A New Pair of Shoes is Always one of the high spots of an Easter outfit for the younger lass or lad, who this year will be stepping out to greet Mr. Bunny on his annual visit in such styles as shown above. The small miss at top brings out the red bow trim on her black and white striped dress with a pair of glistening T-strap pumps. Accents of white on the "T" are repeated in the matching red patent handbag. The footwear, at center, shows a swivel strap pump, with tapered toe and square throatline for sister, while brother wears a "dirty" buck, crepe sole oxford. Black and white are teamed in the lower photo. For boys, there's a 3-eyelet tie in black calf with white grained leather plug and for girls, a black patent pump with perky standup bow of white calf.

Pump-Look Favorite Style For the Girls of All Ages

Dainty is the word for this spring's footwear fashions for wee misses, the National Shoe Institute reports.

The pump-look continues to be the favorite of girls of all ages. It is tapered and delicate-looking, but never at the expense of fit.

Swivel straps permit many pumps to be worn strapped or unstrapped as the very young lady chooses.

Narrow "T" straps are making a fashion comeback in all age brackets and the forecast is for great popularity.

Black patent and white smooth leather are the dominating colors with red and blue following. Bright colors, while on the scene for summer shoes, will be used mainly as charming touches on the more basic colors this spring. Trim is extremely varied, ranging from large decorator bows to tiny pearl-like buttons.

School shoes will be sturdy yet soft and flexible. Conventional oxfords will be feminine in rich brushed leathers and saddles, with or without the back-strap and buckle, will sport various color combinations. Slip-ons will have pretty and unusual detailing. Novelty closure devices, appropriated from brother's footwear, will be adapted in a lighter vein for the young miss.

Fashion-conscious little and big girls—and they all are—will trip the light fantastic in shoes that fit and yet are feminine enough to delight the hearts of them all.

Good Fit Necessary In Children's Shoes

Several Suggestions Offered to Determine Proper Foot Support

New York — The man who coined the phrase "Baby needs a new pair of shoes" was a thoughtful parent, statistics of the National Shoe Institute show.

Between infancy and the 20th year, the average child needs

Age	Larger Size Needed
2-6	Every 1-2 months
6-10	Every 2-3 months
10-12	Every 3-4 months
12-15	Every 4-5 months
15-20	Every 6 months till age 20.

Experts at the institute say it is vitally important that parents take junior along when new shoes are bought for him. He's the one who has to wear them, and proper fit can't be determined without him.

Running Check

Parents can keep a running check on their children's shoe needs with two simple tests that should be made periodically:

1. Press your thumb on the toe of the child's shoe. The shoe has proper length if it is one-half to three-quarters of an inch longer than the longest toe.

2. Pinch the leather on top of the shoe over the ball of your child's foot. If you can draw some leather between your thumb and forefinger, the width is adequate.

If the shoe fails either of these tests, it should be discarded at once because it can no longer give proper support and comfort to your child's foot.

Outgrown shoes should never be handed down to younger children. Feet are like fingerprints — no two are alike. Modern well-made footwear conforms to the foot of the wearer. So no hand-me-down can give proper support to anyone but the original wearer.

Sweaters Gain Fashion Share In 'New Look'

Coordinate With Softly Colored Skirts of Wool

BY CAROL RICHARDSON Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Sharing in fashion's new look are spring's sweaters in soft orlon, cashmere, shetland and bulky-knit wools.

Designed to be co-ordinated with softly colored wool skirts are pastel, fur-blend shetlands for cool spring days and chilly summer evenings. Large checks are a popular choice for the lightly tinted skirts.

Bulky knits, which appeared this winter, will be even bigger for wear with spring skirts and later as summer wraps. Professor-like sweaters introduced by Henry Higgins feature V-necks and many are sleeveless while coin buttons adorn some styles and wide-ribbed collars which can be closed high or opened to a V are new.

Middy collars, reminiscent of the "Roarin' Twenties" are being seen on sweaters which will fit easily over summer play clothes and are featured in white and many pastel hues.

Soft orlon cardigans with chiffon toppings can double as evening fare now and summer wraps in warmer months. Flow-er and paisley prints on orlon cardigans are made to match or blend with spring and summer dresses and are as new as the chemise and T-strap sandal.

For casual ladies who want to top Bermuda shorts and tapered slacks with something different, sleeveless cashmere sweaters over silk shirts are a smart choice for achieving the relaxed look.

Neckline Focus Takes Importance

Fashion interest often focuses on necklines this season. A favorite is the set-back neckline, sometimes with a collar that develops into a cowl drape at the back. Wide standaway collars add important top width to the silhouette.

Top interest may also be achieved by high-placed pockets, V-shaped pleats or deep armholes.

Interesting Backs

Fashionably speaking, there's a lot going on behind juniors' backs this spring. For a brilliant exit are draped cowls that jut away from the neckline or shoulder blades, and draped, gently knotted treatments for the back of jackets or bodices.

Easter Parade Shoes Slim With Pliable Leather

Women's Footwear
In Every Color;
Fashions Set Style

New shoes for parading purposes this Easter Sunday will be slim and light in weight for every member of the family. Reporting on the new spring lines now on sale in stores throughout the country with wider use of soft, pliable leathers and fabrics, coupled with new lightweight construction methods, will make new Easter shoes as pleasant to wear as they will be good to look at. Shoes this season will come in virtually every color, from shiny black to sunny yellow, from subdued solids to gay prints.

In Step

As for style, shoes this spring are right in step with the latest fashions. With dress designers voting for shorter skirt lengths, heel-heights will be lower in women's daytime shoes. But at least one of the seven pairs of shoes today's well-dressed women have in their shoe wardrobes will be a pair with slim, high heels to perfectly complement gently flowing dresswear.

Many women's shoes this spring will also feature a new "opened up" look achieved through clever cut-outs, open heels, and the ingenious use of straps. The sandal look will also be popular. As with pumps, straight or diagonal straps, low ankle straps, and "T" straps will be used with stunning effect.

For the first time in years, stores will have something really new in men's shoes. The ever-so-slightly squared-off toe will be making its bow on the new slim lasts. But squaring or no, the trend toward tapered slimmness in masculine footwear is on the increase.

Black is still a smart color for business and dress shoes. But brown this spring is equally important in a much wider range of tones. There is also a new navy blue calculated to make a hit with the man who, though conservative, wants something as a change of pace.

For off-duty shoes to wear during leisure hours around the house or outdoors, "must" items in any man's shoe wardrobe, plush, brushed leathers will vie with smooth leathers in popularity. And having lost their fear of color through golf, hunting and other sports clothes, men are now choosing casual shoes in such colors as tan, russet, olive, gray, and even gold, most of them appearing in brushed leathers. An innovation in style this spring is a man's slip-on shoe with an open back.

clearly reflect the style pace set by their parents.

Black patent leather is expected to continue as a favorite in the Junior Miss set, but bright red and gun-metal patent leathers are likely to come up fast in popularity. White will be highlighted with bright touches of color.

Slim-Looking
Like his father's, junior's shoes will be lighter and slimmer looking. But also like Dad's, newest styles for boys get their lean good looks through materials that are sturdy as well as light. And no boy need fuss with broken shoes or outdoors, "must" items in any man's shoe wardrobe, plush, brushed leathers will vie with smooth leathers in popularity. And having lost their fear of color through golf, hunting and other sports clothes, men are now choosing casual shoes in such colors as tan, russet, olive, gray, and even gold, most of them appearing in brushed leathers. Summing up this spring's new shoes for men, women, and children, two goals achieved through better design and better construction are:

1. Shoes that fit, and
2. Shoes so attractive their owners want to wear them.

Pointed Toes are New Style Note in Shoes

Women's footwear this spring has that long, fluid look demanded by the new fashions.

The new pointed-toe styles have done away with the blunt, stubby look of old that proved so unflattering to girls with short legs and detracted from those lucky enough to have long legs.

But besides style, there's another point to be made about pointed-toe shoes, and the National Shoe Institute makes it— they are comfortable as well as lovely.

Here To Stay
A look at the lasts used to produce the latest pointed-toe styles shows that the new styles cannot pinch or squeeze the foot.

The point is merely a slight extension of shoes that are designed throughout to conform perfectly to the human foot.

Women who have a larger second toe — by no means uncommon — find pointed-toe styles particularly comfortable. No longer does that toe hit or rub against the shoe as it did in outdated blunt-toe footwear. Shoe designers and manufacturers report that pointed-toe styles are here to stay — by popular demand. More and more women — even the skeptics who once cried "Never!" — are now taking advantage of the gracious lift to leg loveliness they provide.

Through pointed-toes, short legs achieve a more graceful, longer look. And long legs look even more beautiful.

Reflecting this trend, pointed-toes are now made in virtually all styles, heel-heights, and types of shoes. And they won't hurt unless a normal size 8 foot is squeezed into a size 7, or even something smaller.

No reason to be sheepish about a size 8 either — that's what the majority of high-fashion models now wear.

Guy Lombardo Plans Musical About Grieg

New York — Orchestra leader Guy Lombardo is going to do a musical about Edward Grieg for his third summer as a theatrical producer in the Jones Beach amphitheater. "Song of Norway," which began a 2-year run on Broadway in 1944, has been chosen by Lombardo to follow last season's hit presentation of "Show Boat."

Robert Wright and George Forrest, who prepared "Norway" for Broadway, have been engaged to revise it for the outdoor arena. The show will open June 19.

Shirtwaist Favorites Brought Up to Date

Classic favorite, the shirtwaist, has been brought up to date this spring with V-necklines plunging to a new low and framed with self or detachable white collars.

Surprise Linings

Molded Shell Newest Style In All Luggage

Rounded Corners, Real Strength Make Line Remain Popular

Newest and smartest trend in luggage continues to be the molded shell.

In pastel and bright colors for women's luggage, the style, now in its third year of leadership, also offers rugged and weather-tight construction. The come to about $120 in Fox Cities' stores.

range from white through all shades.

The strength of the style comes from the molded plastic shell which is reinforced with fiberglass.

Molded shell luggage has rounded corners and is generally slimmer than standard styles. It can be purchased in all contemporary sizes, including vanity cases and the hat box styles.

Leather, Too
The hat box style is growing in popularity. Most women, who tend to buy a 4-piece set, are insisting on the hat box as a standard item. The hat box can be used for many things other than hats and is a stylish piece of luggage.

The 4-piece set can be bought for a variety of prices, but a well-constructed, stylish set will come to about $120 in Fox Cities' stores.

Men still prefer leather, especially when buying a fine piece of luggage. Men seem to buy luggage in sets of two, rather than the 4-piece set preferred by women, merchants say. Colors in leather are in the brown family, ranging from a reddish ginger to the standard of the last 100 years, a light tan sometimes called fawn.

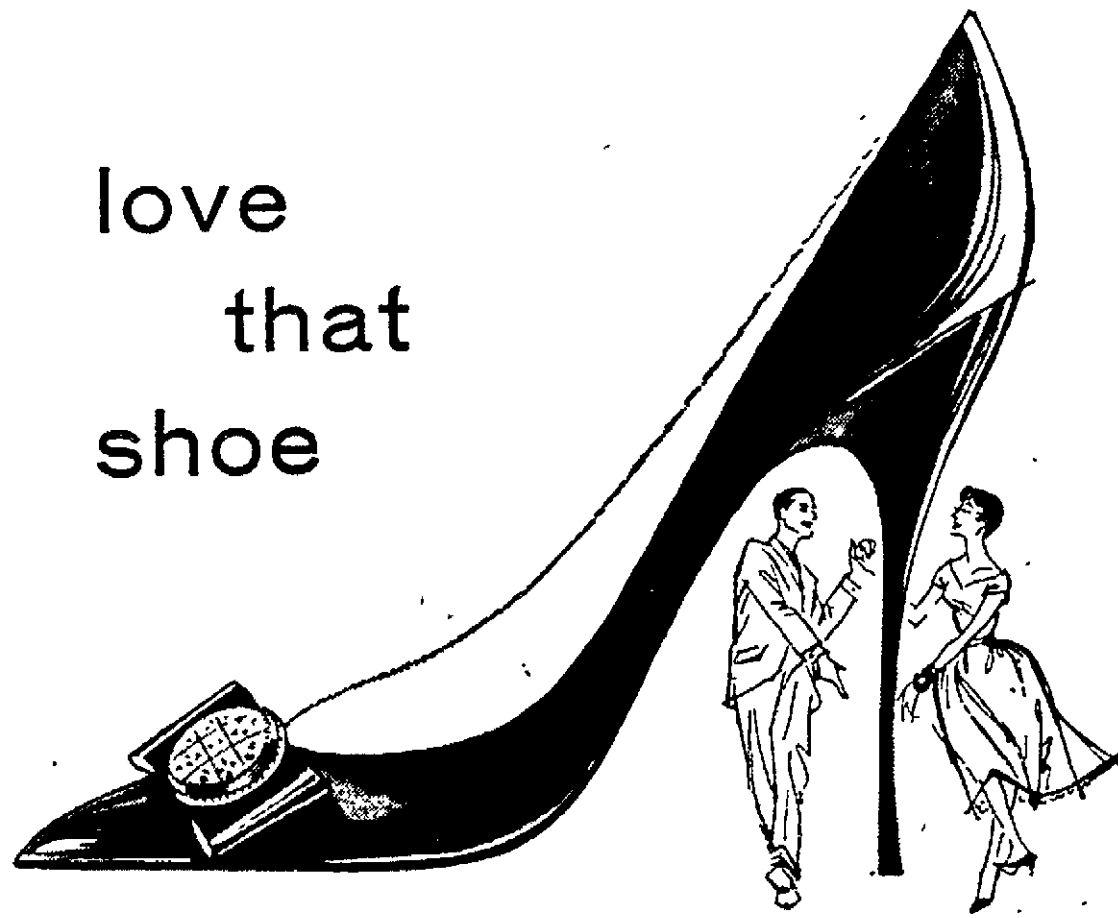

Most rugged of the leathers available is belt leather, which is almost a full hide in thickness. However, luggage merchants caution buyers of fine leather luggage to treat this luggage with care and use oil to keep it in fine condition.

A 2-piece set can be bought for as little as $40, but merchants warn buyers that, as always, they get just about what they pay for. A good quality 2-piece set for men will cost about $120 in Fox Cities' stores.

New Coiffures To Emphasize Brow, Hairline

Face Curls, Wispy Bangs, Wide Waves In Style for Spring

Wispy bangs, tendrils, face framing curls are back in fashion this spring to give a youthful but definitely feminine look to hair styling.

Some hair-dos will feature a smooth, rounded cap, but the severe extremes are gone insofar as top fashion is concerned. Most hair styles will tend to show a flattering fullness of hair at hairline and brow, a turn to a more natural, casual appearance of waves and curl.

Although this trend toward the so-called "forward do" is seen in most of the new coiffures, the styles for spring still feature individuality. The styling of hair is in the cutting, the fashioning of hair lines and setting that is most appealing to the individual face and figure.

Hairline Fullness
But there seems to be no doubt that the "look" for spring involves broad waves, wispy curls and pixie effects. Modifications of the basic forward emphasis will include attractive dips, brush-up curls and flip curls with hairline fullness and smoothed under ends. Waves across the back of the head will be wide and may be tucked up and under. The hair may be dressed high in back to give a slight puffed appearance at the crown, it may be a smoother version with rounded fullness in low slung bangs or a petal fringe at the sides of the face.

In any case, this spring's hair styles are made for hats, to become demure in appearance when framed by the broad sweep of an upturned Breton roller, to peek gracefully beneath the deep crowned cloche.

Another fashion note seen in Fox Cities beauty shops is the popularity of hair brighteners, and tints. Hair shades are brightened to accent natural copper tones, titian, auburn, golden or glossy dark tones in women's hair. The emphasis here is on the natural look, not the dyed look so popular in former years.

Along this same line, many women in the valley have taken to the new style of contrasting streaks to enhance the natural tones of hair and give dramatic emphasis to the soft waves and curls about the face.

Leather Grows In Spring Styles

Leather tops both city and country costumes this spring.

For casual wear, there are many leather pullovers. Mid-dies of white leather, with red ties and wide sailor collars of navy leather, are designed to wear with heavy wool skirts.

Loose-fitting white leather jackets take sailor collars of bulky, knit in navy, while sleeveless and collarless leather pullovers go well over bright jersey dresses.

For city wear, classic jackets appear in new longer lengths, with tailored collars and round, wide-shouldered shape. Color choices include the many vivid tones popular this season.

Often, the jacket trim ties in with a skirt to make a smart work up well in pretty print-suit. For instance, a white ed cottons and linens, silky leather jacket has a collar of hound's tooth checks, exotical-black wool and companions a black wool skirt.

The So-Called "Forward-Do" With its characteristic emphasis and fullness at the hairline is adapted to personal stylings for these three models to portray new spring coiffures. At the left, Miss Nancy Kersten, Appleton, has her blonde tresses dressed in an evening hair-do with its curly fringe framing the face and the hair swept high in back for a sophisticated look. Miss Sandra Kuhn, Nichols, center, chooses a casual coiffure for the lovely but trim look of a career girl. This modified up-sweep is easy to care for. The curly brow fringe, high waves at the side and natural look at the back of the head personifies the best features of the new "forward do" as worn by Mrs. Marvin Miller, Kaukauna. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Roses Favorite Motif in Newest Spring Prints

Nautical Patterns Popular in Clothes For Casual Wear

While emphasis on silhouette has made spring 1958 not as print conscious as women might expect for this time of year, there are still many pretty-printy materials on the counters of Fox Cities stores and a sizeable representation of patterned fabrics on dress racks.

In prints, as well as solid-colored materials, bright hues dominate the spectrum, particularly in floral and nautical motifs.

Floral Motifs
Gay flowering motifs favor the full-blown rose, while the emergence of the middy to popularity in casual wear calls forth a bevy of nautical motifs including stripes, flags, anchors and stars.

The rose prints, while most popular in red and yellow hues, also are found in brown, blue, green and melon color schemes. Nautical prints sail high in patterns of traditional red-white-blue yachting motifs and also appears in many unexpected colors as well — such as brilliant turquoise and black signal flags on a white background.

The much-talked-about yellows of low, orange and melon or "citrus" colors make a prominent debut in exotic oriental motifs, such as an all-over water lily print. Also in the floral print realm are charming carnation, orange blossom and pussy willow motifs.

Silk Prints
As the line is "it" in the new chemise shape, designers seem reluctant to do anything which might distract from the interest shape. Color choices include the many vivid tones popular this season.

Chemise patterns, however, with a skirt to make a smart work up well in pretty print-suit. For instance, a white ed cottons and linens, silky leather jacket has a collar of hound's tooth checks, exotical-black wool and companions a black wool skirt.

Favor All-in-One Foundation To Keep 'Sack' Line Smooth

Men won't believe it — but women do have figures this spring.

And the scoffer who snorts that the chemise covers all just isn't adding up his figures correctly — the new straight-line silhouette is definitely revealing.

In other words, men can calm down. The sack story is not a repeat of the '20's when the er net used abundantly for congiddy flapper flourished. The trol. A heavier weave also is '58 fashion demands controlled seen, for the heavier, more ma-

In the junior miss line, the feather - weight girdles are mostly in soft woven elastic. Some have nylon fabric legs, and others feature flower-sprinkled cotton tummy panels. Many of them have tiny silk and satin flower trim.

Corselets displayed in Fox Cities stores feature a variety of designs. Some fasten in the front, others at the side; some are strapless, others have fitting the loose gown snugly at the point t o flow smoothly down the upper thigh before falling to cropped off hemline.

Along with corselets there are the longer girdle and long- line bra. Girdles range be- tween 14 and 16 inches in length of the chemise has made a ter- rific impact. The new silhouette, an who buys a waist-length long-line bra matches it to a ed those with youthful figures girdle with high-rise top. Oth-

Some of the new long-line bras end in elastic bands, others have front openings. They are made in cotton, nylon, sat- in combined with elastic and of- ten have light boning. The girdles have a variety of control tricks — front and back panels, power net sides, boning or light wiring over the tum- my. The pantie girdle, in its brief- er form, has long been a favor- ite of the young miss who is seeking a foundation garment for the first time. Tradesmen advocate these garments more for support of youthful muscles than actual trimming.

In the junior miss line, the feather - weight girdles are mostly in soft woven elastic. Some have nylon fabric legs, and others feature flower-sprinkled cotton tummy panels. Many of them have tiny silk and satin flower trim.

Corselets displayed in Fox Cities stores feature a variety of designs. Some fasten in the front, others at the side; some are strapless, others have fitting the loose gown snugly at the point t o flow smoothly down the upper thigh before falling to cropped off hemline.

Along with corselets there are the longer girdle and long- line bra. Girdles range be- tween 14 and 16 inches in length of the chemise has made a ter- rific impact. Some of the new long-line bras end in elastic bands, others have front openings. They are made in cotton, nylon, sat- in combined with elastic and of- ten have light boning. # Color Fashion Note for New Spring Jewelry

Bib Necklaces, Crystal Revived
From 1920 Era

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Color and more color is the only way to describe costume jewelry for the season just ahead.

In a rundown of jewelry displays seen in Fox Cities stores, here are some of the items that are worth having a look at from the viewpoint of new styling, materials or color.

The bibs of simulated pearls and other colored beads are being featured with the chemise style. These have anywhere from four to six strands that go back to the old days in the 1920s when one long strand used to be wound round and round the neck to achieve the same effect. The fashion note here is that many of these new bibs combine colors and materials. For instance, amber crystal may be teamed with pearl or the bright tiger-lily shade with a contrasting tone.

Another new in costume jewelry is the combination set. Necklace, pin brooches, bracelet and at least two pairs of earrings match. The earrings are usually in two different styles, but of the same material, so that versatility can be achieved. The pieces are not necessarily all worn at once, but rather follow the pattern of mix matching to vary the costume for the day or event.

Bracelets Wide

Bracelets tend to be wide and come in various metals, strung beads and many novelty designs. Two handsome collections come in the fashionable earring - pin - bracelet - necklace combination.

One is in an attractive basket weave design — beige set in glistening copper. The earrings to this set are fan-shaped and round versions of the same basic design. The bracelet is very wide and just as handsome.

Silver elliptical discs set with tiny turquoises fashion the second set. Here the round earrings have an off-centered stone in each silver disc.

Crystal Popular

Crystal, cut to attract the light, has come back in fashion just as it was in the 1920s. Multiple strands can be found in clear crystal, amber, soft shades of aquamarine, blues, greens and violets. Some strands are multicolored, many are matched to earrings, bracelets and pins.

The gay florals should not be overlooked, since they are top fashion for spring. If these seem too elaborate with their decoration of brilliants or lacy design, there are the smooth moonstones, set in plain metals, silver, copper or gold.

Important fashion-wise are the daisy chains of plastic florals and the interesting charm bracelets.

Although bib strands, floral clusters and gay colors such as the orange shades, are top fashion, other styles are available for spring. The ever popular choker is still found with earrings and bracelet to match. Simple bead strands in clear pastel shades as well as bright tones are all here for those women who prefer them.

Big Buttons Liked

Big buttons, widely spaced, are liked on coats. popular cottons 2 women fashion women fashion.

Among the many cottons popular for spring sportswear are canvas duck, chambray, denim, gabardine, twills and poplins in rugged weaves.

Sparkling Bright and Colorful Is jewelry for spring with emphasis on flower motifs in beautiful designs. Here Miss Phyllis Dunsirn, 209 N. Lawe street, models jewelry pieces that point up the fashion for matching necklace, earring, bracelet and pin or brooch. They are of various designs for spring and come in matching sets. Below are petal shaped jewelry in metal, plastic, costume jewelry stones and other materials. Note the use of brilliants or bead clusters to bring out gay colors and the dainty heart-shaped circlet on a slender chain with its matching earrings. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Slim Shape of Fashion Doesn't Stop at Chemise

Leather Handbags, Belts Take on Soft, Slender Lines of Women's Ready-to-Wear

This spring's collection of handbags and belts shows the slim shape of fashion doesn't stop at the chemise.

Influenced by the soft, easy lines of ready-to-wear, these two important accessories turn up throughout the Fox Cities in new versions designed to complement the slim silhouette.

Rich, smooth leathers are featured in the favorite envelope handbags, pouches, satchels and belt styles, but all have been trimmed to a new slenderness without sacrificing roominess. This is accomplished with flat outside patch pockets, deep center pockets and with cleverly cut and folded bases allowing for expansion.

Newest Shapes

Some of the newest shapes include the large, wafer-thin square, the round-top satchel, handbag with a crushed effect at the top closing and a matching straight belt caught with a spray of fruit at one side.

Belts Drop

With the dropping of waistlines, belts have shifted to a new position. There will be occasion enough to wear them where nature intended, but with the loose-fitting styles, their place in fashion is around the top of the hips and loosely fastened.

As a result of this attention, belts have gone giddy. Typifying the trend are new leather belts encompassing flower-garden colors and featuring such novelties as beaded poodles, foreign coins, charms, quotations, shells and fake but fashionable jewels.

Suedes also appear in all the bright new colors and, like classic cowhides and smooth leathers, are shown this spring with a neater narrowness and often are accented with novel fastenings.

Despite Indignant Male Cries, which range from "an insult to man's intelligence" to "they look better filled with potatoes," the first battle in the war of sack-lined styles seems to have been won by Dame Fashion, with women gradually accepting the modified American versions of the Parisian sack and proving the oft-noted theory—"women dress for women, not for men." Representative of the teenage and young working women of the Fox Cities, who already have adopted the style, are Miss Tricia Davis, 505 S. State street, left, and Miss Jean Lochschmidt, 521 E. Kimberly avenue, Kimberly. Tricia, a senior at AHS, has included in her wardrobe a semi-belted, back-bloused chemise of light blue, while Jean, a working gal, has chosen an unfitted, herringbone-patterned cotton knit, which comes with belt so it also can be worn semi-fitted or fully belted at the waistline. ## Overblouse Favored In Separates Story

Chemise, Blouson Play Lead Roles;
Middy Newest Fashion Rage for '58

A "new look" takes over the separate story for spring 1958. It's the chemise, which this season ushers in the greatest silhouette change in the past decade.

Definitely not a bag, the chemise overblouse shown in Fox Cities stores for spring and summer wear is soft and feminine. Its loosely drawn, yet tapered shape cleverly avoids the mannish lines of the flapper era, from which the fashion directly descends.

Although the chemise is the new star, other variations on the overblouse also figure prominently in the spring fashion tales. There's the blouson look, modified to new slim proportions via gentle control by a band or drawstring at the waistline.

Another bright star in the overblouse line is the fitted tunic top, whose smartly belted lines over a slim skirt handsomely interpret the voguish 2-piece costume look.

Classics Still Good While the overblouse style is in the stellar role for spring 1958, it's ably supported by such classics as the tuck-in-suit blouse and tuck-in skirt. The latter being especially popular with the Italian or Ivy League collar and roll-up sleeves. It also is seen softened with feminine frills and French cuffs.

Worn with a fashionable narrow or pleated skirt for a 2-piece costume look, or worn with the new unfitted suits, the chemise overblouse is characteristic of the casual relaxed feeling pronounced in today's separate fashions.

Dawn to Dusk In versions for dawn through dusk wear, the chemise may be a jaunty middy, a double-breasted cardigan, an orient-inspired mandarin top or an elongated tailored shirt. Its soft lines taper below the waist, generally ending at the hipbone. Subtle seaming and darting gently highlight the bustline, while narrowed hiplines may be accented by vents, pockets and low-slung belts.

The blouson differs from the chemise style by a soft fullness gathered at the waist or hips. Its rounded contours are most effective when contrasted with a slim skirt.

Whether in chemise or blouson styling, the middy is news in everything from gay nautical prints to colorful floral patterns. With squared-off collar and softly knotted tie, it's found in prints of traditional red, white and blue, as well as in other exciting color combinations.

Stand-Off Necklines Necklines of blouses move in an away-from-the-neck direction—featuring cuffed collars, cowls, cardigans, bateaus, modified scoops, demure Peter Pans and draped effects with a stand-offish air.

A kaleidoscope of color is found in the separates story, with both vivid and pastel sun colors important. In both solids and prints, shades of yellow, orange and melon dominate the brilliant spectrum, while such hues as soft almond, lettuce green, turquoise and aqua blues are prominent in the pastel field.

Fabrics favor the easy-care synthetic combinations, with flax, rayon, silk, cotton, dacron and nylon, used alone or in blends, producing crepe, voile, chiffon, georgette and other interestingly-textured materials.

Young in Heart Coronado, Calif.—A daily dip in the ocean surf is something that Mrs. Ida Kipperman, 76, says she wouldn't miss even if she does have a heart condition that has caused two minor strokes. Mrs. Kipperman, a widow, takes the dip with a son and daughter.

Some versions of the fluid chemise make a fashionable compromise with a semi-belted front and unfitted back, while others are designed to be worn free flowing in back and semi-sashed in front. And there are such interesting variations as sacks-on-the-half-shell, with false coat or jacket loose behind and revealing a slim sheath in front.

However, while these additions and variations may enhance it, the basic silhouette of the sack remains the same—a loosely drawn shape slightly molded through the bodice, gliding past the waistline and tapered at the hips for a flat and narrow look. And whether one calls the silhouette, chemise, balloon, trapeze, tube or cylinder—it can all be summed up as the sack-line if you accept the definition of a sack as any-thing without a real waistline.

When you get used to it, it's really not so bad. "It's nice not to have to cinch in your waistline."

"My husband will probably be unhappy when he sees me in this, but I like it."

"Actually, they aren't so sacky if they fit right."

"I think it makes me look a bit thinner, don't you?"

Fox Cities men (with the exception of those in the fashion business) line up pretty much on the con-side of the chemise arguments. Their comments run something like this:

"It looks like a laundrybag."

"I'm ignoring it."

"It's good for a laugh anyway."

"Why deny that women have middles in the middle?"

"I think it's awful."

Not Dressing For Men One thing all the survey and polls seem to prove is something which men have been claiming for years—women are inconsistent and would wear a burlap bag if fashion so dictated, and that—whatever they do dress for—it isn't the men in their lives.

Buyers in Fox Cities stores appear enthusiastic about the line of fashions the sack mode has introduced for spring 1958, and seem to feel that area shoppers are accepting the new silhouette and that the chemise is here to stay for a while.

One local buyer indicated that the chemise-lined dress has been the No. 1 seller thus far and that it is appealing not only to the slim young teenager and working gal, but also to older women with matronly figures.

American Modifications American adaptations of the Parisian unfitted line, modify the sack so it definitely is not a bag, Fox Cities buyers explain. Despised as they were by men when first introduced in the European fashion capital, American designers have come up with ingenious tricks to make the sack more attractive to the male eye. And their modifications of the French chemise, balloon, trapeze and bloused silhouettes have been made available in sizes all the way up to 20.

And whether one calls the silhouette, chemise, balloon, trapeze, tube or cylinder—it can all be summed up as the sack-line if you accept the definition of a sack as any-thing without a real waistline.

When you get used to it, it's really not so bad. "It's nice not to have to cinch in your waistline."

"My husband will probably be unhappy when he sees me in this, but I like it."

"Actually, they aren't so sacky if they fit right."

"I think it makes me look a bit thinner, don't you?"

Fox Cities men (with the exception of those in the fashion

business) line up pretty much on the con-side of the chemise arguments. Their comments run something like this:

"It looks like a laundrybag."

"I'm ignoring it."

"It's good for a laugh anyway."

"Why deny that women have middles in the middle?"

"I think it's awful."

Not Dressing For Men One thing all the survey and polls seem to prove is something which men have been claiming for years—women are inconsistent and would wear a burlap bag if fashion so dictated, and that—whatever they do dress for—it isn't the men in their lives.

Buyers in Fox Cities stores appear enthusiastic about the line of fashions the sack mode has introduced for spring 1958, and seem to feel that area shoppers are accepting the new silhouette and that the chemise is here to stay for a while.

One local buyer indicated that the chemise-lined dress has been the No. 1 seller thus far and that it is appealing not only to the slim young teenager and working gal, but also to older women with matronly figures.

American Modifications American adaptations of the Parisian unfitted line, modify the sack so it definitely is not a bag, Fox Cities buyers explain. Despised as they were by men when first introduced in the European fashion capital, American designers have come up with ingenious tricks to make the sack more attractive to the male eye. And their modifications of the French chemise, balloon, trapeze and bloused silhouettes have been made available in sizes all the way up to 20.

Some versions of the fluid chemise make a fashionable compromise with a semi-belted front and unfitted back, while others are designed to be worn free flowing in back and semi-sashed in front. And there are such interesting variations as sacks-on-the-half-shell, with false coat or jacket loose behind and revealing a slim sheath in front.

However, while these additions and variations may enhance it, the basic silhouette of the sack remains the same—a loosely drawn shape slightly molded through the bodice, gliding past the waistline and tapered at the hips for a flat and narrow look. ## Color Makes Biggest Strides in Coordinates

Coordinates joined together by either matching or contrasting fabric, color and design have captured the fashion spotlight this spring with qualities of easy care, versatility and high style.

Color, fashion news this season takes its biggest strides in the coordinate field. Sharp, vivid colors in startling, fashionable combinations have replaced pastels and subdued tones. The vivid shades are used often against white or black with stunning effects. Overblouses of wide stripes of orange, yellow and coral are matched with white tapered slacks or a white pleated skirt. Even swim suits have joined the coordinate section. Swirling cotton skirts in plaids, checks and prints match suits of the same fabric. The wearer can be appropriately dressed for lunch and by removing the skirt, have a beach costume. Shorts in two tones of red are combined with a middie of one of the tones.

Sweaters
Short-sleeved sweaters are piped or lined with fabric matching a sleeveless frock to create an ensemble. A skirt to match the sweater color makes two costumes. Sleeveless dresses in geometric print designs are shown with short-sleeved linen coats in plain hues with silk linings matching the dress print.

Coordinates are of particular interest to travelers, who have limited suitcase room but need a varied wardrobe. By selecting a basic color scheme, three sets of coordinates can result in nine fashion changes.

A mixed assortment of blouse and skirt combinations is the answer to both the school girl's and business woman's wardrobe problems. A jacket matching one skirt adds up to a suit, when the jacket is paired with a contrasting skirt, a different, but still fashionable costume results.

A blouse and skirt in matching color and fabric makes a dress, yet is not restricted to just 1-way wearing. The possibilities of mixing the combinations are infinite. Blazer jackets in blue and white stripes are found with matching blouses, straight or pleated skirts, sleeveless or middie blouses, Jamaica shorts and swim suits.

Accessories assume special importance when dealing with "mix and match" clothes. Jewelry, scarves, shoes and gloves can give a further chameleon-like touch to the ensembles.

Separates in evening clothes have gained popularity. A short white chiffon skirt matched with a long-sleeved velvet blouse is suitable for winter occasions. The same billowy skirt can make an entrance in the spring and summer when worn with a matching chiffon sleeveless blouse or an orange or other vivid shade top.

Wife of Turk Professor Convicted as Shoplifter

Boston — The wife of a Turkish economics professor was convicted on shoplifting charges Monday.

Mrs. Yorgi Dimitriyadi, 35, of Istanbul was fined $50 on charges of theft of $5.68 in merchandise from a department store. Her husband, a professor at Harvard university, told municipal court that she was unfamiliar with the store's purchasing methods.

However, Judge George W. Roberts said there was some evidence the woman "was in this store before and they couldn't catch her."

Tinted Hosiery Forecast for 'Leggy' Spring

Hiked Hem to Show Off Shaded Tones To Blend or Match

Color is the fashion news for spring in hosiery and smart women will be going out on a limb—their own, of course, to color-match their outfits from tapered T-strap pump to up-swept bonnet.

The monochromatic look is brilliantly dramatic in its overall approach to the complete costume. The effect of one tone seen in hat, gown, hose and shoes is strikingly subtle and a symphony to the eye.

The season's mode of the chemise line is the perfect foil for this new emphasis in tinted hose. The straight-lined silhouette with its hiked-up hemline carries attention down the loose body curve to focus interest on the legs.

'Leggy' Impetus
Taking advantage of this "leggy" impetus is the sheer flattery offered by the new hosiery shades for spring. Vividly startling in their tissue nests, the new stockings shade beautifully on leg contours using hair-line seams and reinforced heels to display solid tones.

The fruit tones in all range of fashion dominate the season's spectrum and in the hosiery line, tones of melon, citron, mango, peach and lime green carry out the sun-ripened theme. Also shown are clear reds, such as rocket red, the rosy-hued snowberry and the shockingly-shaded dawn pink.

Cooler colors are not forgotten and are particularly pleasing when accessorized with navy, black, beige and grey. Tones range from delicate light frost blue to the dramatic electric blue of the African sky, while greens display the gaudy emerald and pastel ice and sea-foam.

Suit Any Costume
Neutral tones also are available and to please milady, designers have introduced the sandy-colored creme and desert sand stockings which reportedly go with any costume. These highlight the long-favored spring shades of grey, beige and light taupe.

The enhancing quality of the new hosiery can be used to blend or as pretty contrast with spring outfits. Fox Cities buyers suggest that red stockings be teamed with black and navy, blue with navy, light blue and grey, pink with navy and rose, and green with all citrus tones and green.

Know Stocking Type
The colored hose is displayed in 12 or 15 denier, in seamed or seamless styles and can be selected with or minus reinforced heel for wear with sling-back or cut-out sandals. Price ranges from the nominal $1 to $2.

neutrals comprise the fashion picture, with grey, beige and taupe dominating the 20-denier for street and the 30-denier for walking styles. Neutral shades are also obtainable in the sheerer 12 or 15, mesh and stretch types.

Fox Cities buyers note the wise woman will know her stocking size, based on leg length and foot size, fit denier to the occasion (realizing the heavier 20 or 30 denier wears three to four times as long as the fragile sheer) and be receptive to the stylish flair offered by the colored hose to her new spring costume.

Junior Miss Spring Styles Copy Mother's

Shorter Skirts, Chemise, Cocoon All Available

Coats and frocks for the younger set have not been neglected in the designers' attention for springwear. Nearly all the features, shorter skirts, chemise, cocoon style, low belts and bright colors that make mother's clothes news this season, have been incorporated into the junior styles in modified versions.

The nautical influence is seen especially in the tots' coats, which sport braid, brass buttons, chevrons and the sailor's collar. Navy blue, a traditionally favored coat color for this age group, has been joined by bold red, pale lemon, tangerine, beige tones and cool green.

Candy cane stripes of red and white, big white polka dots on a navy background and scenes from favorite fairybook tales are hidden beneath the coats in taffeta and rayon blend linings.

Square Puritan collars, midgy styles and the long-favorite Peter Pans top the junior coats. Crisp white is seen most frequently on collars contrasting in color with the coat. Tweed coats often have velvet collars of rich red and green matching the predominant flecks in the tweed.

'Visions in White' Snub Sack Line For Traditional Bridal Gown

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Spring brides of '58 will be incredibly romantic in a sea-son which has forsaken the curve for the sack. For despite milady's enthusiastic reception of the chemise, those bound for the altar will continue to be a "vision in white" in the time-honored feminine manner.

To be a heroine in the storybook tradition will not be difficult for the prospective bride-to-be this spring. Manufacturers have touched a fine needle to fabrics and trimmings of ethereal beauty and the new gowns promise to literally float a bride down the aisle in unexcelled grace.

Selection is definitely varied and a wide choice of silhouettes and fabrics has been stocked to please the individual shopper's taste. A bride-to-be will be delighted as she browses among the beautiful wares and is assured that on her wedding day, she will be attired in a gown which expresses her own very special charm.

Among styles being shown are the striking sheath, the empire dress with high-rise bodice, the voluminous-skirted gown, the jacketed frock and those with hip draping and floating panels. Dress lines are simple and are smoothly shaped to discreetly reveal curves.

Skirting has been treated with loving hands and the fashion modistes have puffed fabric to cloud-like billows in waist-line sashes, back bustles and pannier effects at the hips. A trend away from the many tiered skirt is noted among the bell-shaped models but lace aprons, peplus, scallops and applique trim are lavish.

Trains are featured on many dresses and popular acclaim has swung to the shorter chapel sweep, the briefer drape being longer and more formal cathedral length. Most of the new spring gowns are floor length but some frocks dip to chapel or ballerina hemlines.

Brief, Fitted Bodices
In general, bodices are brief and fitted with sabrina style or modified scoop necklines. Sleeves can be selected in either long, elbow or short versions, with the brief cap or soft shirred pleats appearing on several styles. The length is set off with matching gauntlet or long glove.

Fabrics, used are light and crisp, the sheer materials a boon to spring brides who must maintain band-box freshness despite a sneak shower from the heavens. Silk organza, which won honors last year, scores again for its soft lovely look, bodied quality and the easy way it falls away from the silhouette when draped.

Embroidered nylon is also important and is strongly replacing the long-beloved organdy as it won't go limp on a damp spring day. Other fabrics widely seen are the elegant handclipped rosepoint lace nylon tulle, schiffli (an embroidered nylon tulle) and pure silk bombazine.

Re-Embroidered Lace
Buyers report an emphasis on the re-embroidered lace, which traces handsome applique forms and draws the eye down the graceful whirl of the bouffant gown or the slim taper of a sheath dress. Seed pearls and minute sequins outline many embossed designs.

Spring's bride will find head-dress selection varied and providing a shape to flatter the individual. Dainty little crowns, flecked with tiny jewels, are regal choices and the lace pill box or its modified version, often swathed in matching gown fabric, is popular. An elegant newcomer is the softly draped lace mantilla, a complement to the less fancy gown.

Noted in headpieces is the favored fingertip veil with most brides approving lace, imported silk illusion or a tulle veil edged with lace. Elbow veils are also shown.

Shoes to complete the bridal ensemble are mostly pump style tapered to an elegant point. The lacy strap shoe also is seen and raw silk, leather or linen are top fabric choices.

Even Lowly House Dress Gets Treatment

New Designs Offer Fashion Along With Economy, Comfort

Even the lowly housedress has entered the field of fashion. The shopper's first thoughts are directed to an economical dress and one that's comfortable to wear and care for. After those requirements are taken care of, the house dress shopper begins to think of fashion.

But it becomes apparent more and more that all of those factors, including fashion, can be combined in a house dress without sacrificing any element. The dresses usually are cut simply and in simple lines to provide plenty of room for the movements needed in keeping a home neat and clean.

Sleeves usually are short and cut in straight lines, while torso lines are fashioned in the same manner. More often than

'Wonder' Fashions
The new "wonder" fabrics are being used to good avail in the dresses being shown this year. And the working housewife undoubtedly will welcome them since they can be laundered easily after every wearing and require little or no ironing.

But it's often the little touches that make even a house dress fun to wear. Gay spring trim, a flower tucked into a slit on the collar, a tricky collar arrangement, pert little buttons or fancy pocket treatment add fashion and femininity to the dresses.

So, although the chores of housework may not be lessened by a new dress, at least the housewife may attack the work with a lighter attitude if she knows she looks neat and well-groomed.

Passenger's Sleep Withstands Series Of Jolting Crashes

Columbia, Tenn.—(P)—Wiley Faught, 19, was asleep in a car Monday while a friend drove. The car went out of control on a curve and threw out its driver, James Adron Ivie of Summertown, Tenn.

The auto continued on, knocked down a mailbox and guard rails, scaled an embankment and knocked down a church sign, swooped back down the bank and across the highway into the front yard of the George Crews residence, and finally smashed into the living room.

The crash awakened Crews, who went into his living room and shouted: "Hey, there's glass in here, and—why, there's a car!" It was indeed. Inside was Faught—unhurt and still asleep.

Chemise Newcomer Among Party Frocks

But Other Silhouets Aren't Forgotten in Spring, '58

Party gowns for pretty ladies take inspiration this season from the chemise with the new sack silhouette making a glamorous appearance in after-5 wear.

Other silhouets have not been forgotten, however, and the sleek sheath, bouffant gown and dressed-up shirtwaist will be seen by the spring shopper in Fox Cities stores.

While line and style reign supreme in the new outfits, the clothes are also appealingly feminine. Fine detail, soft fabrics, subtle draping and clear-toned color gentle the long silhouette sweep which features so many of the season's clothes.

Sexily Subtle Chemise
The chemise, sexily subtle by smooth understatement of the female form, is displayed most fully in modified form. Its wearability is enhanced by manufacturers, who have shrewdly fashioned their garments to be worn half-belted, cinched completely or allowed to swing free.

Most garments have risen above the mid-calf line but hemlines more than cover the kneecap. Smartest versions of the sack are seen in light wools, pure silk, taffeta and peau de soie, have collar interest and three-quarter length sleeves.

In the bouffant mood are the diaphanous gowns, voluminously skirted for the most agile prom-trotter. These are lushly beautiful frocks, minted in the palest gold, pink, blue, lilac and sea green. Bridal white, a time-honored favorite, is often enhanced by colored trim.

Misty Ball Gowns
Popular choice among the bell-skirted creations are the shorter versions which allow for fancy footwork on the dance floor. The ballerina gowns are available in sheerest nylon and its dotted version, silk shantung, silk organza, organdy, net and lace. The ethereal quality of the misty frocks is emphasized by billowing skirts and sculptured bodices.

A touch of sophistication distinguishes many designs—penelope or allowed to swing free. Less bodices dipping to lower back decollete, wide sashes or hemlines more than cover the kneecap. Smartest versions of the sack are seen in light wools, pure silk, taffeta and

Sure to captivate the teen heart and that of her older sister as well, is the bon-bon sweet princess style gown in nylon sheer. Puff sleeves, a gentle cowl collar and delicate posies which sprinkle the fabric create a gown of exquisite artistry. Others, often in soft net, display discreet sabrina or scooped necklines or are off-the-shoulder. Shimmering elegance is given some models by combining color over color to allow for ever-changing tone.

"Harem" Hemline Seen
Chic and elegant simply is the sheath which is often seen in rustling taffeta, fluid silk and crisp crystalline. Many models have the new shorter hemline like their chemise sister, while one model termed the "harem-look" has skirt edge tucked and scalloped in controlled fullness. Wide cummerbunds, flowing back panels or back puffs add glamorous detailing. Bodices are shaped, have modified scoop necks and cap or elbow-length sleeves.

Jewelry to complement the spring gowns varies with silhouette line. The long sweep of the sack and sheath are often enhanced by large pieces while swirling bouffant gowns call for smaller jewels. Dainty pearls at ears and throat are generally correct for most occasions if the party-goer has any qualms in selecting jewelry.

Mother Feels There Is Limit to Generosity

Little Rock, Ark. — Overheard in a Little Rock department store:

Mother, in irritation: "Where did you lose it?"
Little girl about five years old: "I don't know, it just got away."

Mother: "I've warned you about holding on to money. I'll give you another one but if you lose this, that's all!"
And she handed the youngster a $5 bill.

Moppets' Frocks Have That Chemise Look, Too

Shirt Dresses are School Time Classics For Younger Set

Springtime in moppets' frocks will be marked by crisp flower sprayed dresses in a younger interpretation of mother's chemise. Low-slung sashes belt in fullness and short, short skirts lead the parade of little girls' dresses.

Pleat-skirted dresses with waistlines not too far from the hem give the chemise touch to the frocks. A middy top or an overblouse are used as toppers for pleated skirts with many in nautical colors. Princess style dresses in polka dots of pink and green have exaggerated fullness gathered by a matching bow in the back. Many of the dresses are sleeveless and collarless with piping matching the predominant color of the dress.

Applied daisies on tucked bodices, clusters of roses making a border about the hemline and sprays of flowers scattered about the skirt give a spring touch to the dresses.

Shirt dresses in varied versions have become schooltime classics for the younger set. Stiffly starched white organdy and cotton pinafores can be worn over this type frock for a variation. Overblouses with three-quarter length sleeves in checked and printed materials are made to go over sleeveless dresses.

Lace-ruffled bodices with bouffant skirts feature their own petticoats. Some of the skirts are lined in peppermint stripes and the same material is used for piping or other trim. Party frocks have satin sashes, bibs of lace and organdy ruffles. Velvet ribbons and embroidery add frivolous touches to other dresses.

Fabrics that are easily laundered and require little or no ironing are used in the junior chemise style. Drip-dry cottons, batiste and seersucker are popular choices of the designers.

Segregation Problems

Fort Worth, Texas — A Southern Baptist missionary, the Rev. W. O. Harper, back from Africa, told a seminary conference here: "It is embarrassing when we have to tell our Nigerian youth who plan to visit America that they will not be welcome in the churches that send missionaries to them."

Spring Marks Season for The Little Fur

Mink Scarves Still Popular, as are Stole, Jacket, Clutch Cape

The little fur, the lustrous scarf, short jacket or cape, is synonymous with spring.

Any one of the beautiful furs seen in Fox Cities shops this season is ready to put the final glamor touch to the spring costume, be it the slim jim styling of the chemise or the bouffant look of a full skirt. Furriers note the scarf is a perfect wardrobe item, especially versatile to the traveler and vacationer. It can dress up a plain outfit or add the luxury touch to a couturier design.

It also should be noted this season that there are many fine furs within the purse range of the average family. Furs look very expensive, but weather is the clutch or short they often are not. Another point is that those furs in the modest range are fashioned with the same care and workmanship that goes into the more expensive furs.

The ever popular mink still predominates in popularity in the scarf field. Shades have become increasingly varied and include a lustrous pale brown shade derived from ranch-raised mutation minks. There are other popular furs available, such as the natural Russian sable and squirrel.

5-Skin Mink
One lovely new fur scarf seen in a Fox Cities store is a 5-skin mink, artfully fashioned to drape across shoulders two skins at a time.

Fur jackets, several kinds of stoles and the clutch cape are still popular styles. The clutch, full fashioned at the shoulder line to fit as snugly as a cape, is a beautiful spring piece. The pocket stole, named for its pocket slit along each side, comes in several styles. Usually the front is short, but may have either a curved or straight bottom. Here the skins are matched perfectly so that the beauty of the fur is brought out in its best features.

The long stole, measuring about 30 inches, is a perfect garment for more formal wear. The stoles are seen in mink, squirrel and muskrat and in a wide range of colors.

Especially designed for cool weather is the clutch or short bolero. The choice depends on the wearer or perhaps the desire of the woman who is to wear it. Both are excellent for spring wear. The bolero is the brief version of the cape jacket with a partial sleeve styling. It is particularly beautiful with slender styles, the straight look of this spring.

Fur Jackets
Fur jackets are still very popular and their length varies. One mink jacket guaranteed to make the most fashion-conscious woman jump for joy is finger-tip long with its sleeves the roll-up variety so that they may be worn short on one occasion, very long or bracelet length on others.

It's difficult to describe exact style trends in furs because nowadays they have been made in a custom styling. One jacket may be fashioned to show the beauty of perfect skins in the ripple of a flare back, others may have a casual styling or a tapered sleeve may be used to suit the fur to its best style advantage.

It's a matter of choice, really, with sleek jackets of American broadtail, dyed northern muskrat, gleaming gray or black Persian lamb as well as the favorite mink and other furs. There are styles to suit every woman in the fur for which she hankers in the fashion and color best suited to her figure and wardrobe.

Coat Styles Reflect Ever-Welcome Spring

Rounded, Tapered, Belted Models but Collar Is the Place for Individuality

BY CAROL RICHARDSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Spring's carefree manner is reflected in softly rounded coats available in a wide variety of light-weight fabrics, soft, nubby or tweedy to suit the time of year.

Tapered topcoats for wear over suits and slim, short skirts are seasonal news and the oval short coat, rounded from the yoke back and slightly curved at the knees, is a good companion piece for narrow chemise dresses. Matching skirts are available with many of the shorter coats.

Basket weaves, rough tweeds and checks are spring's fashion front-runners and large, softly-hued plaids are also being shown and look elegant worn over a suit or dress in a matching solid shade.

Bathrobe-type belted coats, in tapered, shift-shape styles to fit loosely over sack dresses and suits are making big headlines in fashion circles.

The place to discover individuality in coats this year is

Floral Designs

The flowers that bloom in the spring are this season adorn some of the prettiest coats. In straight, classic styles, they boast their own matching chemise dresses, in plain fabrics to complement the floral designs of the coat.

For those who want to be sure their fashion dollar will continue to pay dividends for many seasons to come, the ever-popular boy coats are still

Belts Freshen Up Favorite Casuals

Attractively decorated belts bring freshness to spring get-togethers of casual sweaters and skirts.

The classic belt of luggage tan smooth leather with gold fastening now is buckled down in new ways — with life-size gate hooks, trunk locks, and even padlocks and keys. Others are studded with brass nailheads and have plain brass buckles.

There are many wide soft belts of crushed leather with draped fronts and self-covered buckles. Hair calf, or calf tan, with the hair on, is used in wide, narrow and contoured belts with narrow metal closings.

Suede belts come in gala new colors such as tangerine, lime, orange and red, and may match skirt and sweater or contrast with them, while color-mated to a suede clutch.

Dame Fashion Offers Coat Length Variety

Coat lengths range from styles so short they resemble boleros to full length models. In between are waist-length coats, often bloused, the ever-popular fingertip-length topper and three-quarter to seven-eighths lengths.

Spring's New Emphasis on the narrower silhouette is shown in these fashionable dress coats modeled by Mrs. Mary Kolocheski, 105 W. Atlantic street. At top, tiny gathers under the collar restrain fullness in this handsome gray and gold plaid wool topper. Mrs. Kolocheski appears in a clutch style, below, with double breasted front and yoke back easing the tapered body line of the beige wool tweed coat. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Primp With Pleasure

Children's Hats as Pretty, Pert as Mother's Creations

The youngest curly-haired child in the family will be able to primp with pleasure before she steps out with her adult companions in the Easter parade.

A bevy of charming cha-peaus are being shown for children this year and whether the young lady wears her hair in pigtails, curls or a boy bob, she'll be able to find something to please her.

A favorite, almost since the fascination of hats traveled to the younger set, is the straw sailor and it remains a favorite this year, both with mothers and their little girls.

A variety of colors and trimare offered, but ribbon trim seems to continue first in popularity. Tiny springs of pastel flowers, rick rack designs, and intricate button arrangements also are being shown.

The hats—bonnets, beanies, cloches and what have you—come in a multitude of fabrics.

Besides straw, there are felt, leather, woven thread and light wool materials, all fashioned into pert and pretty adornments for the lollipop fans.

Several Appleton retailers see the woven ribbon models as destined for popularity since they are easily worn and can be folded up and carried in a purse or pocket with no damage to the hat.

Newest Facilities Psychiatric Ward Successful, Still Under Development at St. Elizabeth's

A new ward devoted to care and treatment of mentally disturbed persons is under development at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Although psychiatric patients have been admitted to the institution for several months, the ward is not completely furnished and equipped, according to Sister M. Salome, hospital administrator.

Such a service is a fairly new one with general hospitals, the sister points out, although many medical centers in larger cities are including psychiatric facilities.

Furnishing Incomplete

At St. Elizabeth, the 15-patient ward provides counseling services, electro-convulsive treatment (shock treatment) and other types of treatment necessary for psychiatric illness.

To date, two rooms have been sound-proofed, three rooms have been equipped with detention screens and 13 windows have been protected with safety screens. However, all rooms, most of them singles, in the third floor ward must be similarly equipped before the project is considered completed.

A day room, still unfurnished, also will be included in the ward so patients, all ambulatory, will be able to eat meals together if they wish, play games with each other, read, watch television or indulge in other forms of recreation.

Sister Salome said the hospital is relying as much as possible on donations to equip the day room and patient facilities.

Separated from other wards on the floor, the psychiatric unit is the site of treatment for out-patients as well as full-time patients, the sister added. But even the long-term patients have more freedom than those confined with physical sicknesses, for they are allowed to go home on weekends when they wish.

Often patients come back after dismissal for out-patient treatments, she pointed out.

"Many of the psychiatric patients we've had here otherwise would have gone to Sheboygan," the sister stated. "We've had people from Manitowoc, Two Rivers, Ripon and of course, the territories surrounding the Fox Cities. It's a time consuming process to treat these people, for they need much more individualized work and they need constant reassuring."

"Sister M. Rosann, who's had psychiatric training at St. Mary hill in Milwaukee, is head of the department and all of the nurses and aides working in the ward are attending lectures in their in-service training."

Community Benefit

About 50 full-time patients already have been treated in the new ward, Sister Salome enumerated, and about 150 treatments, both for in-patients and out-patients, have been given on the electro-convulsive equipment.

The project has been under consideration by the hospital for quite awhile, the administrator continues, but was delayed because of crowded conditions there. But now the sisters hope to have the ward completed in a few months.

"This is a major project for the benefit of the entire community and we'd be happy to have help from whomever offers it. The ward has been busy ever since it's been opened and we've never been without a patient."

Dairy Farmer Sees Uncertain Future

Anti-Benson Mobilization Indicates Desire to Come to Grips With Issue

BY JAY JOSLYN
 Post-Crescent Farm Editor

The mobilization of farmers in a protest of Secretary of Agriculture Benson's announced cut in milk parity is an overt symptom of the uncertain view the farmer, and especially the dairy farmer, has of the immediate future.

The Fair Price committee was organized as the result of an "outlook" address at the farm institute at Hortonville Union High school early last month.

Spearheaded by Milo Singler and other dairy farmers in the Shiocton-Hortonville area, the movement has gained momentum in Outagamie county and has spread to a lesser degree throughout about half of the counties in the state.

Committee Aims
 The committee hopes through a petition signed by some 200,000 names of farmers and businessmen to forestall the parity cut which it claims will cost Wisconsin farmers some $50 million.

However, it does not plan at stopping at this attempt to change Benson's mind. The committee leaders are hoping to "light a fire" under the farm organizations to speed up the removal of government control from the farm scene in favor of a self-help program controlled by the farmers themselves.

Although most farmers are agreed in the wisdom of removing government from their industry, responses at committee meetings indicate they do not want to be cut loose without some sort of protection and are willing to go slow in cutting out government interference.

Government plays a big part in the farm industry. Incomplete figures for 1957 indicate that farm income stayed even with 1956 despite a disproportionate rise in farm costs. Subsidies and aids of various kinds made up the difference.

Self-Help Program
 One of the major self-help programs upon which some farmers are placing their hopes is incorporated in the bill introduced by Rep. Melvin Laird of Marshfield and endorsed by most farm organizations.

In essence the bill would replace control by governmental bureau with a stabilization board selected by the farmers and financed by the farmers through a production assessment.

The stabilization board would give the farmers a voice in the control of their industry, but apparently the philosophy or form of control would vary little from the existing arrangement.

Another Viewpoint
 Dairy spokesmen, although conceding the parity cut would prove extremely harmful to the farmer, contend the real solution to the dairy farmer's plight lies in a direction other than production control and forms of price supports.

It is contended that products of marginal wholesomeness produced from marginal and submarginal farms hamper the efficient farmer in selling his worthwhile products by cutting deeply into the market.

The removal of these marginal products from the market, they claim, would make room for the good products and tend to divert the trend

The County Agent Answers

How efficient is Russia's agriculture?
 Compared to the United States, consumers spend 27 per cent more of their income for food, 40 per cent of the people in Russia are engaged in farming and, in the United States, 13 per cent. American agriculture is the most efficient of any of the world. The key to a high standard of living in any nation is increased efficiency in agriculture.

What per cent of fertilizer elements are contained in the liquid portion of manure?
 Forty per cent of the fertilizer value of manure is present here. About half of the liquid portion will be retained by the organic matter in the manure and the other half will be lost unless additional litter is added to hold it. Chopped straw is one of the best absorbents that can be used.

What are the legume lawn seed mixtures for Outagamie County?
 For soils in sunny areas, at least 50 per cent Kentucky Bluegrass or better, 60 to 70 per cent can be mixed with about 10 per cent Red Top. For shady areas, Chewings Fescue or Creeping Red Fescue is recommended. The Fescue should also be used on poor or sandy soils. The shadier the condition, the larger the proportions of Fescue should be used. Seed at the rate of 1 to 1½ pounds per thousand square feet for Kentucky Bluegrass and about 3 pounds for the Fescue.

Dairyland Men Seek Legislation To Halt Benson

Congressmen Declare Only New Law Can Prevent Parity Cut

BY FRANCES McKUSICK
 Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — Legislation enacted by the congress within the next two weeks is the only remedy which will prevent subsidies on dairy products from dropping to nearly $3 per hundredweight, on April 1, members of the house and senate from "dairy states" agreed today.

Last week, some legislators hoped that Agriculture Secretary Benson might be persuaded to change the "formula" for determining parity on manufactured dairy products, and that this "change" would result in a higher dollar-and-cents payment than the announced cut to 75 per cent would bring.

Odds Changing
 However, this week, these hopes had faded.

"I thought about 10 days or so ago that Benson might accept a new formula on parity, which would keep payments almost at their current level of $3.25, but I've changed my mind now," Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, who had a breakfast conference with the agriculture secretary late last week, said.

"Once I thought we had a 50-50 chance of getting Benson to change his mind, but the percentage is going down steadily, I am sorry to say."

If supports are dropped to 75 per cent of parity, the price paid on manufactured milk with 3.95 per cent butter fat will be $3.03 per hundred weight, commencing April 1, Wisconsin does something about it before that date.

In the meantime, Wisconsin legislators and senators and congressmen from the northeastern dairy states are quietly mapping strategy to get some sort of temporary dairy bill through congress before the party cut comes.

At a dinner conference last week, sponsored by an organization called the "Northeast Dairy Bloc," consisting of dairy cooperatives and producers from New York, Pennsylvania and New England, the legislators decided to join Wisconsin lawmakers in a "dairy bloc."

Seeks Repayment
 "I have been voting for farm programs to benefit the south and midwest for many years," one Pennsylvanian, who comes from an "urban" district said. "Now I will serve notice on congressmen from these states that I'll not vote for these programs from now on unless they vote for a temporary dairy bill freezing supports at the present levels."

The congressmen at this dinner meeting said that if they

Patricia Anne Meade of Rural Camden, Ind., upheld the honor of her state at the San Antonio Livestock exposition by showing the grand champion steer, "Rowdy." She was the second Indiana girl to win a grand championship in a major stock show within a month. (AP Wirephoto)

the senator declared. "This gave producers plenty of time to unload their stocks on the Commodity Credit corporation at a higher price. That will create such surpluses that Benson will have the excuse he wants to lower parity."

The truth of Sen. Aiken's statement apparently was proved by a recent announcement made by the CCC. Stocks of "uncommitted" butter supplies held by the CCC as of

Feb. 28 of this year amounted to 55,918,469 pounds as compared with 6,657,190 pounds held the same time last year.

One question on which neither the congressmen from the northeast nor Wisconsin would speculate is whether President Eisenhower would veto a temporary dairy support freeze, and if he did veto it, if enough votes could be mustered to override such a veto by the necessary two thirds majority.

Too Much Time
 "Naturally, Benson couldn't wait until April to announce what he was going to do, but he didn't need to make his announcement so early in game,"

Noise Effect of Jet Noise on Dairy Cows

East Lansing, Mich. — Does the roar of jet planes disturb the cows mildly munching green grass below?

Michigan State university scientists are trying to find out. W. W. Snyder, MSU dairy researcher, said milk production data is being collected from farm areas near several Michigan jet plane bases. By comparing rate of production with the number of jet flights a day it is hoped to get some indication of the impact of the noise on the cows.

Snyder said some cattle men have complained about noise affecting production.

Influenza Increase

London. — Influenza deaths totalled 3,820 in England and Wales last year, an increase of 1,216 over 1956, and of 1,596 over 1955.

Feb. 28 of this year amounted to 55,918,469 pounds as compared with 6,657,190 pounds held the same time last year.

One question on which neither the congressmen from the northeast nor Wisconsin would speculate is whether President Eisenhower would veto a temporary dairy support freeze, and if he did veto it, if enough votes could be mustered to override such a veto by the necessary two thirds majority.

Acheson & Springstroh, Inc., Ford tractor dealer in Appleton, has received his first United States-made diesel tractor produced by Ford Motor Company. This tractor will be on display Friday, March 14, at his showroom at 2006 N. Richmond St.

Ford Motor Company has used its superior research and manufacturing know-how to do something which the farm equipment industry has been trying to do for years. It has substantially cut the price differential between gasoline and diesel tractors to make these new Ford Diesels the lowest priced diesel-powered tractors in their field.

The tractor, except for its engine, is identical in features and in size with Ford's new large Powermaster gasoline and LP-gas tractors. All Ford implements can be used interchangeably throughout the entire tractor line.

The Ford four-cylinder diesel engine has the same displacement as Ford's large gasoline engine. It develops up to 40 belt horsepower. The torque characteristics of diesel power make the new tractor capable of pulling semi-mounted four-bottom plows in many soil conditions.

With a 16 to 1 compression ratio, combined with the efficient direct diesel fuel injection system and lower fuel cost, the Diesel will realize fuel savings over gasoline of approximately 40 to 50 per cent.

Normal starting is provided by a 12-volt electrical starter, without recourse to a special starting engine or supplemental fuel. In extremely cold weather, optional pre-heaters in the manifold or an ether cell may be used as a starting aid.

Although the Ford diesel and gasoline engines are similar in size and appearance, the diesel is equipped with much larger air intake, air cleaning and exhaust systems. An overhead valve-type cylinder head has been designed to accommodate the fuel, air and pressure requirements of the Diesel.

The Ford diesel engine features heavy pistons equipped with five rings, forged steel crankshafts, new connecting rods and other special parts. The vital fuel injection system uses the proved-in-use Simms injectors and the famous Roosa Master injector pump. A fuel filter, with easily replaceable element, provides clean fuel to the pump.

The new diesel engine is available in Ford's 801 and 901 series of tractors, in seven models of utility, row-crop and all-purpose types.

Also on display is the new Workmaster 601 and 701 series of farm and industrial tractors with gasoline and LP-gas engines.

"With the new diesel, we have a complete line of new tractors in power classes and prices which will be of interest to every user. We cordially invite everyone to drop in, see and try out these new Ford tractors."

Expect Production Of Pigs in Midwest To Jump 4 Per Cent

Even Bigger Increase Predicted
For First Half of Spring Season

Washington — An agricultural department survey indicates that the Midwestern livestock belt will produce around 4 per cent more pigs during the June-November fall season than it did a year ago.

It also indicates that farmers in that area plan to produce 7 per cent more pigs during the first half of the 1958 spring season.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson has urged farmers to hold pig production in line with this year's level lest they start a new cycle of overproduction and falling prices similar to that which plagued growers and federal farm officials in 1955 and early 1956.

The department estimated the number of sows farrowed and to farrow this fall in 10 corn belt states will total 3,841,000 head compared with 3,680,000 last fall.

Wisconsin Increase

An increase of 7 per cent was indicated in Wisconsin.

The number of all hogs and pigs on farms Sept. 1 in nine midwestern states, for which comparable data are available, totaled 45,301,000 head, 1 per cent more than the 44,801,000 a year earlier, but 10 per cent fewer than the 50,502,000 on farms on Sept. 1, 1955.

The indicated farrowings for the 1957 and 1958 fall crops, respectively, for Wisconsin are 200,000 this fall and 187,000 last.

The prospective farrowings for the first half of the 1958 spring season compared with a year earlier in Wisconsin are 91,000 for 1958 and 85,000 for 1957.

In January the farms reported 134 pounds of butterfat and 111 pounds in February.

Bert Weyenberg placed second both months with 128 pounds in February.

The rest of the top 10 in January included Len Voight and Sons, 105 pounds; Robert Krohlow, 101; Voight and Sons and Leo Schampers, 100 pounds each; Clifford Bowers, Krahn Brothers, and Schampers, 95 pounds each; and Robert Paltzer, 93 pounds.

Best Percentages

Len Voight and Sons had the best herd percentage above 40 pounds in both months with 89.5 per cent out of 38 in January and 82.5 per cent out of 40 in February.

The January percentages included 76.5 per cent out of 34 for Robert Oudenhoven, 76 per cent out of 29 for Marvin Krahn; 74.3 per cent out of 35 for James Garvey; 73.5 per cent out of 34 for Oscar Miller No. 1; 72 per cent out of 25 Leo Schampers; 70 per cent out of 20 for Edward Rahmlow; 69 per cent out of 16 for Manning Nelson and 68.6 per cent out of 51 for Chester Appleton.

Father Dies Before Reunion With Family

New York — Mrs. Carmelia Pasut crossed an ocean to sorrow Monday, but no one had the heart to tell her.

Throughout an 8-day passage from Genoa, the 29-year-old immigrant told her children—Alessandro, 9, and Lilianna, 7—that they would soon be in a new home in Canada with their father.

Mrs. Pasut recognized no one in the crowd waiting on a pier when the American Export liner Constitution docked. She scanned faces, expecting her husband to meet her, but he wasn't there.

Luigi Pasut, 43, died a week ago today in Oakville, Ontario.

Pigs Make Hogs of Themselves on Diet Laced With Saccharin

Saccharin, widely used by dieters as a source of sweetness without calories, now is helping pigs to make hogs of themselves faster, the Midwest Feed Manufacturers association was told during its Kansas City meeting.

Pigs, too, have a sweet tooth, and super-sweetened rations tempt them to gastronomic records. Iowa State college experiments on 600 young pigs have shown that just one pound of saccharin per ton of ration made the little fellows eat — well, like hogs.

As a result, the pigs were reported to have gained weight faster than pigs fed unsweetened rations and even faster than pigs fed rations sweetened by other means.

Feeder Pig Men Plan First Show

Exhibition Set for Calumet Fairgrounds
At Chilton, April 1

Chilton — Calumet county will be host to the first feeder pig show to be held in this area at the Calumet county fairgrounds on April 1.

Feeder pig producers from Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Kewaunee, Door, Manitowoc and Washington counties will attend the full day's program beginning at 9:30 in the morning.

Any pig raisers from these counties may enter a truck load of feeder pigs in the show. Ten pigs will make up a truck load. Entries from each county will be limited to four, and entries must be registered with the county agent of the respective counties by March 22.

A judging contest, together with official judging will highlight the morning activities. Prizes will be awarded to the top five pens and pigs will be placed in blue, red and white groups.

A grand champion and reserve champion pen will also be chosen. A premium of $10 per pen will be awarded for blue ribbon pens; $5 for red ribbon pens, and $2.50 for those in the white group.

The Wisconsin Feeder Pig Marketing cooperative has agreed to take all feeders at the going price at the end of the show.

A program on feeder pig management, breeding and the role of the purebred breeder will be held in the afternoon.

Consumer Price Hike Won't Aid Farm Incomes

Institute Speaker
At New London
Explains Outlook

New London — The price to the consumers of farm produce will go up this year, but the farmer will see little or no price increase, Harold Huttenburg, Appleton, told about 225 farm operators here during the annual Bi-County Farm Institute at Washington High school.

Huttenburg, speaking on "1958 Agricultural Outlook," told the group the general trend will be for small increases and that the foreign income may be up a little higher.

The speaker stressed there will be a general decrease in the cost of feed, which will help the dairy industry.

Speaking on the dairy industry, Huttenburg, Northeastern Wisconsin Farm Management association fieldman, explained there will be more milk but fewer cows. He said each cow will produce more due to improved feeds and breeds. He then asked what the farmers were doing about the price of milk. "Have you written to your senators and congressmen," he asked?

He said that by this fall, hogs will not sell at the present price. "There will be 7 per cent more sows farrowing in Wisconsin in the fall," he said.

He pointed out the price of beef will be good and the prices of eggs will fluctuate as in 1957.

The scholarship is open to residents of Calumet county. Applications must be filed at the office of the county home agent by April 1. Winner will be announced at the Home-maker's Achievement day program in May.

Entry blanks are available from home economics teachers at all county high schools, and from homemaker club presidents.

Judging of applications will be done by number; no names will be used. No personal interviews will be required. While intended primarily for use in study of home economics, a scholarship application from an outstanding girl wishing to study nursing or prepare for teaching will also be considered.

The $100 check will be mailed to the winning student upon the completion of her college registration.

Scientists Combine Forces to Combat Tiny Crop Parasite

Worm, Size of Grain of Salt, Harms Soybeans; May Attack Other Grain

St. Louis —(AP)— Worried agricultural scientists from the midwest gathered here to plan an attack against a worm the size of a grain of salt. It's threatening the nation's soybean crop.

Their enemy is the cyst nematode, which now ranks as a major agricultural problem in the south and midwest—where 80 per cent of the nation's soybean crop is grown.

Nematodes damage plants by burrowing into their roots, piercing healthy cells with a microscopic syringe-like beak and sucking out vital plant juices. This causes plants to wither.

Came from Orient

Until four years ago, it was found only in the Orient. It was discovered in North Carolina in 1953 and since then has spread to Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas, Mississippi and Indiana.

Some 200 persons, including 14 agricultural scientists, attended the 2-day meeting in St. Louis in an effort to stop the pest's damage which totals more than $1 billion annually. They agreed that:

1. Some species of nematodes—there are more than 1,000—feed off nearly every plant that grows, including lawn grass, shrubs and flowers.

Warrants Quarantine

2. One infestation in the midwest has become serious enough to warrant federal and state quarantines of some infested fields.

3. So far, midwest studies have proved nematodes cause severe damage to soybeans, cotton, melons, vegetables and strawberries, and there are indications the pests also hurt

Waupaca Conservationists Aim at Increased Work in '58

Waupaca — The Waupaca County Soil Conservation service mapped a total of 11,000 acres of land in 1957 and has set the 1958 goal at 12,000 acres, according to John Nimlos in his annual report to district supervisors.

Soil conservation officials, county agricultural and highway committee members, ASC officials, conservation department representatives and extension personnel received the report.

Other work done by the soil conservationists included building 45 miles of terraces, three miles of field diversions, eight miles of outlet waterways, and 39 miles of open drains.

cropping and planted 1,152 acres of trees.

One mile of trees was planted for windbreaks and 183 acres were improved for wildlife survival.

The Waupaca county Farm Improvement association carried on several oat variety trials, fertilizer plot work and assisted with the drainage plot on the county hospital farm. It also assisted in judging for the banker's award program.

Watershed Attraction
Nimlos reported the completed Peterson Creek Watershed association continues to be lively. The project is now on conservation department maintenance and has been the site of tours for conservation instruction.

During the 150-day construction season, county contractors supplied the following equipment and machine-days of work: draglines, 47 machine-days, dozers, 102 machine-days, back hoes, 55, tilling machine, 20, and miscellaneous tools, 20 man-days of work.

The county furnished 200 patrol grader machine-days.

Slow Motion Camera Assists In Study of Insect Feeding

A 16 millimeter movie camera is proving valuable in research on insect feeding habits at the University of Wisconsin.

Entomologists S. D. Beck and J. T. Medler have used such a camera to make a detailed minute-by-minute analysis.

Knowledge of how and when insects feed is important in planning many insect experiments. These experiments often serve as ground work for further research on insect control. Beck and Medler are seeking an explanation of why an artificial diet used in previous research failed to support insect growth as well as a natural diet. Artificial diets are fed in experiments which study insect nutrition.

Stop Frame Exposure

The researchers confined the insects in small dishes under the camera and supplied them with various kinds of food. The camera took one frame every minute — a 1-second exposure produced when an automatic timer turned on the battery of lights mounted with the camera. The photographic record normally covered a feeding period of 20 hours.

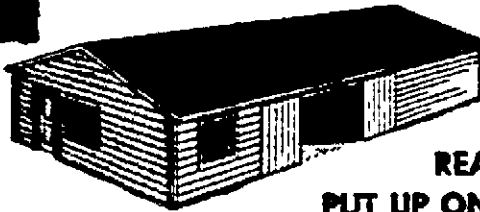

The pictures showed how the insects fed, and the researchers could determine the duration of each type of feeding activity by counting the number of frames. Color film proved easier to analyze than black-and-white film.

The slower growth of insects on the artificial diet might have been due to a nutritional deficiency in the diet. Or it could be that the insects were not stimulated to eat as much on the artificial diet as on natural food.

The movie records of milkweed bug feeding showed that the artificial diet lacked stimulatory substance which was present in milkweed hulls. Feeding behavior on milkweed seed with the hulls removed was similar to that on the artificial diet.

Roughage Key To Milk Goals on Waupaca Farms

County Agent Surveys Feeding Techniques In Annual Report

Waupaca — One of the greatest problems affecting milk production efficiency in Waupaca county is the quality of roughage being used said Michael Drozd, county agent, in his annual report to the county board of supervisors.

Drozd summarized the year from a crop standpoint and pointed out that the county is putting on an intensive campaign for early cutting of hay and drying it artificially to save leaves.

A few farmers tried green feeding this summer and were successful. Although strip grazing worked well for some time, it has not picked up this year.

Oat Varieties

The report explained that oat varieties are still a problem for many farmers since there are too many available varieties and farmers are not sure which is best. The agent recommends Ajax, Branch, Sauk and Beedee since they seem to grow best in county soils.

The corn crop this year was tremendous even though some farmers signed acreage reserve contracts. Although the planting was somewhat late, there have been no keeping problems reported because of immature corn.

Potato acreage continues to decrease according to Drozd and very few farmers are growing potatoes commercially in the county.

Weed Control

Steps were also taken to control weeds which are an ever present problem. Pre-emergence spraying of corn fields was tried this year and interest seems to be growing according to Drozd. He believes that Simazin will be used a great deal in the spring for pre-emergence weed control for corn.

Insect damage throughout the year was fairly light. The agent believes that spraying before damage is done has been the answer to the light insect damage.

Approximately 500 farmers had soil samples tested by the county agent who made lime and fertilizer recommendations. Tests have shown there is an average lime need of about two and one-half tons per acre and a lack of phosphorous in county soils.

Foreign Languages in Wisconsin Schools

One of the charges leveled against the public schools is the inadequacy of foreign language instruction. A bulletin put out by the National Education association, dealing with 10 top criticisms of the public schools, does not whitewash the situation but instead says that "public school people agree that the program of foreign languages now offered in a great number of secondary schools are not adequate to meet the national need."

Appleton residents may take pride in their school system which has, as much as any other system in Wisconsin, tried to improve the instruction in foreign languages. But in general Wisconsin is woefully behind the rest of the country.

It is high time that the old midwestern neglect of the need for knowledge of a foreign language be buried. Obviously today there are both practical and academic reasons for learning another language. Both modern and classical languages awaken a further interest in other peoples, their culture and literature without which it is difficult to understand our own. Study of a classical language such as Latin or Greek enforces a discipline of the mind which is being re-accepted by educators as advantageous. And knowledge of a modern language opens up many vocational and advanced study opportunities.

These factors have been widely recognized except in a few states most of which are in the midwest. The average number of high school students in the nation enrolled in a foreign language is 14.3 per cent, but in Wisconsin it is only 5.1 per cent. Some states like New York and Massachusetts enroll more than 30 per cent and four eastern states offer at least one foreign language in all their public high schools.

But western states with small high schools also have done better than Wisconsin. Nevada, with 54 per cent of its high schools enrolling fewer than 100 pupils, nevertheless has almost 25 per cent of its pupils taking a foreign language. Colorado has 14 per cent taking a language although 36 per cent of its high schools are in the under-100 group. In Wisconsin, partly because of the excellent progress we have made in consolidating school districts, only 17 per cent of our high schools have fewer than 100 pupils, yet our percentage of students taking foreign languages is considerably below the national average.

Appleton schools have led in experimenting with the offering of a foreign language at the elementary level. The plan has actually passed the experimental stage and has been so successful that it has been expanded. French is compulsory at the fourth and fifth grade level and optional through the eighth grade. Then a pupil may enroll in four years of French at the high school level, gaining both the conversational aptitude which seems easier to learn at an earlier age, as well as the grammar and literature in secondary school. Small schools which complain that enrollments in foreign language courses are not large enough to justify the offering would do well to consider elementary instruction as a means of encouraging the study of a foreign language as well as part of a program for better overall instruction.

The NEA bulletin does thoroughly scotch the figures quoted by critic Dr. Arthur Bestor who has maintained that in 1900 more than 73 per cent of the high school students took a foreign language as compared with a much lower figure today. Dr. Bestor, as he did in statistics concerning math and science enrollments, has ignored the fact that a far greater number of students attend high school today than in 1900. Thus, comparing the high school age foreign language enrollments, the 1900 figure collapses to 6.2 per cent while 1955's percentage of high school age enrollments was 14.7 per cent.

Nevertheless more can be done in Wisconsin in the teaching of foreign languages. Appleton's schools have shown the way.

Abolish the ICC?

With the headlight of unfavorable publicity on the Federal Communications commission, attention is also being given to another federal regulatory agency. The charges are not of dishonesty or method but purely of necessity of existence. Life magazine, not particularly noted for having an extremely conservative point of view, has flatly come out "to abolish the ICC altogether, at least as far as its ratemaking power is concerned."

Those who recall when the railroads were the evil geni of the American midwest will be appalled. The battles against the railroads developed not only because of obvious collusion in the setting of rates for the produce the farmers had to ship to live. Sales of watered stock, schemes to make millions for a few at the expense of the many made the names of the railroads synonymous with the big bad wolf at the door. Even today the names of Harriman, Stanford, Vanderbilt and Pullman among a score of others have the unsavory flavor of the railroad scandals.

But this is a far removed decade. The recent storms in the east revealed how dependent many of us are on the railroads for any transportation at all. Life also points out the obvious need of financially healthy, well staffed and equipped railroads in case of war.

But even these are tenuous arguments. Far more important is the charge, more and more substantiated, of discrimination against one form of transportation. The railroads alone have rates, costs and required services so completely regulated.

Originally the ICC was given the power to set rates as a weapon against monopoly. Today the philosophy states that the rates must be "competitively fair;" thus a small group of men in Washington have authority to decide whether or not competition can be maintained against the railroads, whether or not the competition is efficient and whether or not the whole business is in the public interest.

How much of the restraint on rates, costs and services may be removed will require more study. But it should be increasingly apparent to Americans who turn ever and anon to the federal government to cure all their troubles that regulation of one problem only creates another.

Prices of Food and the Cost of Living

The Bureau of Labor Statistics recently reported that the cost of living had gone up 3.5 points over last year. Few people doubted that statement for the bureau is the official authority on this subject and things including wage boosts running into the millions depend on this report.

However Carlos Campbell, an economist who is executive secretary of the National Canners association, was one of those who did question the truth of the report. What happened, he says, is that some items of food advanced precipitously in price, chief among them the fresh vegetables obtained at this season in Florida. That state's unusually severe winter weather destroyed much of this supply and prices climbed rapidly. But, Campbell points out, price changes alone are not a measure of the cost of living. In this instance there were readily at hand large supplies of canned vegetables at prices which remained relatively stable.

In fact many housewives have been supplying their families' vegetable needs at lower prices than would have been paid if the crop in Florida had been normal. A recent U. S. Department of Agriculture report indicated that per capita consumption of fresh vegetables declined from 120.4 pounds during the base period 1947-49 to 106 pounds in 1957. Consumption of canned vegetables during the same period increased from 39.2 pounds to 43.5 pounds.

Fresh vegetables that sold at $1 during the 1947-49 base period were selling about one-third higher after the Florida freeze, Campbell says. Canned vegetables which cost $1 during the base period were $1.06 last month.

Consequently the cost of food in many homes has actually gone down in spite of what the statistics say.

What Others are Saying

The Best Costs Money

From H. O. Wolfe, president, League of Wisconsin Municipalities

Our American people in their daily affairs of life want the best of everything,—radio, television, the newest and most modern automobile. This also applies to municipal services. The same are expected to be up-to-date and efficient in all respects. The best of everything costs money. We all know how tremendously the cost of living has increased.

The same situation applies to the carrying on of municipal government,—a fact which the local taxpayer is apt to forget, or, at least, does not want to readily admit. Coupled with this increased cost, we have had unprecedented growth in the urban areas, requiring new streets, sewers, water and the manifold accompanying sanitary problems, expansion of fire and police departments; and, above all, the school population has increased tremendously in many communities, with the existing school facilities being entirely inadequate. It has meant the building of new schools and at a time when material, construction and labor costs are almost prohibitive.

It is no wonder that many of our municipal officials are walking around with wrinkled brows, mumbling to themselves, and wondering where the money is coming from to finance all of these necessary municipal operations.

Something Strange About Soviet Insistence on Summit Conference

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY (Copyright, 1958)

John Foster Dulles' press interview in which he lambasted the Russian attempt to hoax the United States and the world over the summit conference must raise the question as to the cause of Russia's anxieties on the subject. What is the rush?

Do the Russians intend to make war upon us if we do not agree to their terms? If so, what is peace? If not, why push anything so hard that what is to be a mechanism to settle issues becomes a cause for conflict?

If the Russians are not issuing an ultimatum in advance of a war, does Khrushchev need the summit conference to solve some internal problem that is moving toward a climax? No such crisis is in sight, although it is not to be believed that Khrushchev could have pushed Molotov, Kaganovitch and hukov into obscurity without some measure of danger to himself.

Wishful Thinking

On this, no information is thus far available. There is considerable wishful thinking among some Americans that the counter-revolution in the communist world is just around the corner and there are even those who would make a distinction between the Russian government "which is our enemy" and the Russian people "who are our friends." But I can see no evidence that the Russian people — a very loose designation — have a policy that is distinct from that of the Kremlin. The same sort of thing was said about the Germans who gave the world Goethe and Beethoven when the Kaiser set out to make war and many wanted us to stay out of the war because the Germans were such nice people who were abused by Prussian militarists. But these same Germans created Hitler as the Russians tolerate a Khrushchev.

However, something is cooking in the communist world and one can only go on searching for a clue.

From the broadest standpoint of history, the soviet universal state requires a prolonged rest from both war and diplomacy in order that its victories since 1945 may be consolidated, assimilated and made permanent. If Khrushchev wishes a summit meeting to obtain recognition for the fruits of the revolution, he is going about it the wrong way. For he is engendering resistance by his tactical moves. What, for instance, did he expect President Eisenhower to do when the Russians objected to a foreign ministers' conference because they disliked John Foster Dulles?

Eisenhower could not repudiate Dulles without impeaching his own administration; he could not dismiss Dulles at the behest of a foreign power without causing an uproar in the nation. In a word, the Russians cooked their own case even among those who believe that a summit conference will lead to something which most by now doubt.

If Khrushchev wants peace it can be accomplished without a summit conference or a foreign ministers' meeting. It can be accomplished in the disarmament committee of the United Nations. Why does not Khrushchev use existing machinery? Why does he need to create new machinery? Is it because a new machinery is more melodramatic? As peace is what everybody wants, why does Khrushchev need to create a dramatic atmosphere to surround discussions of peace?

World Seeks Peace

Khrushchev's penchant for the dramatic does stir things up from time to time, but the world is a bit weary of being on the constant qui vive for a new sensation. It would like a bit of peace and quiet, a decade or more of reconstruction and rebuilding.

It is perhaps significant that at long last a recognized voice in the Jewish pulpit, Rabbi Julius Mark, of Temple Emanu-El, New York, said in a sermon:

"It is high time for the world to realize that Jews who are foolish enough to become communists have by that act read themselves out of Judaism."

"I do not consider the Rosenbergs to have been Jews any more than the responsible leaders of Christianity regarded Stalin, who studied for the priesthood, to be a Christian."

The American Jewish league against communism has taken this position for a long time but it is noteworthy that so weary are men growing of communist propaganda, of communist pulling this way and that way, and making a universal tumult that they are beginning to talk up in the most unexpected places. Perhaps it is high time for Khrushchev to devote himself to the problem of the reduction of the consumption of vodka in the soviet universal state.

It's Party Platform Time Again in State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The more serious-minded leaders of both of the major political parties of the state are already making preparations for the composition of the 1958 party platforms.

The Republicans are holding local hearings around the state, under the chairmanship of representative officeholders and organization officials, which are described in the publicity releases as intended to canvass public opinion on the issues. The Democrats will go through the same business a little later in the year.

The whole business has a solemnity about it. It has a certain literal importance, surely, the platform ought to be a serious document. In its finest sense, it represents a compact with the people, as some of the political orators like to intone. Actually, however, it may be doubted that anyone is paying very much attention. The "hearings" as such, will be pretty routine things, either as symbols of popular education in politics, or as serious efforts to draft an ideology.

IGNORED

These are cynical times. There is very little evidence to support the idea that either the people or their politicians are very much impressed by platforms. It would be hard, for example, to find in the Wisconsin legislature, in either party, a man who could give a reasonably adequate synopsis of the political party platform on which he stood — theoretically — at least, when he last ran for office.

It would be even more difficult to find representative private citizens with the vaguest notions about what the platforms of the party of their choice have said lately. Indeed, in most Wisconsin localities the curious high school student would be hard put to locate a copy of a current party platform.

The parties have accommodated themselves to this indifference in characteristic ways. The Republicans, having held office in the state for such a long time, have tended more and more to reduce their platform to a fairly brief and self-satisfied generalization about their virtues and their achievements.

The Democrats have employed the platform for the most part as a propaganda device — as a publicity weapon and a net with which to attract the sympathetic attention of the last possible pressure group. If the 1956 Democratic state platform, for example, omitted an appeal to any significant bloc of voters, it was purely an over-sight.

MEANINGLESS

The Republicans have been consistently careful to avoid promises and commitments that might get them into trouble after the election. Fairly sure of their prospects, they haven't felt the need for such elaborate vote baits in these documents.

The Democrats, conversely, have been so eager to strengthen themselves that they have been unwilling of unable to resist any proposal that has any possible appeal to any significant group of potential voters. The Democrats would be miracle men, indeed, if when they reach office they are able to execute all the propositions they have submitted in these recent campaigns. It is not disrespectful, it may be hoped, to observe that the presence of a prospective miracle workers in the Democratic fold is at the moment hard to detect.

The state party platform, it must regretfully be asserted, is of more consequence to the librarian than anyone else.

Deny Rumors Of 'Leak' in Bank Rate Cut

Washington — Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the house banking committee describes as "nothing but rumors" charges that advance word of a bank rate cut leaked out to speculators.

Spence expressed that view Monday in rejecting demands by Rep. Patman (D-Tex.) for an investigation of asserted leaks of last week's federal reserve board reduction rediscount rates.

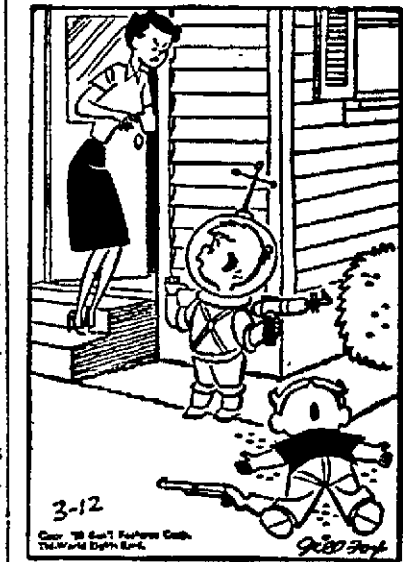

Spence said Patman was trying to delay action on a banking bill by demanding the probe and charging that certain speculators profited.

"They're nothing but rumors," Spence said. "If there is some substantial evidence or they can show me some crookedness, of course I'll investigate. But I've seen no evidence of it."

Patman said advance word on the FRB reduction, announced last Thursday, had been "commonly gossiped in Wall Street."

In lowering the rate as another anti-recession move, the board cut the interest rate charged FRB member banks from 2 1/2 to 2 per cent. This, in turn, is expected to ease credit by lowering the commercial in-

Theft of Cup Brings Feelings of Conscience

McGuire Air Force Base, N. J. — The theft of a cup from the base cafeteria has been rectified, a debt to society has been paid.

Base Exchange Officer Vincent DeAndrea received a dollar bill attached to a note, which read: "This dollar is for one cup taken from a cafeteria two years ago."

The anonymous note was postmarked San Antonio, Tex.

Spence called Patman's demand for an investigation another attempt to "delay and filibuster" final committee action on a bill recodifying the federal banking laws.

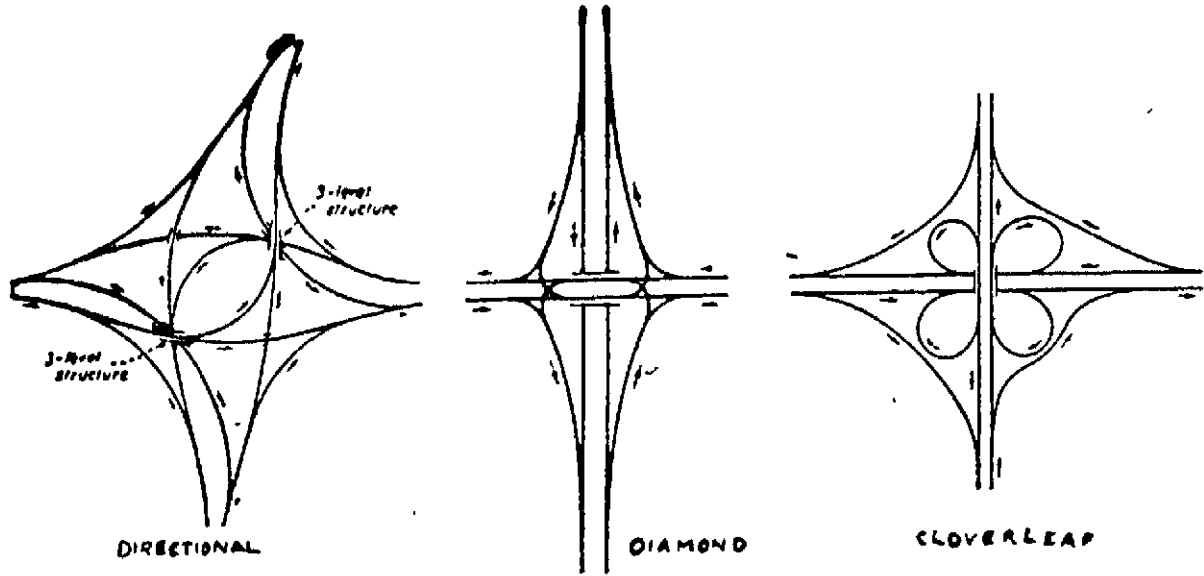

The bill, of which Patman is today a sharp critic, comes up for final closed-door consideration. The board's rediscount order applied only to FRB banks in New York, Chicago and Philadelphia. However, the Boston and Atlanta FRB banks also have since cut their rates, and most of the remaining seven banks are expected to follow suit.

Here are the Three Basic Types of traffic interchanges which drivers will find on the new interstate highway system in Wisconsin. These are basic types and the motorist often will find interchanges which are variations or combinations of them. The directional, at left, is primarily an expressway, urban type of structure, costly to build and covering considerable area. Note the three level structures designed to feed multi-directional traffic into roadways without loss of speed. In the center is the diamond interchange, which will be most common along Highway 41 in the Fox Cities area. The Highway 41-10 interchange will be of this type. At right is the cloverleaf type, which is a high-speed, rural interchange requiring considerable land.

Superhighway Look

Three Kinds of Interchanges Will Face Drivers on New Road Systems

With automobile registration interchange provides a smooth operational flow of through traffic when the major portion of the traffic is moving on the main route. This type requires traffic to move to the right to go left and it necessitates considerable right-of-way acquisition. The size of the loops depends upon the design speed of the main routes and the length of the ramps on the interchanges. In most cases only at the change.

The directional type interchange is the most elaborate of the many designs and it requires approximately the same amount of right of way as a cloverleaf and usually costs more than the other types. Where two major streets cross, simple and compact interchange designs such as diamond or partial cloverleaf, including the grade ramp terminals, are appropriate since all the way from 20 acres for speeds here are relatively low and interrupted flow at other intersections is not uncommon. Diamond or partial cloverleaf layouts also fit in well at intersections of an expressway and a major street.

Interchanges at intersections of two main highways nearly always involve some directional or semi-directional ramps. These require individual design to fit the volume and the requirement of its specific location. Interchanges are classified in a general way according to the number of approach roadways or intersection legs. The diamond type of interchange is desirable when the major portion of the traffic is moving on the main route. It is most efficiently at points where this type, for instance, which is the demand for directional traffic planned for Highway 41 and 10 change is the greatest. This type of interchange will also be constructed where certain major state trunk highways intersect with heavily traveled roads other than I-System routes. On the lesser traveled locations, the cloverleaf and the diamond will continue to be built.

The modern so-called superhighway are being designed for traffic speeds of 70 miles an hour and naturally the interchanges must be designed so that this speed will not be decreased too much when traffic changes direction or the facility will become an obstruction rather than a safe and efficient expeditor of traffic. Interchanges today require the simpler types to 200 acres for the more elaborate designs needed where traffic is extremely heavy, as in the directional type. Costs will vary from about $200,000 for the smaller facility in a rural area to several million dollars for a complicated type required in metropolitan areas. These costs include the purchase of right of way. In urban areas where property values are high this item frequently costs as much or more than the structure itself.
